JUST when the vacation begins is a question as unsettled this year as ever. Officially, instruction ends on Saturday, December 19, at one o'clock. More exactly, the vacation of any student begins at the moment when his last class is dismissed, which may be as early as ten o'clock Friday. Still more exactly, it begins with the ending of the last class he feels impelled to attend. The railroads, advertising their special trains for Friday noon and night, are better informed or more candid about the matter than the University authorities. Though Christmas is still more than a week away, undergraduate Cornell wants to go home and is going.

THE SCENES enacted in the city on Friday and Saturday of a pre-vacation week have had no counterpart since the days of the barbarian folk-migrations. Corridors boil with hurrying youth, with turbulent eddies where women students set down shiny suitcases to exchange farewell embraces. Instructors of the easier sort release impetuous youngsters in time for them to make the earlier trains. Outside the buildings taxicabs wait in lines, and trolleys are surrounded, overrun, annihilated. Soon afterward the Lackawanna specials go up South Hill, three engines to a train, furiously roaring, and the Lehigh trains whistle away up the Inlet Valley. After which the town suddenly becomes quiet and empty.

THE SECOND University Concert was given in Bailey Hall on December 11 by Percy Grainger, noted pianist and composer, who made his first appearance in Ithaca since 1917. Mr. Grainger rendered selections from Bach, Brahms, Ravel, Faure, Debussy, Albeniz, and Chopin. The third concert will be given on February 26 by Toscha Seidel, violinist.

J. F. ANDERSON '29 was elected freshman representative on the Student Council as a result of the balloting on December 7. Anderson received a total of 92 out of the 419 votes cast; his nearest competitor, C. L. Carter '29, received 86, and Sidney Beck '29 finished third with 42 votes. The number of ballots for this position was almost one hundred less than the number cast last year.

E. J. FAULKNER, the newly signed tennis coach, has arrived in Ithaca and taken up his duties with the tennis team. Faulkner, who is considered one of the best tennis coaches in the country by no less a personage than William T. Tilden, 3d, is a regular instructor at the Germantown, Pennsylvania, Cricket Club. His contract with Cornell extends only to April 1, when he will return to Germantown.

THE ASSOCIATION of College and University Unions, at its sixth annual convention at Purdue University on November 27 and 28, accepted Cornell's invitation to hold next year's convention in Willard Straight Hall. Eighteen colleges and universities took part in the meeting. Foster M. Coffin '12 was elected president of the association.

THE COLLEGE of Arts and Sciences, following the lead of the Colleges of Agriculture, Architecture, and Engineering, and of the Dean of Women, began this fall to require photographs of all entering students. The photographs are made by the University photographer, John P. Troy, and are kept with the student records in the office of the secretary of the College.

IN A DEBATE with Boston University on December 15 a team composed of Harvey C. Mansfield '27, Jacob Braun '26, and Alvin R. Cowan '27, with James S. Mansfield '28 as alternate, upheld the affirmative of the proposition, "Resolved, that the United States should grant immediate independence to the Philippines."

HADES, the traditional hazing given by the sophomore women to the freshman women, took place in the Old Armory on December 9.

GEORGE R. CONKLIN '27, a student in the College of Agriculture, was seriously injured on the night of December 8 when he lost control of a Ford automobile in the entrance to the Alpha Sigma Phi House and plunged headlong over the cliff into Fall Creek Gorge. In spite of the injuries he sustained in his drop of 150 feet, Conklin was able to call for help. The Fire Department was summoned, and by the use of ladders and ropes, succeeded finally in bringing the injured man to the top, lashed to a stretcher, two hours after his fall. He was then rushed to the City Hospital, where examination revealed three broken ribs and other injuries to the shoulders, hips, and body. Conklin has supported himself in college by selling sandwiches at night in fraternity houses, and had just called on the members of Alpha Sigma Phi when the accident occurred. His home is in Poughkeepsie.

UNIVERSITY AVENUE, always a dangerous highway in slippery weather, was the scene of two automobile accidents on December 9. A five-passenger Dodge touring car skidded on the sharp curve above the Christian Science Church and plunged over a thirty-foot embankment. No one was injured. Later in the day an Essex coach ran into a telephone pole near the Baldwin Memorial Stairway and injured Mrs. J. L. De Mun, wife of J. L. (Stuffy) De Mun of the Senate Restaurant, who was known to many generations of Cornellians. Mrs. De Mun was removed to the City Hospital, where it is said she will recover.

THE DRAMATIC CLUB gave an invitation performance for its members and workers at the University Theater in Willard Straight Hall on December 8. Three one-act plays were presented: "The Traitor" by Percival Wilde, with an entire cast of men, "Just Women" by Colin Campbell Clements, with an entire cast of women, and "Acid Drops" by Gertrude C. Jennings.

THE ANNUAL CROSS COUNTRY smoker, with an extensive program, was held in the Dutch Kitchen on December 10. Ex-Captain James G. Craig '26, was the master of ceremonies. These speakers discussed Cornell track activities past and present: Professor Carl Crandall '12, Tell S. Berna '13, Alfred Thatcher '09, Philip I. Higley '26, Captain-Elect Charles E. Houghton '27, and Colonel Jesse C. Nicholls of the Military Department. Stunts were put on by Henry L. Merriman '28, the Savage Club, the track competitors, and the Freshman Cross Country Team. Coach John F. Moakley concluded the smoker with a presentation of trophies to the winners of the Freshman Cup Series, the Novice Cup Series, the Potter Cup Series, and the Varsity Blind Handicap Series.

DELTA THETA PHI, honorary legal fraternity, initiated the following men at a recent meeting: R. S. Jett '26, Loran L. Lewis '27, Paul W. Potter, Sp., Thomas G. Rickert '27, Arthur E. Blauvelt '28, Irving F. K. Butler '28, David S. Hill '28, and Louis E. Reed '28.

THE WOMEN'S INTERCLASS basketball tournament was won by the juniors in the final contest between the juniors and seniors on December 8. The freshmen by defeating the sophomores placed second in the tournament and won the dinner, which, according to tradition, is always furnished by one underclass team to the other.

PRELIMINARIES for the novice boxing and wrestling meets began in the Old Armory on December 7 and continued throughout the week. There were seven classes in each event, ranging from 115 to 175 pounds. Sixty men took part in the boxing preliminaries and about thirty in the wrestling. At the finals on December 11 medals were awarded to the winners in each class as well as to the winners of three fencing bouts.

Straight Hall Dedicated

Mrs. Elmhirst Makes Simple Presentation —President and Student Reply

Dedication ceremonies of the simplest, with brief, pointed talks which formulated clearly the purposes of the memorial, marked the formal presentation, on the afternoon of December 14, of Willard Straight Hall to Cornell. Mrs. Leonard K. Elmhirst, the donor, herself made the presentation; President Farrand accepted the gift on behalf of the University, and Norman G. Stagg '26, chairman of the Board of Managers of the hall, made acknowledgement for the undergraduates. The dedication was held in the great memorial Refectory, before several hundred students and other members of the University community.

That Willard Straight's whole life exemplified the vital importance of friendships and close personal relationships, and that his desire for Cornell was to encourage the formation of such social contacts by providing a hospitable setting for their growth, was the thought underlying Mrs. Elmhirst's speech of presentation. She added the hope that the building would serve as a place for thought and reflection, where students might work out new faiths and find new roads to freedom.

Speaking for the students, Stagg termed Willard Straight Hall a place where all artificial distinctions between groups disappeared, and where there existed an atmosphere of refinement and courtesy found nowhere else in student life.

President Farrand in expressing the University's conception of the building emphasized its value in preserving the democracy of Cornell and at the same time promoting individuality and encouraging independent thought among students. Freedom of discussion should always characterize Willard Straight Hall, he said, and its spirit should reach out into international friendships, as did that of the man it memorializes. The building's surpassing physical beauty, he pointed out, is less important to Cornell than its value as an attempt to express ideals of friendliness and democracy which faculties and courses are unable to inculcate in students.

The dedication ceremony did not coincide with the first opening of the building to undergraduates, which took place November 18 and, at Mrs. Elmhirst's request, was entirely without formality. This was Mrs. Elmhirst's first visit to Willard Straight Hall since its opening.

THE '94 MEMORIAL DEBATE will be held on January 10, when the following six speakers will compete for the prize established by the Class of 1894: George H. Dession '26, Milton H. Friedman '26, Donald C. Bryant '27, Alvin R. Cowan '27, Charles L. Kades '27, and Herbert T. Singer '27. The alternates are Paul W. Hessel '27 and Arthur S. Wright '26.

SPORT STUFF

A student named Bronstein wrote a letter to The Cornell Sun about drill. Its substance was what you would expect.

A misguided undergraduate reserve officer named Welch then took his pen in hand to reply to Mr. B. As a result there was an eruption of views on military training. All shades of opinion were indicated from "Mine Eyes Have Seen the Glory of the Coming of the Lord" to "I Did Not Raise My Boy to Be a Soldier."

And then last Saturday the Cornell R. O. T. C. put on a review in the Drill Hall that put thrills up and down the backbones of all spectators who had them. Fifteen hundred huskies stepped out in a way to indicate that if their mothers had raised them not to be soldiers a mess had been made of the attempt.

Shucks!

Students yap about having to drill just about as you and I yap about having to pay taxes and serve on juries—and with the same results. And remember that the same boys who marched out of here in 1917 had previously squawked a good deal about having to drill.

FACULTY NOTES

PROFESSOR WALLIE A. HURWITZ spoke before the Mathematics Club of the University of Rochester on November 15 on "The Theory of Sets and Some of Their Paradoxes."

PROFESSOR WALTER F. WILLCOX addressed a joint health conference in Yonkers on November 20 on methods of measuring the results of health demonstrations and on the methods employed in health work.

PROFESSOR MARTHA VAN RENSSELAER '09, of the College of Home Economics, spoke in Syracuse on November 17 before the annual meeting of the New York State Home Bureau Federation on "The Study of Civics."

PRESIDENT FARRAND spoke before the University Club in Syracuse on November 27 on the problem of tests for admission to college.

PROFESSOR JOHN HENRY COMSTOCK '74 and Mrs. Comstock '85 sailed for Europe on November 28. They will spend the winter on the Riviera, going early in the spring to Paris and London. They were accompanied by Miss Margaret V. Turner of Buffalo.

PROFESSOR CARL E. LADD '12 spoke at a dinner of the Norwich, N. Y., Chamber of Commerce, with guests from the Board of Supervisors and the Chenango County Farm Bureau, on December 1 on "The Formation of the Chenango Forest."

Alumni Directors Meet

Date for Philadelphia Convention Set to Follow Thanksgiving Day, 1926

The board of directors of the Cornell Alumni Corporation held the first meeting since its organization at Detroit on October 24, when all of the officers and six other directors met at the Cornell Club of New York on December 12. The meeting started with luncheon, and lasted until late in the afternoon.

Those present were Archie C. Burnett '90, president of the Corporation and director from the New England District; Mrs. Finis E. Yoakum (Wilhelmine Wissman) '11, and C. Rodman Stull '07, vice-presidents and directors respectively from the Pacific and Keystone Districts; William W. Macon '98, treasurer of the Corporation, and Foster M. Coffin '12, secretary. The other directors present were Mrs. Herbert D. Williams (Nina Van Dyne) '10 of New York and Conant Van Blarcom '08, of Cleveland, directors-at-large; Neal D. Becker '05, of the Metropolitan District; Charles A. Taussig '02, of the Eastern New York District; Dr. Floyd S. Winslow '05, of the Western New York District; and Andrew J. Whinery '10, of the Middle Atlantic District.

The directors determined that the convention in Philadelphia next fall, which it was decided at the convention in Detroit last October should be held near Thanksgiving Day, should come immediately following the holiday. It was the unanimous feeling of the board, after a careful weighing of the claims of various dates, that the opportunity for spending Thursday, Friday, and Saturday in Philadelphia, with the Pennsylvania football game on Thursday followed by the two days of the convention, would have a general appeal to alumni from all parts of the country. It is expected that another special attraction in the city at that time will be the Sesqui-centennial celebration of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

Newton C. Farr '09, of Chicago, was elected to the board to succeed Edwin E. Sheridan '11 as director from the Central District. Sheridan's resignation, due to ill health, was accepted with resolutions of regret.

The budget for the ensuing year, amounting to $950, was adopted, and it was voted that the per capita assessment against the constituent clubs should be continued as twenty-five cents for each member.

More than an hour of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the processes by which the local alumni clubs can be of the greatest usefulness to the University. Van Blarcom and Winslow were appointed a special committee to submit a report on the subject.

OBITUARY

Theodore C. Prothero '74

Word has been received that Theodore Cornell Prothero died on February 10, 1924, at Middletown, N. Y. He entered Cornell from Greenfield, N. Y., in 1870 as a science student, but remained only part of the year. Since then he had been located in Middletown.

Edward George '75

Edward George died at his home in the Bahama Islands on November 5. He was born December 13, 1855, in Nassau, where his father was an importer and commission merchant, and in the earlier days a prosperous dealer in tortoise shells and sponges.

In the summer of 1870, he came to Ithaca and completed his preparation for college in McKinney's School at Buffalo and Spring Streets. In September 1871, he entered the University in the civil engineering course, and took up his residence in Cascadilla Hall, which was his home during his undergraduate years. Of a shy and retiring nature, he took no prominent part in extra-scholastic activities, but he was an excellent student and made many warm friends in the Faculty and among the undergraduates of his time.

He graduated in 1875 with the degree of B. C. E., and after practicing his profession in the United States for two years, returned to Nassau and entered his father's hardware and ship supply store, of which he ultimately became the head. In 1879 he married Miss Ida Johnson of Turk's Island. She died some time later, and he married a second time. His wife survives him. She was Miss Jane Jarrett, a member of a well known English family of Streatham.

Anyone who landed in the quaint colonial town of Nassau and turned up East Street, could scarcely fail to see upon the doorstep of one of the older houses near the waterfront the name "Cascadilla." In this white house with shuttered verandas lived Edward George, and whoever entered in the name of Cornell, as many have done, found a hearty welcome.

His chief hobby was horticulture, and in the spacious garden behind the house he strove to make grow every rare plant suitable to the tropics. That garden is famous throughout the West Indies for its orchids, ferns, and palms. Many of his ferns were collected at Coy's Glen near Ithaca.

Mr. George was a public-spirited citizen, notable among other things for his large contributions to the British cause during the World War. He was a loyal and enthusiastic Cornellian and was wont to revisit Ithaca and renew old friendships whenever possible. One of the trials of his last days was the serious ill health which prevented him from attending the semi-centennial reunion of his class.

E. L. N. '75

Charles Tyng '94

Charles Tyng died on October 29, 1924, in Salt Lake City, Utah, it has just been learned. He entered Cornell in 1890 from New York and studied civil engineering for one year.

Mrs. William S. Hall '95

Mrs. William S. Hall (Harriet Knight Ballou) died on April 26 last at Little Falls, N. Y., where she had resided for some time.

She was born at Boonville, N. Y., on May 15, 1874 and entered Cornell in 1891 as a student in the philosophy course. In 1895 she graduated with the degree of Ph. B. She was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma.

Michael F. Dirnberger, Jr., '01

Michael Frank Dirnberger, Jr., dropped dead in the Bank of Lancaster at Buffalo, N. Y., on November 3, as the result of a stroke of apoplexy.

He was born in Buffalo on November 2, 1874, and educated in the public schools of that city. In 1898 he entered Cornell as a law student. After remaining one year, he returned to Buffalo and became managing clerk for the law firm of Bissell, Carey & Cooke. In 1904 he became a member of the firm, and then in 1908 he went into practice for himself. After two years he formed a partnership with Owen B. Augspurger which lasted until 1915. Three years later he formed a partnership with James O. Moore.

In early life, he was a crack bicycle rider and at one time held the world's record for the mile. He and a partner also established a world's record for tandem riding. He was a member of Ancient Landmarks Lodge, F. & A. M., of Buffalo the Buffalo Club, the Country Club, the Park Club, the Niagara Falls Country Club, the Buffalo Athletic Club, and the University Club of Buffalo.

Besides his wife, he is survived by his parents, and three sisters, Ida H. and Edna Dirnberger and Mrs. Louis Engel, Jr., besides two brothers, Edward H. and Robert G. Dirnberger.

John M. Francis '02

News dispatches stating that the will of John Morgan Francis has been admitted to probate at Troy, N. Y., indicate that all hope of ever finding him has been given up, and that he lost his life, as feared, on October 25 while on a hunting expedition at Round Lake, N. Y.

He was born in Troy on April 30, 1879, the son of the late Colonel Charles S. Francis '74 and Mrs. Francis. He received his early education in Troy and at Lawrenceville School, then entered Cornell in 1898 as an arts student. He was active in undergraduate affairs and graduated in 1902 with the degree of A. B.

He is survived by his wife, a daughter, and three sons, one of whom is John M. Francis, Jr., '27.

Loren W. Gebo '16

Loren William Gebo died on June 16 last at Mesclero, N. M.

He was born near Plattsburgh, N. Y. on July 5, 1893, the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Gebo. He entered Cornell in 1912 as a student of agriculture. In 1916 he graduated with the degree of B. S. He was a member of the Adirondack and Forestry Clubs.

George von A. Fryer '23

George von Albade Fryer died at Keene, N. H., on December 9 after an illness of fifteen weeks with blood poisoning.

He was born in Syracuse, N. Y., and after attending Central High School in that city, won a State scholarship to Cornell and entered in 1919 as an arts student. In 1923 he graduated with the degree of A. B. He was a member of the Deutscher Verein and the Newman Club.

After graduating he became associated with the New York Telephone Company. While in camp last summer he sustained a scratch on the heel which resulted in blood poisoning.

Elliott M. West '24

Elliott Mitchell West died in New York on October 7, 1924, it has just been learned.

He was born in Brooklyn on May 15, 1898, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. West, and secured his early training in the Rensselaer School at Troy, from which he came to Cornell in 1919 as a student of mechanical engineering. After being in the University for two years, he left and went to New York, where he was located at the time of his death.

CORNELLIANS AT HARVARD

Nine Cornell graduates are now matriculated in the Harvard Business School, according to information received from Cambridge. They are Clarence C. Head '23, Willard B. Van Houten '23, Robert O. Volkening '24, Britton White '24, Leo J. Bridell '24, Elias F. Buckley '24, Newton C. Burnett '25, Raymond G. Fowler '25, and Karl K. Vollmer '25.

Cornell men who have recently received the M.B.A. degree at Harvard, the Cambridge authorities say, are holding positions with these firms: Charles W. Purdy '17, with the Merrill Oldham Company of Boston; Hayward K. Kelley '21, with the White Motor Company of Cleveland; Herbert W. McKnight '22, with the Henry L. Doherty Company or New York; and Albert G. Joyce '23, with Lee, Higginson and Company, Boston.

PHI DELTA PHI initiated the following men on December 9: William D. P. Carey '26, Holland Beeber '26, William B. Parshall '27, Anthony A. Goerner '27, and Robert W. Ready '27. After the initiation the members repaired to Willard Straight Hall for the initiation banquet, at which Professor Oliver L. McCaskill of the Law School was the principal speaker.

LITERARY REVIEW

Bases of Child Training

Psychology for Child Training. By Arland D. Weeks '01, Dean of the School of Education, North Dakota Agricultural College. New York. Appleton. 1925. 19.3 cm., pp. xii, 312. Price, $2.

Few subjects of more importance in education can be suggested than the psychological approach. The conservation and right training of the young means much for the world; and this is now realized as never before.

Dean Weeks has treated his subject with good sense and with intelligence. There are twenty-five chapters covering, so far as we can see, every phase of child activity and development.

We shall single out two or three points for comment. Under the head of The Fighting Instinct the author pleads for the raising of fighting to the constructive plane. To some extent this has been done already. "Victory, instead of being identified with the overcoming of the embattled adversaries, is expressed in terms of improved conditions, problems solved, majorities won, extended trade, and battles successfully waged with nature in the interests of production and welfare." He desires to see this constructive turn given to athletics. And truly there is room for improvement. Scores of thousands gather to see a great game between rival institutions. The business for some games runs to hundreds of thousands of dollars. And who is the gainer? Even the ardent friends of the system cannot always justify it on all grounds. Athletics are no doubt a good thing; but the system needs improving.

Under the head of Reading Matter for Children the author attacks the romantic folk tale. He singles out the story of Tom Tit Tot for censure as a typical story which inculcates false ideals: over-eating, lying, loafing on the job, relying on sheer luck. We are not sure that we follow the author in all of his strictures. Does any one suppose that simply because the queen got by, the average youthful reader will think that he too can safely rely upon luck to get by? Cannot even the young reader be encouraged to reflect that the risk for the ordinary person is too great? On this basis we should have to rule out of our literature all base acts, on the ground that they are setting a bad example for the reader. The story that represents virtue as always triumphant and vice as always defeated is scarcely true to the apparent facts of life.—At the same time, we agree with the author that there should be more use of the "safer" kinds of literature, and that there should be a larger supply of the right kind of reading matter for children—constructively imaginative and ranging within the limits of possibility.

There are many suggestive points raised in the book. It may be read with profit by all interested in this subject.

Charles C. Houghton '26 of Ithaca has been elected captain of the cross country team for next season. Houghton has been a member of the varsity team for two years, and also of the varsity track team. He was the first Cornellian to finish in the intercollegiate cross country run this year, and also led the pack in the other races.

Forbes D. Shaw '27 is the new captain of the soccer team. Shaw has played on the varsity squad for two seasons and he was also first baseman on the baseball team last spring.

WOMEN PUBLISH NEWSPAPER

The latest journalistic venture of undergraduate women is the Cornell Women's News, a weekly newspaper published by the Women's Self-Government Association. The paper purposes to reflect in detail the common interests of the women of the University.

Until recently the News comprised four pages of news items, seasoned with a few editorials, but the Self-Government Association has found it necessary temporarily to reduce the paper to two pages of more condensed articles. The staff consists of the editor-in-chief, Agnes S. Collier '27, the associate editor, Catherine Doyle '26, and the business manager, Herta Wilson '27. The editorial and business staff for next year will be chosen from a competition now in progress. The News has been assigned an office in Willard Straight Hall.

In February the circulation of the paper will be extended to alumnae at the rate of fifty cents a term.

THE COMPETITION for varsity cheerleaders began on December 7 when six juniors and twelve sophomores reported at the preliminary meeting in the Drill Hall. Sidney W. Little '26 is head cheerleader for the current year.

WOMEN'S LOUNGE, WILLARD STRAIGHT HALL

WILLARD STRAIGHT LIBRARY

GIFTS of money or books for a "browsing library" in the men's lounge room of Willard Straight Hall are requested by a committee which has undertaken to build up a permanent library in the building. The object is not to duplicate the University Library, but to establish a distinctive collection of the best standard works, classical and modern, attractively bound, offering an unusual opportunity for the browsing of the general reader.

The bookshelves of the lounge are now practically empty, and the committee desires to fill them as soon as possible. For the present it will accept donations of almost any variety, asking only that the offer be not taken as an opportunity for unloading one's bookshelves of old, decrepit books unsuitable for such a purpose. Modern books, by foreign as well as American authors, are particularly desired.

Alumni who wish to contribute money toward a fund for establishing a permanent library may do so through the chairman of the committee, C. H. Schaaf, '27, in care of Willard Straight Hall. Those who intend to contribute books are asked first to submit a list of titles of the intended gifts, to avoid possible duplication.

DELIVERY IN NEW YORK CITY

A former editor of the ALUMNI NEWS who has moved to New York has assisted us in determining the relative speed of delivery in the Metropolitan District and in the suburb in which he lives, Larchmont.

Delivery was made this fall at his city address almost invariably on Mondays. At Larchmont, it was usually Wednesday or Thursday before his paper was received.

Commuters who receive the ALUMNI NEWS at home later than Monday might well consider the question. We shall be glad to change the address on request in the interest of better delivery.

New York Dinner

Five Hundred Alumni Given First View of New Campus Development Plan

Over five hundred Metropolitan alumni assembled in the grand ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria on Friday evening, December 4, for the annual Cornell Banquet and Get-Together, given under the auspices of the Cornell Club of New York.

After an excellent repast interspersed with the singing of Cornell songs, led by William E. Hawke '11, R. Harold Shreve '01, president of the New York Club, made a brief speech of welcome and then introduced the toastmaster, Louis A. Fuertes '97. This was Louis's first appearance at a New York Cornell party since the War and he received a rousing welcome.

The first speaker of the evening was Dean Francke H. Bosworth, Jr., of the College of Architecture. As chairman of the advisory committee in charge of making the new general plan for the University, Dean Bosworth explained the development of the organization created by the Board of Trustees and steps taken to prepare the plan and to select executive architects in charge of various elements of construction.

Dean Bosworth was followed by Milton B. Medary, Jr., consulting architect for the University. Mr. Medary explained the new plan for Cornell, which was recently approved by the Board of Trustees. Slides were shown illustrating the present state of the Campus and the new plan of development, including the addition to the Engineering College, the Library, and the Dormitory Unit. Views of Willard Straight Hall were also shown.

This was the first presentation of the new plan for the University to any alumni body. It was received very enthusiastically.

After Mr. Medary's address the toastmaster called upon J. DuPratt White '90, who spoke of three needs of the University community—heat, water, and power and light—and how these needs have been or will be provided for.

Fuertes then gave a brief description of Willard Straight Hall. He spoke especially of the beauty of the building, the manner in which it has been accepted by the undergraduates and alumni who have visited Ithaca since it has been completed, and the great influence which it will have on student life.

The final speaker, President Farrand, received a tremendous ovation. In contrast with the material development of the University, President Farrand spoke of the human development. He particularly emphasized the fact that the aim of Cornell has always been, and always will be, service to the country and to mankind as a whole.

After the banquet an informal reception was tendered to President Farrand and the speakers at the Cornell Club of New York.

The next Cornell function in New York will be the Musical Clubs Concert at Town Hall on Saturday, January 2.

Musical Clubs' Tour

Concerts in Middle West, Rochester, and New York Scheduled for Vacation

Sixty-three members of the Musical Clubs, with Eric Dudley, director of the Glee Club, and George L. Coleman '95, director of the Mandolin Club, will leave Ithaca December 26 on the thirty-first annual Christmas tour of the combined Clubs. Concerts will be given at the Seneca Hotel Ball Room, Rochester, on December 26; Pabst Theater, Milwaukee, on December 28; Orchestra Hall, Chicago, on December 29; Emory Auditorium, Cincinnati, on December 30; Masonic Auditorium, Cleveland, on December 31; Carnegie Music Hall, Pittsburgh, on January 1; and the Town Hall, New York, on January 2.

The program offered by the Clubs this year includes traditional Cornell songs, with a large number of stunts and novelty numbers. The Glee Club will repeat the duet and chorus, "Imogene Donohue," which proved highly popular last year, and offers a new attraction in a singing and banjo-playing quintette. The Mandolin Club promises a hornpipe dance in costume, a saxophone sextette, and a specialty stunt orchestra in addition to several ensemble numbers. Finally, the Cornell Widow herself will appear at every performance.

The undergraduate officers of the clubs are as follows: president, Bjorn R. Edstrom '26, of Vesteras, Sweden; manager, John C. Adams '26, of Memphis, Tennessee; assistant manager, Wister Ambler '27, of Cleveland, Ohio; leader of the Glee Club, G. Schuyler Tarbell, Jr., '26, of Ithaca; leader of the Mandolin Club, John S. Livermore '26, of Gowanda, New York.

The total mileage to be covered by the Clubs, twenty-seven hundred miles, is somewhat less than last year. Three special cars have been chartered for the entire trip.

"Our pioneering work has just begun"

RECENTLY some one said to a prominent official of the Bell System:

"Your pioneering work is done. You have created a system that makes a neighborhood of the nation."

The executive replied:

"Our pioneering work has just begun. Each day brings new problems, new discoveries, new developments, all calling for broader-visioned handling on a larger scale than ever before. If I were a young man again in years, I would choose the telephone business for my life work even more quickly than I did before."

CLUB ACTIVITIES

New York Women

Forty-five Cornell women met for dinner at the Allerton, 130 East Fifty-seventh Street, on December 4. About fifty more joined them after adjourning to the Sun Room, for a brief business meeting and social hour.

The principal report of the Alumni Corporation Convention at Detroit was given by Jessamine S. Whitney '05.

Mrs. Monroe S. Goldberg (Laura Joachim) '09 reported as chairman of the committee of arrangements for the Clara Cornell Benefit Bridge, held on the Pennsylvania Hotel Roof on November 14. This was probably the largest gathering of Cornell women held in New York. One hundred four tables were set up that afternoon, and additional bridges were held in the homes of many Cornellians in the Metropolitan District who were unable to attend at the Pennsylvania. Especially to be mentioned was the one given by Louise Powelson '02 of Middletown, N. Y. A fund of nearly $1700 was netted by the bridge parties and additional gifts. Mrs. Goldberg was assisted by Mrs. George W. Tucker (Elsie Rand) '07 and Mrs. Joseph J. Klein (Janet Frisch) '12. The New York Club is glad to have an opportunity of showing their appreciation of the hearty cooperation of all Cornell women in the Metropolitan District, and all others who gave assistance unasked.

A group of recent graduates under the management of Miss Dorothea Trebing '23 presented "Miss Cornelia in Five Fashions." She came properly costumed for the '70's, the '90's, 1900, 1910, and finally the present day. A special feature was a popular student song for each period. The older members thoroughly enjoyed meeting their reincarnations, and felt an added fondness for the "Younger Generation," among whom were Elsie B. Smith '24, Vera W. Yereance '24, Edith T. Klenke '24, Beatrice L. Ecks '24, Margaret E. Latshaw '24, Ethel J. J. Leffler '24, Elizabeth A. Anderson '24, and Margaret C. Smith '25.

Professor Bristow Adams will address the club for their Founder's Day program on Saturday afternoon, January 9.

The annual luncheon will be held on February 13. Detailed notices will be sent out later. Any Cornell women who may be visiting New York at the time will be cordially welcomed. The corresponding secretary, Mrs. Merton A. Darville, 162 Twenty-fifth Street, Jackson Heights, New York, will be glad to receive the names of any Cornellians who would like to receive the luncheon notice.

Western Connecticut Women

On November 9 Mrs. Russell Y. Moore (Mary Johnson) '17, entertained the Cornell Women's Club of Western Connecticut at her home, 66 Rose Street, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

This being the annual meeting, the following officers were elected: president, N. Frances Weller '06; vice-president, Gladys Hall '17; secretary-treasurer, Grace Wright '18; directors, Mrs. Frank K. Watson (Iva Holmes) '06 and Mrs. Margaret E. M. Thomas (Margaret Marshall) '07; chairman of the entertainment committee, Mrs. Albert H. Emery (Julia McClune) '04.

Meetings of the club are held monthly.

The president, who may be addressed at 1093 Park Avenue, or the secretary, at 1222 Fairfield Avenue, will be glad to get into touch with other Cornell women who may be in Western Connecticut.

New England

The Cornell Club of New England enjoyed an interesting informal talk by Richard O. Walter '01, a former president of the club, about his recent trip to Europe, and his impressions of present day conditions abroad, at its regular weekly luncheon on November 30 at the Hotel Essex, Boston.

Harold Flack '12, of the Cornellian Council office, gave a short talk about University affairs, Willard Straight Hall, and the Cornellian Council.

Luncheons are held every Monday at 12.30 at the Hotel Essex, Boston.

Florida

The Cornell University Association of Florida held its quarterly meeting in Tampa on November 21. Tickets were reserved for the Florida-Mississippi game in Tampa at two o'clock and dinner reservations made at a Spanish restaurant for seven o'clock. About forty Cornellians were present at the dinner meeting in the evening, members coming from various cities in the State.

On Thanksgiving the club met in the office of Walter L. Quinlan '18, secretary, in City Hall, Tampa, where they listened in on the Cornell-Pennsylvania game, which was broadcast through the courtesy of The Tampa Daily Times. All Cornell and Pennsylvania alumni were invited. There were about fifty in attendance, half a dozen being Pennsylvania men.

Cleveland

At the luncheon meeting of the Cornell Club of Cleveland on December 10, Professor A. R. Hatton of Western Reserve University, international consultant on governmental affairs, and member of the City Council of Cleveland, spoke on "The Trend of Manager Government in Cleveland." Professor Hatton wrote the new city charter for Cleveland, which was approved by popular vote in 1921, and by which Cleveland became the largest city to adopt the city manager plan.

The big luncheon of the year will be held Wednesday, December 30. It will be a father-son luncheon, and all undergraduates home for the holidays are invited.

Rochester

The Cornell Club of Rochester received returns of the Pennsylvania football game on Thanksgiving Day by special wire in its rooms at the Powers Hotel. About sixty were present, including members of the club, their families, and several Pennsylvania alumni.

Eugene Goossens, conductor of the Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra, was the speaker at the luncheon on November 18. His subject was "Business and Music."

Side Whiskers That Have Ceased To Swish

Men who are doing their best to be worthy of esteem today would be unable if they were faced by the accusation to deny that they have appeared in public with side whiskers.

Unfair as it may seem, the horrible truth must be told, but let us hasten to add that there were extenuating circumstances.

When football players risked the danger of being yanked out of place by conscienceless opponents who would grab at anything, there was nothing like Colgate's Rapid-Shave Cream for making it easy to keep whiskers from swishing in the breeze.

COLGATE'S

Rapid-Shave Cream

softens the beard at the base, where the razor's work is done.

It makes shaving easy, and leaves the face soothed and velvety.

There is no mussy application with the fingers when you lather with Colgate's. Just squeeze half an inch of the cream upon your wet brush, then lather, and shave with ease.

Get a tube today, and be rid of all shaving discomforts.

A clean shave daily has become a business as well as a social requirement.

1926 Troy Calendar

$1.55 postage paid

How Many This Year?

The 1926 calendar is oblong in shape with a picture of the quadrangle on the cover. The printing is in brown which gives the maximum of color value. Each month has suitable views. For winter there are new ones of Beebe Lake and the Library. A new picture (a panoram) from the north end of the Campus shows Baker Laboratory and another shows Willard Straight Hall.

von Engeln—Concerning Cornell

Cloth $3.50 Leather $5.00

This is the new edition at the old price. The story includes the coming of President Farrand. It is a well known written story of the University and the History section alone merits the reading of the book by every Cornellian.

Vol. III. Life and Letters of Walter H. Page

$5.00

Anyone owning the first two volumes of Page's Life and Letters will surely want the third volume. Very interesting letter with historical value concerning the war period. Buy at the Co-op. Price is $5.00 postage paid.

Cornell Songbook $1.75

Have you a songbook? Do you really know the songs? Perhaps you nearly did when you were in college. Time dulls the memory a bit. Refresh your memory when you attend the next Cornell gathering. Teach the children. You need the songbook.

Crowley—Willard Straight $5.00

As a Cornellian you should know more of the man who made the new Willard Straight Hall possible. He was a typical student. After graduation he still held Cornell dear. His life should be an inspiration to his fellows. Know about Willard Straight Hall before you return in June.
