CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS

VOL. XXVII, No. 25

ITHACA, N. Y., MARCH 19, 1925

PRICE 12 CENTS

SPRING harbingers are beginning definitely to arrive. Almost every day the Sun carries a notice that a representative of some financial, manufacturing, or other business firm will be in town to talk over prospects with interested seniors. Seniors can not much longer put off their decisions as to where they will start filling inkwells or propelling pencils. They will be wearing their class blazers soon, but they could be distinguished anyway by the puzzled expression they all wear as they figure out their futures, unless of course Father is going to take them into the firm.

THURSTON AVENUE is to be paved from Stewart Avenue up the hill and the south side completed to join the present pavement at Wyckoff Avenue, according to an announcement by the Board of Public Works. Up-going motorists who for years have had to bounce out upon the car tracks when they met cars coming down are waiting to be shown that they will actually have a brick road of their own, but there does not seem to be any catch in it now. East State Street on the south side is also to get a new coat of brick.

THE SAGE CHAPEL Preacher for March 22 will be the Rev. Dr. C. Wallace Petty, minister of the First Baptist Church, Pittsburgh, Pa.

LECTURES for the week include "The Art of Rembrandt," "Boecklin, as Landscape Painter," and "Modern Stagecraft and Its Antecedents," all illustrated, by Professor Oskar Hagen, professor of the history of art at the University of Goettingen, on the Goldwin Smith Foundation, on March 16-18; "Architectural Acoustics," illustrated, by Jacob Mazer, acoustical engineering counsel of the Celotex Company, on March 17; and "X-Rays and the Constitution of Matter" and "Theories of Electrolytes" by Professor P. Debye of Zurich, Switzerland.

THE CORNELL Dramatic Club on March 19 and 21 gave "The Pot Boiler" by Alice Gerstenberg, "Beauty and the Jacobin" by Booth Tarkington, and "The Inn of Discontent" by Percival Wilde.

ON MARCH 20 Efreim Zimbalist, violinist, is to give another concert in the University series.

THE WOMEN'S DEBATING TEAM, composed of Ruth L. Hausner '27 of Corning and Marjory C. McMullen '27 of Schenectady, was defeated by an audience vote of 43 to 30 in the debate with George Washington University, at Washington, D. C., on March 7. The Cornell team upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved, that Congress by a two-thirds vote should have the power to declare effective a Federal statute which the Supreme Court has declared unconstitutional." On March 13 in Barnes Hall the Bates women defeated the Cornell debaters, taking the affirmative on the same question. The Cornell debaters were Bessie Fox '26 of Brooklyn, Judith Fried '25 of New York, and M. L. Plunkett '27 of Ithaca.

BECAUSE IT WAS CONSIDERED to be the most successful Masque show given at Junior week in many seasons, the performance of "It's Not All" was repeated at the Lyceum Theatre on March 13, before an enthusiastic audience as greeted it before. George Fraser '21, now an assistant professor of architecture, wrote the book, and the scenery was constructed under the direction of Albert E. Milliken '24.

DEFEATING THETA XI in the final game of the series by a score of 11 to 8, Sigma Alpha Epsilon became interfraternity basketball champions, and will now play the Boldt Hall quintet, winners of the Independent League series. The winner of this game will play the Law College team in the intramural finals.

TWO PROHIBITION AGENTS from Syracuse raided the stores of Silvio Marino at 114 South Cayuga Street and James Marcelletti at State and Corn Streets on March 8, and haled the men up before United States Commissioner DeForest Van Vleet '77. Marino, pleading guilty, was held for the April term of the Federal court. Marcelletti, pleading not guilty, will be examined on March 25.

RODERICK MURCHISON, who took the winter course in agriculture at Cornell this year, has been missing from his home in Willseyville since February 18. He came to Cornell, and bought a small farm at Willseyville, as a trainee of the Veterans' Bureau. The last his wife heard from him he was on his way to Buffalo to take a physical examination.

INDESTRUCTIBLE PEARL NECKLACES for twenty-five cents were among the bargains listed for the opening day of Kresge's 5-10-25-cent store, located in their new building on East State Street, erected on the site formerly occupied by Barr Brothers' hardware store. It looks as if the jewelry stores would have to meet that price or close down; for why should anyone pay more?

THE WIDOW has announced the election of Walter S. Beecher '26 of Dansville as editor-in-chief for the coming year, and Norman A. Miller '26 of Evanston, Illinois, as business manager. Henry S. Lockwood, Jr., '26 of Brooklyn will be managing editor, Harry I. Johnstone '16 of Mobile, Alabama, art editor, and Conrad C.

Pope '26 of Cleveland Heights, circulation manager. Others elected were John C. Whitridge, Jr., '27 of Columbus, Ohio as advertising manager, William J. Russell '26 of Marcellus, assistant manager, and Daniel M. C. Hopping '28 of Bronxville, assistant circulation manager. These men take office with the Spring Day number.

MEMBERS OF DELTA THETA PHI, honorary law fraternity, initiated into membership on March 10 Henry H. Blomeier '26 of New York, Ezra Cornell, 3rd, '27 of Denver, William McKinley, Jr., '25 of White Plains, Henry H. Meyer '26 of Richmond Hill, John F. Nixon, Jr., '27, of Atlantic City, New Jersey, W. G. Shoemaker, Jr., '27 of Buffalo, and Alfred P. Steffens '26 of Brooklyn.

THE REV. HUGH MORAN of the Barnes Hall staff will be educational director of a party of university students traveling through Europe this summer under the management of the World Acquaintance Tours of New York. Mr. Moran will leave Ithaca sometime in May, before the main party, to arrange for the lectures to be given on social, religious, and economic conditions in the cities to be visited in Great Britain and on the Continent. He will stay abroad for the following year, studying at Oxford on a fellowship of the National Council of Religion.

THE CORNELL COUNTRYMAN has elected the following officers for the coming year: Arthur V. Taft '26 of Ticonderoga, editor, Leland P. Ham '26 of Millbrook, business manager, Catherine A. Doyle '26 of Auburn, advertising manager, George W. Belden '27 of Fredonia, circulation manager, Albert L. Mason '26 of Albion, managing editor, and Helen L. Chappell '26 of Staten Island, women's editor.

THREE FRESHMEN were slightly injured on March 10 when a Ford runabout in which they were riding turned turtle on the Halseyville Hill, when the owner and driver, Sylvester Barr, came to an unexpected curve in the road. Barr is still in the hospital as he was thoroughly shaken up by the accident, although no bones were broken and his injuries are not serious. The other two, J. J. Mareta of Brooklyn and P. R. Ricci, of Waterbury, Conn., who suffered only minor sprains and bruises, were discharged from the Infirmary on the day after the accident.

BIDS FOR NEW GREENHOUSES to be built on Tower Road near the Agriculture barns have been asked for by the College of Agriculture. These will take the place of the ones now located just east of Roberts Hall. These are to be torn down to make room for new buildings of the College.

Western Clubs Meet

Cornellians of California and the Northwest Gather on Occasions of Visits of Alumni Representative

California Cornellians held five meetings in connection with the visit of Foster M. Coffin '12, who is traveling through the West in the dual role of Alumni Representative of the University and secretary of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. He left the State on March 1, spoke during that week in Portland, Seattle, and Spokane, and left for meetings during the next two weeks in Salt Lake City, Denver, Des Moines, Omaha, Chicago, Milwaukee, and Pittsburgh.

The Cornell Club of Southern California met at the University Club of Los Angeles for dinner on February 20. Professor Oliver L. McCaskill of the College of Law, who is spending his sabbatic leave in California, and Coffin were the principal speakers.

Cornell men of San Diego held an informal luncheon on February 23, when Coffin went down from Los Angeles with C. Gardiner Bullis '08, former secretary of the Cornell Club of Southern California. Although San Diego falls within the jurisdiction of the larger club, Cornellians there are planning to form an organization of their own.

Coffin met with the Cornell Women's Club of Los Angeles on the afternoon of February 24, for tea at the home of Mrs. George L. Hoxie (Mary C. Osborn) '98. Dr. George Hoxie '92 is president of the men's organization, the Cornell Club of Southern California.

In Northern California, the men and women met on successive evenings. The Cornell Club of Northern California held its annual dinner at the University Club of San Francisco on February 27. Wilson D. Clark '08 presided as president, and during the evening the Club elected officers for the ensuing year. Oscar H. Fernbach '95 is the new president and Finis E. Yoakum, Jr., '12, the secretary-treasurer.

The speakers included Walter Christie, coach of the track team at the University of California, and Norman B. Livermore '95, who told of his adventures while hunting for four months in Africa with Andrew W. Newberry '05.

The Cornell Women's Club of the Bay Cities of California met in Oakland on February 28 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Yoakum. Mrs. Yoakum was Wilhelmine Wissman '11, and is past president of the women's Club. She was sent across the Continent last November as the delegate to the New York convention of the Cornell Alumni Corporation. Caroline Slater '22 brought an official message to the gathering from the Cornell women of Southern California.

The three alumni clubs of the Northwest—at Portland, Seattle, and Spokane—held their annual dinners during the week of March 1. At each of the three meetings Coffin showed motion pictures, lantern slides, and photographs of well-known scenes at Ithaca, and told of present-day conditions at the University and the opportunities of service open to alumni.

The Cornell Club of Portland met at the University Club on March 3. Wells Gilbert '93, president, was toastmaster. In the election of officers for the ensuing year he was succeeded by L. V. Windnagle '17. Henry W. Wessinger '10 was reelected secretary, and Berkeley H. Snow '13 was elected treasurer.

The two Washington clubs reorganized to include in name as well as in fact the alumni living outside of Seattle and Spokane. The clubs are now known as the Cornell Club of Western Washington and the Cornell Club of Eastern Washington.

The Seattle meeting was held on March 4, at the College Club. Nicholas D. Fratt '23 was elected president to succeed John N. Moran '06, who presided at the dinner. Ernest N. Harris '08 was elected vice-president, and Hays Matson '14, secretary-treasurer. Matson has recently moved to Seattle. In San Francisco last year he was secretary of the Cornell Club of Northern California. Three additional members of the board of trustees of the Club were elected: Archibald S. Downey '96, Harold G. Stern '06, and Charles E. Erickson '10.

In Spokane the Cornellians met at the Davenport Hotel on March 6. A. Fielding McClaine '14 as president was toastmaster. He was re-elected, as was the secretary, William V. Kelley '93. Edwin D. Ham '10, a former president of the Club, was elected treasurer.

TO PUBLISH LAW LIST

The first Cornell law list to be published under official auspices will soon be issued by the Cornell Law Association.

The list will contain the names and addresses of all Cornell lawyers who are members of the Association, whether graduates of the College of Law or not. Any person who has attended Cornell University and who is a member of the Bar, is eligible to membership in the Cornell Law Association and so to inclusion in the list, which will be arranged both geographically and by classes.

Ex-Justice William L. Ransom '05, president of the Association, has appointed a committee to compile the list which consists of Leander I. Shelley '05, chairman, Stanley D. Brown '05, William F. Bleakley '04, Horace E. Whiteside '22, and Robert H. Wilson, Jr., '16. Other members will be added to this committee later.

Previous Cornell law lists have been published as private ventures, the last one more than ten years ago. The Association list will be revised and published periodically, probably annually. It will be furnished to members of the Law Association without charge except for the three dollars annual membership fee.

Michigan Host for Smoker

Mid-Western Alumni Invited to Detroit for First Annual Cornell Celebration and Smoker on March 27

Alumni who live in the Middle West and those of other parts who will be in or near Detroit on March 27 are invited to be present at the first annual Mid-West celebration and smoker of Cornell alumni, to be given by the Cornell University Association of Michigan at Webster Hall, Detroit, at 6 p.m. Invitations have been sent to the twenty-four alumni clubs in that section of the country and the committee is making plans for an attendance of about four hundred. The smoker will be the first get-together meeting of Cornellians of that section in preparation for the 1925 meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation to be held in Detroit next October.

President Fred M. Randall '00 has appointed a committee to have general charge of the celebration which consists of James Lynah '05, chairman, James L. Elwood '06, Arthur E. B. Moody '94, and Harold A. (Tige) Jewett '22.

This committee has announced that the program will start promptly at six with a swimming party, races, and stunts in the large pool at Webster Hall. At eight will be shown moving pictures of Cornell, past and present; and the general smoker, buffet supper, and talk-fest will start at nine and continue indefinitely.

Among the guests will be Archie C. Burnett '90 of Boston, president of the Cornell Alumni Corporation, and Harold D. (Bub) North '07 of Cleveland, director for the Great Lakes District of the Alumni Corporation. Eddie Holmes '05 of Toledo will lead the singing and Tige Jewett's orchestra of Cornellians will pep up the frolic throughout the evening. Jack Moakley and the track team which is to meet Michigan the following evening at Ann Arbor, will be added attractions.

The party will be informal and all alumni who are in the vicinity of Detroit on that day are invited to attend.

BURNETT TO VISIT CLUBS

Cornell Clubs of the East and Middle West will entertain President Archie C. Burnett '90 of the Cornell Alumni Corporation on a swing around the circle which he will start at Philadelphia on March 26, going as far west as St. Louis, where he will speak at the annual banquet on March 31, and ending with the annual banquet of the Cornell Club of Cleveland on April 4.

Besides being president of the Alumni Corporation, Burnett is a member-at-large of the Cornellian Council and president of the Cornell Club of New England, of which he has been a member of the Board of Governors continuously since 1899. He is an officer and controlling stockholder of the New England Company of Boston, manufacturers of cotton duck, and interested in several other Massachusetts corporations. His oldest son, Newton C. Burnett, is a senior this year at the University, and a second son, Archie C., Jr., will enter next year.

Burnett's schedule of Cornell meetings, with in each case the name of the person in charge of arrangements, follows. Karl W. Gass '12, Director for the Keystone District of the Alumni Corporation, will accompany Burnett for the meetings in Philadelphia, Harrisburg, and Pittsburgh.

Philadelphia, luncheon, March 26, Benjamin O. Frick '02; Harrisburg, dinner, March 26, Dr. George H. Ashley '89; Toledo, luncheon, March 27, George B. Storer '23; Detroit, Mid-West Conference and Smoker, March 27, Fred M. Randall '00; Cincinnati, luncheon, March 28, Harold R. LeBlond '19; Indianapolis, dinner, March 30, Anton Vonnegut '05; St. Louis, annual banquet, March 31, George K. Miltenberger '11; Chicago, luncheon, April 2, William G. Strong '94; tea with women 4 p. m. April 2, Mrs. Robert B. Taylor (Carrie Squire) '01; Pittsburgh, luncheon, April 3, Herbert D. Kneeland '10; Cleveland, annual banquet, April 4, Conant Van Blarcom '08.

CORNELL AT PORTO RICO

Arturo Rodriguez '91 of San Juan represented Cornell at the inauguration of Thomas E. Benner as Chancellor of the University of Porto Rico on March 12.

PROFESSOR OTTO KINKELDEY addressed the Academy of Science and Art of Pittsburgh February 19 on "Music and Expression."

PROFESSOR BRUCE L. MELVIN conducted a round table discussion at one of the sessions of a short course for school superintendents at the University of Oklahoma, February 9 to 13.

CLUB ACTIVITIES

Western Connecticut Women

The Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut held its last meeting on February 28 with the president, Mrs. Julia McClune Emery '04 in Glenbrook.

Queens and Nassau Counties

On March 6 the Queens and Nassau Counties Cornell Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. Reginald Pratt (Winifred Sealy) '09.

Binghamton

The Cornell Club of Binghamton will hold its annual banquet at 7 p.m. on March 24 at the Arlington Hotel. Professor Samuel L. Boothroyd will speak on the recent eclipse. Dr. James W. Wiltsie '13 is in charge of arrangements.

Florida

Cornellians from all sections of Florida gathered at the famous Tampa Bay Hotel in Tampa on Saturday evening, March 7, to attend a "Dean Crane Dinner" held under the auspices of the Cornell University Association of Florida. Dean T. Frederick Crane, who is spending the winter at Deland, was the guest of the Association in Tampa from Friday to Sunday.

This dinner meeting brought together the largest number of Cornellians in the history of Florida. The roll-call disclosed the presence of two members of the Class of '72, Major Louis L. Seaman, Alumni Trustee, and John P. Gage of Orlando. The toastmaster was Miles S. Bierce '73, honorary president of the Florida Association.

Dean Crane made the only speech of the evening. He spoke of the past, present, and future of Cornell, emphasizing the present needs of the University. A motion picture of Cornell scenes and another of the Cornell-Pennsylvania football game were shown. The committee in charge of the Dean Crane Dinner comprised representatives from all sections of the State.

Besides those mentioned, the following Cornellians were present: James F. Tut-hill '82, Chester C. Platt '86, George C. Shepard '89, Mrs. Mabel Brown Hyatt '90, Allen T. Stewart '95, Asahel W. Gage '96, Gus H. Patterson '07, George D. Curtis '09, John E. Smith '11, John R. VanKleeck '12, Alger D. Couch '12, Morris A. Spamer '13, Roger W. Clapp '15, Henry C. Handleman '16, Walter L. Quinlan '18, Sophie Whit-aker Kurtz '18, Harry C. Sleichter '20, Charles W. Ten Eick '20, Chester A. R. Kurtz '20, Harvey B. Martling '20, Ed-mund T. Mallory '23, Willard B. Gebhart '24, Frank G. Smith '24.

Cleveland

The Cornell Club of Cleveland will hold its annual banquet on April 4, with Professor Martin W. Sampson as the principal speaker. President Archie C. Burnett '90 of the Cornell Alumni Corpora-tion will also be present.

Buffalo Women

The Buffalo Club of Cornell Women held its monthly luncheon on March 7 at the College Club. About twenty were present. An Easter party in honor of undergraduates and for members of the club who are unable to attend the noon luncheons was planned for some evening during the spring vacation. A membership of forty-seven was reported at this meeting.

1910 DINNER IN NEW YORK

The second 1910 Pre-Reunion Dinner of the spring was held at the Cornell Club of New York on March 10. Among those present were: Willis M. (Bud) Rose, John B. Smith, Jr., Frederick W. Hinck, Gilbert V. Steele, John Piper, Louis R. Bogert, A. Louis Chapin, George F. Baker, Thomas E. Andrews, Joseph Gerard, John J. Serrell, William B. Clift and Andrew J. Whinery.

Plans for the reunion in June were discussed and arrangements made for the next dinner of the Class, which will be held at the Cornell Club in New York on Thursday night, April 9.

A general reunion committee of fifty members has just been appointed by Whinery, the Class secretary, who will act as chairman of the committee. The members of this committee are George Pond, Russ Hurlburt, Paul Williams, Gil Crawford, Art Hastings, Hobe Young, Mac McCormick, Lee Miller, Chevy Chase, Ed Crosby, Bill Clift, Ambrose Durkan, Bud Ebersole, Juddy Judson, Roy Taylor, Rollo Blanchard, Grover Coors, Mal Jones, Ed Goodwillie, Erv Kent, Max Elser, Puss Lally, Clarence Pope, Red Watson, Brad Delehanty, Kay Ford, Dave Lehman, Mike Marlow, Edwin A. Fraser, Lou Shields, Eddie Cook, Ted White, Frank Kelley, Bill Harris, Al Peters, Ed Ham, Jansen Noyes, Bill Matchner, Hal Welch, Bud Rose, Casey Newman, Stan Griffis, John Anderson, Jack Hurley, Hal Edwards, Jim Rutherford, Jack Serrell, Red Tydeman, and Carroll Harding.

COFFIN APPREHENDED

The following dispatch from a Los Angeles correspondent is of interest to readers of the ALUMNI NEWS in connection with the present tour of Western Cornell Clubs by Foster M. Coffin '12, Alumni Representative of the University:

"A traffic jam which might have cost the city into the millions occurred yesterday at 'the World's Busiest Corner,' Sixth Street and Broadway. Traffic Officer Mulcahey was on duty and after skillfully clearing away the piled up cars and trucks found the cause to be the efforts of a tourist to evade the Los Angeles traffic laws. Foster M. Coffin, Cornell University Alumni Representative, who is touring the West in the interests of that Eastern upstate university, became dazed by the rush of Western city traffic and jaywalked. He had escorted a young lady into the vortex, to her intense embarrassment.

"Coffin, an honest-appearing Easterner, claimed ignorance of the law, which his friends were able to prove. He further explained his detection in the midst of Los Angeles traffic as due to an innocent attempt to keep an appointment already overdue by reason of his having stopped for refreshment at the 'Pig and Whistle.'

"Friends of Mr. Coffin, called in his defense, said that without doubt he was somewhat dazed as a result of having stayed up all night at El Centro, where a party conducted by Gardiner Bullis of this city was marooned overnight without accommodations in an effort to reach Mexicali and 'do' Calexico."

OBITUARY

Walter M. Rosebault '72

Walter Mayer Rosebault (formerly Rosenblatt), died in New York on November 9, 1924.

He was born in Savannah, Ga., the son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Rosenblatt and after securing his early education there, came to Cornell in 1868 as a student in the philosophy course, remaining part of a term. He later became a lawyer and practised in New York.

John H. Elseffer '73

John Henry Elseffer died at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., on February 11, following an attack of apoplexy.

He was born at Red Hook, N. Y., the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob W. and Delia Bonesteel Elseffer. Entering Cornell in 1869 as an optional student, he remained for three years and then went to the Albany Law School, from which he graduated.

He practiced law first with his father, then alone in Red Hook for several years, then moved to San Diego, Calif., with his wife, who was Miss Emma Manchester of Poughkeepsie. In 1918, following his wife's death, he returned to Poughkeepsie. He was a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, and treasurer and a trustee of St. Peter's Church in Rhinebeck, New York.

Joseph B. Davol '84

Word has just been received of the death of Joseph Benjamin Davol at Ogunquit, Me., on June 15, 1923.

He was born in Chicago, Ill., on August 25, 1864, the son of Joseph A. and Annie Morris Davol. After attending Hyde Park High School, he entered Cornell in 1880 as a student of civil engineering, remaining one year. He was a member of Alpha Delta Phi.

In 1881-3 he toured Europe and from 1883 to 1887 he was in the brokerage business in Chicago. Finally in 1890 he took up art and studied for a year in Philadelphia, Pa. The next two years he studied in New York and then he spent three years in Europe. By 1898 he had become well-known as a portrait and landscape painter, and he followed this profession until his death.

He was a member of the Fencers' Club in New York and also of the Art Students' League in that city.

Herbert A. Beidler '85

Herbert Alpine Beidler died on August 31, 1924.

He was born in Chicago, Ill., on August 22, 1861, the son of Henry and Sarah Sammons Beidler. After attending the public schools in that city and Greylock Institute at Williamstown, Mass., he entered Cornell in 1881 as an optional student and remained for two years. He became a member of Theta Delta Chi.

After leaving Cornell, he was in business in Wisconsin for a time, but in later years had been located in Chicago.

John F. Hayford '89

Dr. John Fillmore Hayford, director of the College of Engineering at Northwestern University, and one of the leading engineers of the country, died at his home in Evanston, Ill., on March 10, following a stroke of apoplexy suffered in December.

He was born at Rouse's Point, N. Y., on May 19, 1868, the son of Hiram and Mildred Fillmore Hayford. His early education was secured there, and he came to Cornell in 1885 as a student of civil engineering. He graduated in 1889 with the degree of C.E. He was a member of the track team and in the meet of the New York Intercollegiate Athletic Association in 1887, won the mile run. In his senior year, he was class athletic director and a member of the Athletic Council. He was also a member of the Christian Association.

Following his graduation, he was appointed a computer in the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. In 1892-3 he was an assistant astronomer in charge of a field party for the United States and Mexican International Boundary Commission. The next year he returned to the geodetic survey work and in 1895 began a term of three years as an instructor in civil engineering at Cornell.

In 1898 he returned again to geodetic work as an expert computer and geodesist and in 1900 became inspector of geodetic work and chief of the computing division in the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey. He held this position until 1909 when he assumed the post at Northwestern University which he held at his death.

He became particularly noted for his establishment of the theory of isostasy, which tends to establish that earthquakes are caused by movements of the earth's crust; for this he was awarded the Victoria Medal by the Royal Geographical Society of Great Britain. Another great accomplishment was his computation of the distance between the poles as being 7,926.678 miles and the diameter of the earth as 7,899.964 miles. These measurements were but recently accepted by the International Geodetic and Physical Union at Madrid.

He was a member of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics from 1915 to 1923; a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science; a member of the National Academy of Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, the American Astronomical Society, the American Society of Civil Engineers, the Western Society of Engineers; and a research associate of the Carnegie Institution of Washington.

Dr. Hayford was the author of "Geodetic Astronomy" and also of numerous monographs and reports. He was married on October 11, 1894, at Charlotte, N. Y., to Miss Lucy Stone, sister of Professor Walter King Stone, who survives him.

J. Hawley Taussig '07

John Hawley Taussig, one of the foremost ends in Cornell gridiron history, and a leading figure in the gas engineering world, died suddenly in Philadelphia, Pa., on March 2.

He was born in Washington, D. C., on January 24, 1876, the son of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Edward D. Taussig. He received his early education in Washington and after graduating from the High School there, came to Cornell in 1893 as a student of electrical engineering. In 1897 he graduated with the degree of M.E.

While in the University he was much in the limelight. In his freshman year he made the varsity football team and remained a varsity player throughout his course. During that time, his playing came into national notice. In his freshman and sophomore years, he was light-weight wrestling champion of the University. He also rowed on the freshman crew and was a substitute on the varsity in his sophomore year.

Taussig was active in other undergraduate circles. He was a member of Delta Upsilon, The Senators, Aleph Samach and Sphinx Head, and also served on the Junior Promenade Committee. After graduating he went with the United Gas Improvement Company in Philadelphia and became a leading inventor and engineer. He invented a number of important gas devices now in use, the most important of which, probably, is the vertical retort.

On October 21, 1905, he was married to Miss Lillian M. Ball of Philadelphia. She survives him with two daughters, Ellen and Elizabeth Taussig, and a son, J. Hawley Taussig, Jr. He also leaves his mother and two brothers, Captain J. K. Taussig and Charles A. Taussig '02, in addition to a cousin, John Wright Taussig '08. Taussig was a cousin of Professor Frank W. Taussig, well-known Harvard economist.

Walter E. Armstrong '20

Walter Ernest Armstrong died at the Humphrey Hospital in Union, N. Y., on December 19, 1924, following an operation for appendicitis.

He was born in Tioga, N. Y., on January 26, 1897, the son of the Rev. and Mrs. O. H. P. Armstrong. After graduating from the Owego, N. Y., Free Academy, he entered Cornell in 1916 as a student of law. In 1920 he graduated with the degree of LL. B.

After leaving the University, he located in Binghamton, N. Y., in the law offices of Harry C. Perkins. After about a year and one-half, he left and formed a partnership with A. Ray Humphrey under the firm name of Humphrey and Armstrong, at Endicott, N. Y. He was a member of this firm at the time of his death.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Armstrong, and two children, Howard and Helen, also a sister, Mrs. Ezra Zorn of Owego, N. Y.

ATHLETICS

Take Last Game from Yale

Cornell closed an inglorious basketball season by defeating Yale in the Drill Hall Saturday night, score 20 to 24. The Blue led for a minute or two, by virtue of Luman's basket scored after thirty seconds of play, but the Red and White soon caught up with and passed their opponents, and stayed ahead for the balance of the game. Both teams played raggedly, but Cornell at time showed fine flashes of team play.

At the end of the first half the score stood 14 to 7 in Cornell's favor. Led by Suisman, Yale rallied in the second half and at the half-way mark had climbed to within one point of Cornell, the score standing 17 to 16. Baskets by Clucas, Rossomondo, and Molinet, however, clinched victory for the Cornellians. Captain Dake had a field day, scoring four times from the floor and twice from the foul line. Suisman was high man for Yale with three baskets and four foul goals. Giblen's spectacular basket in the second half was one of the features.

The season has been a disastrous one for Cornell, the team having won only three out of ten League games. They defeated Yale twice and Dartmouth once. Both games of the Princeton, Pennsylvania, and Columbia series were lost, and one game to Dartmouth. Only two of the six men who formed the championship team of 1923-4 were available this year, Captain Dake and Rossomondo. Coach Ortnier tried out numerous new men, but never succeeded in developing a first-class combination. Toward the end of the season the team did begin to show signs of team play, cutting, and effective passing. All of the men who figured this year ought to be available again next season, and with the experience of this year to serve them, and new strength from the freshman and college squads, the outlook next year ought to be considerably brighter. This has been a year of rebuilding, slow work at best. The lineup and summary of the Yale game:

Cornell (24)	Yale (20)
Moynihan R.F.	Hall
Molinet L.F.	Suisman
Dake C.	Luman
Rossomondo R.G.	Carmody
Clucas L.G.	Giblen

Field goals: Cornell, Dake 4, Moynihan, Molinet, Rossomondo 2, Clucas. Yale, Suisman 3, Luman 2, Carmody, Giblen, Coleman (substitute for Hall.)

Foul goals: Cornell, Molinet 3 out of 4, Dake 2 out of 5, Rossomondo 0 out of 1, Clucas 1 out of 2, Moynihan 0 out of 2. Yale, Suisman 4 out of 5, Luman 0 out of 1, Carmody 0 out of 1.

Substitutions: Cornell, Deveau for Rossomondo, Rossomondo for Deveau, Winkler for Moynihan, Albee for Molinet, Moynihan for Winkler. Yale, Jones for Hall, Coleman for Jones, Lackey for Suisman, Mclean for Coleman.

Referee: O'Brien, St. Johns, Umpire: Brennan, Manhattan. Time of periods: 20 minutes.

Princeton won the league championship, with nine victories and one defeat. Dartmouth, Columbia, and Pennsylvania tied for second place with six victories and four defeats; Cornell was third and Yale last. The Blue failed to win a single league game.

Lose to Columbia

Unable to keep up the pace set in the first Yale and the Dartmouth games, Cornell fell before Columbia in New York last Wednesday. The score was 21 to 11, the Blue and White coming through in the second half. In the first period there was little to choose between the two teams. Columbia took the lead on fouls, and then Cornell went out ahead on three goals from the floor. Molinet's basket put Cornell ahead 8 to 7 when the half ended.

Toward the middle of the second half Columbia spurted and was never headed. Molinet was conspicuous for Cornell; Mannheim, Rothenfeld, and Kirchmyer for Columbia.

The line up and summary:

Columbia (21)	Cornell (11)
Baldwin L.F.	Moynihan
Laub R.F.	Molinet
Mannheim C.	Dake
Donaldson L.G.	Rossomondo
Lorch R.G.	Clucas

Goals from field: Mannheim (3), Rothenfeld (2), Dockerill, Baldwin, Molinet (2), Moynihan, Clucas. Goals from foul: Rothenfeld (3), Donaldson (3), Baldwin, Moynihan, Molinet, Dake.

Substitutions: Columbia, Dockerill for Laub, Kirchmyer for Lorch, Rothenfeld for Baldwin. Cornell, Albee for Moynihan, Moynihan for Winkler, Winkler for Dake, Dake for Rossomondo, Rossomondo for Winkler, Bergman for Clucas.

Referee: David Walsh, Hoboken. Umpire: J. J. O'Brien, St. John's College. Time of halves: 20 minutes.

Fencers Defeat Syracuse

The fencing team defeated Syracuse at Syracuse Saturday by a score of 16 to 1. The Orange won only one bout, in the epee division.

Freshmen Wrestlers Lose

The freshmen wrestlers lost to the Lehigh yearlings Saturday, by a score of 18 to 9.

Lehigh Wrestlers Win

The wrestling team took only two bouts in a meet with Lehigh in the Drill Hall Saturday, the visitors winning by a score of 17 to 8. Captain Affeld won the heavy-weight bout, throwing Wilson, while Jones won the 145-pound match, obtaining a time advantage over Washburn.

Reed of Lehigh defeated Loeb on a decision in the 115-pound class; Best of Lehigh won a decision over Eisenhauer in the 125-pound class; Lewis, Lehigh, won over Geier in the 135-pound match on decision, after two extra periods; Williamson, Lehigh, won a decision over Howard in the 158 and Burke of Lehigh defeated Butterfield by default in the 175-pound match, the Cornellian suffering a dislocated shoulder and being compelled to quit.

THE MID-WEST SMOKER

THE Middle West is fortunate in the number of attractions that are converging on Detroit for the celebration on March 27. A meeting in honor of Jack Moakley and the track team is ordinarily sufficient announcement to assure a crowd. To have Archie Burnett, the president of the Alumni Corporation; Eddie Holmes to lead the singing; Tige Jewett and his band for orchestral music; and Bub North to clear up the static—these treats all combined should offer inducement sufficient to bring the alumni of Michigan and its neighboring States in considerable numbers.

The smoker is not without its bearing on the general alumni situation. The annual convention of the Alumni Corporation will be held in Detroit next fall. A comfortable attendance at the smoker will act as encouragement to the local convention committee, will give it good preliminary practice in the handling of the meetings, and will, above all, give many of those who will attend the fall convention a glimpse of the hospitality in store for them at the later date.

Consequently the smoker is commended to all those alumni who are able to be in Detroit at the time, as a party that promises to yield good returns for the effort.

TO HELP TRAIN CHILDREN

The College of Home Economics has received from the executive committee of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial a grant for four years, beginning July 1, 1925, to finance further instruction and training in child care. The appropriation comes after a study by the Memorial of the work in child care, feeding, and training which has been conducted here since 1919, and as a result of the expressed need for more information on this subject.

For six years home economics students at Cornell have had training in the care of the children who have become residents of the practice houses for seniors. At last year's Summer Session Dr. Nellie Perkins, child specialist of the Detroit Psychopathic Clinic, gave courses in child training and had charge of a play school which served as a laboratory for her instruction.

The College expects now to enlarge its offerings not only to undergraduate students, but to members of the extension service, welfare workers, public health nurses, and to mothers who wish help in problems of discipline and character development.

SPORT STUFF

Dr. Norman Patullo of the Athletic Association field staff has an appreciation of green grass and a genius for making it grow that is not shared by any of his Nordic co-workers. Given a handful of sheep manure, a little seed, and a battered old watering can, and this smiling Neopolitan can make a cinder running track blossom as the rose. All he has to do is to sing a little Pagliach in the moonlight and every little seedling on the football field gets up and grows an inch for him.

But it's a question how long Dr. Patullo can last. Although unusually gifted, he is perhaps too sensitive and tender hearted for the athletic branch of his profession. Every time he converts a worn baseball field into an expanse of emerald satin some brutal coach turns loose upon it a crowd of unseeing ruffians in spiked shoes and the loving labor of months is ruined. The doctor's heart bleeds. He weeps. Wot in hell isa da use?

His more practical associates realize that it the purpose of an athletic field to raise boys and not grass, but to Norman the beginning of every new season means tragedy.

Next week the squad will leave the cage and go out on the diamond. I dread it. It's going to cost much sympathy and more red wine than I can afford to keep Dr. Patullo on the pay roll.

LITERARY REVIEW

Some American Families

The Abridged Compendium of American Genealogy: First Families of America. Edited by Frederick A. Virkus. Chicago. A. N. Marquis and Company. 1925. 25.6 cm., pp. 1148.

This is a distinctly worthy contribution to the study of American family history. Genealogy is now coming into its own. American family history begins with the Samuel Stebbins genealogy published in 1771. Farmer's Genealogical Register of the First Settlers of New England dates from 1829, and James Savage's great Genealogical Dictionary of the First Settlers of New England dates from 1860-64. Since then the stream of family and local histories has steadily grown. Such attempts as this, to bring together the results of many researches into American family history, are praiseworthy.

This volume contains about 5,000 records and about 7,000 lineages. Among the Cornelliens represented are President Farand, Professors Mason, Graham Lusk, Bancroft, and Willcox, Charles E. Cornell, Trustee Roger B. Williams, Dr. David Starr Jordan '72, Henry W. Sackett '75, Doctor Louis L. Seaman '72, Professor Martin W. Sampson (through William Sampson), Bion J. Arnold '89, Forbes Heermans '78, Professor Hiram Corson and Dr. Eugene R. Corson '75, Murray E. Poole '80, Wells S. Gilbert '93, Ross M. Lovell '93, Henry M. Norris '93, Frank C. Cosby '93, Professor Walter W. Hyde '93, Bert Hanson '93, Professor Charles G. Shaw '94, Professor Francis C. Caldwell '90, Professor William B. Gregory '94, Dr. George E. Barnes '94, Clinton G. Edgar '97, Kenneth L. Roberts '08, Professor E. Eugene Barker '10, William B. Cornell '07, Alfred D. Warner, Jr., '00, Professor Alvin C. Beal '03, L. Ward Bannister, lecturer in the Law School, former Professor John V. Van Pelt, and Charles L. Pack, donor of the Pack Prizes.

As an appendix there are given full details regarding all the patriotic societies now in existence. The index is carefully made.

Books and Magazine Articles

In the New York Times for March 8, under the title "The Saint Patrick of the Insect Realm," the work of Dr. Leland O. Howard '77 in fighting the encroachment of insects upon the domain of humanity is well described.

Professor Edwin Kemmerer, Ph.D. '03, of Princeton, contributes an introduction to Dr. John Parke Young's "Central American Currency and Finance," which the Princeton University Press has just published. The book sells for $2.50.

Downfall of Paint-brush Whiskers

Paint-brush whiskers used to dangle from so many chins that shaving below the Mason and Dixon line made one a marked man.

But if keeping the southerly part of the countenance concealed behind a billowy bunch of begonias seemed to indicate madness, there was a degree of method in it.

Shaving the chin and throat was a hazardous venture when lack of lather for softening the beard at the base made repeated and painful scraping necessary.

COLGATE'S Rapid-Shave Cream

emulsifies the oily coating upon each hair of the beard, thus permitting moisture to penetrate and soften it for easy shaving.

The use of Colgate's does away with the need of mussy rubbing in, or of messy application with the fingers.

Just squeeze half an inch of cream upon the wet shaving brush, and work up the softening lather upon your face.

Colgate's leaves the face soothed and velvety after shaving.

Daily shaving has become a business as well as a social requirement. Make it easy and comfortable by lathering with Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream.

Travel- Study Groups

Summer vacations spent in travel, either for scientific or general studies, complement university courses to an invaluable degree.

Study groups under the leadership of faculty members will find in the Dollar Steamship Line service unique advantages for such trips.

Palatial President Liners go Round the World with sailings every two weeks. They touch at 21 important world ports, thus providing transportation to the Orient, Egypt, the Mediterranean, Europe and Round the World with special stopover privileges which no other service can duplicate.

The personnel is thoroughly trained. The accommodations provide rare comfort. The cuisine is excellent.

NOTE: Faculty members are offered special inducements to organize travel-study groups. For complete details write

Will Your Children and Theirs go to College?

Do You Know

— that Brown goes back to his twentieth reunion this spring, and that he has just taken out educational insurance?

To this day he doesn't know which parent or aunt or uncle paid most of his school and college bills. But he does know that he can never repay those obligations created, except by insuring ample money for the education of his own two children.

So he has recently arranged endowment policies for both, to mature at the beginning of each school and college year. He believes that his children will more genuinely appreciate their education by paying for it out of their own funds.

And Brown also believes that they will better capitalize their own increased capabilities, on or before graduation, by taking out insurance for the education of the next hoped-for generation, as well as to create an immediate estate and financial guarantee of family unity.

The John Hancock is particularly interested in insuring college men and women and in obtaining college graduates for the personnel of the field staff.

Cornell Songbook

THERE are queer people in the world. We admit that the songbook is a very desirable book and we want it to have a wide circulation but we cannot give copies to church socials, etc. The price is $1.75 postage paid. We are selling the books.

Single Edge Poultry Killing Knife

THE poultry killing knife designed by Professor Krum has not been available for over a year. Our new supply is ready. The cutting edge is straight. We pay the postage at fifty cents each.

Last Call on TROY'S 1925 Calendar

WE mailed three this week. Not a great many but the letters indicated that the people had seen the calendars which had been received as Christmas presents. We feel that there might be others who are interested. $1.55 postage paid.
