PANAMA CANAL

Words can't describe its grandeur. You must SEE it! You'll THRILL at its magnitude—and you'll go ashore for more thrills at Balboa and Panama City, a modern city and an ancient one, at the crossroads of the world.

THE most wonderful ocean voyage in the world! 5,500 miles, and every one brimful of pleasure and interest. Nearly the entire route is in mild or tropic waters, almost invariably smooth.

The day at Havana is a fascinating interlude. And the Panama Canal? You will never forget it! But there are many things on this voyage you'll never forget—deck tennis with delightful companions, luxurious loafing with a good book, happy hours in the outdoor swimming pools, the masquerade ball, and delicious Panama Pacific Line food.

But be sure to choose a modern, turbo-electric Panama Pacific liner—and you'll make the fastest time from Coast to Coast—13 days. Sailing regularly from New York to Havana, Panama Canal, San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Passengers are carried in First Class and Tourist.

CORNELL UNIVERSITY Summer School of BIOLOGY

JULY 11—AUGUST 19, 1932

Graduate work is a strong feature of the Summer School of Biology. This summer the following professors and assistant professors will be in residence and will accept graduate students.

Botany and Plant Physiology. Professors Wiegand, Eames, Curtis, and Petry.

Mycology and Plant Pathology. Professor Fitzpatrick and Assistant Professor Welch.

Genetics and Plant Breeding. Assistant Professor Fraser.

Zoology. Professors Reed and Wright, Assistant Professor Young.

Entomology. Professor Matheson.

Histology and Embryology. Assistant Professor Adelman.

Bacteriology. Professor Hagan.

Summer Faculty Named

Thirty-two Teachers from Outside Institutions on the Staff of the forty-first Session

The staff of administration and instruction of the 41st Summer Session will include 212 Faculty members, 32 of whom are from institutions other than Cornell, according to announcement made by Professor Riverda H. Jordan of the Department of Education, who is in charge of the Session.

In addition to courses offered in the regular colleges of the University, special sessions will be held by the School of Law, the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, and in Biology.

Professor Benton S. Monroc '96 is secretary of the Summer Session, Dr. Eugene F. Bradford registrar, and Miss R. Louise Fitch dean of women. The New York State Summer Session, comprising the Colleges of Agriculture and Home Economics, will be under the direction of Dr. Rolland M. Stewart.

The Summer School of Law will begin on June 21 and end on July 30. After the regular session, an informal study of "Remedies: Legal and Equitable, Contract and Tort," will be conducted by professors of the School from August 1 to 27. Instruction in the other sessions will last for six weeks, starting July 11.

The staff includes the following from other institutions:

REGULAR SUMMER SESSION

Classics: Stanley B. Smith, Bowdoin College.

Drawing and Painting: Raymond S. Srites, Antioch College.

Economics: Frank Tannenbaum, Brookings Institute, Washington, D. C.

Education: William H. Bristow, deputy superintendent, Pennsylvania State Department of Public Instruction; Charles E. Finch, director of the Junior High School, Rochester; Frank E. Lutz, associate curator, American Museum of Natural History, New York; James B. Palmer, director, Department of Rural Education, State Normal School, Potsdam; Vivian T. Thayer, Ethical Culture Schools, New York.

English: Charles B. Hale '20, University of Maryland; Harold W. Thompson, New York State College for Teachers, Albany.

French: Edwin C. Byam, University of Delaware.

Geology: Sidman P. Poole, Syracuse University; Leslie E. Spock '23, New York University.

History: Leo Gershoy '19, Long Island University

Music: Frederick S. Andrews, formerly of Rollins College, Fla.; H. A. Spencer, Supervisor of Music, Niagara Falls.

Philosophy: Glenn R. Morrow, Ph.D. '21, University of Illinois.

Physics: William V. Houston, California Institute of Technology; Karl A. Zeller, A.M. '01, High School, Columbus, Ohio.

Public Speaking: Bernard Lenrow '26, Iowa State College; Arthur L. Woehl '23, Hunter College.

Social Science: Horace Kidger, Department of Social Studies, Newton, Mass.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF LAW

Professor Elliott E. Cheatham, Columbia Law School; Professor R. Turner Steffen, Yale Law School; Professor Billig, West Virginia Law School.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF AGRICULTURE

Agricultural Economics and Farm Management: Charles F. Searle '16, senior economist, Economics Division, Federal Farm Board.

Rural Education: Charles W. Clark, director of vocational schools, Schenectady; Albert Martin Field, Ph.D. '29, University of Minnesota; Arthur Kendall Getman '11, chief, agricultural education Bureau, State Department of Education; Hans Weller Hochbaum '05, field agent, Cooperative Extension Work, U.S. Department of Agriculture; Charles L. Mosher, director of attendance, New York State Department of Education; George M. Wiley, assistant commissioner of education, New York State Department of Education.

McCREA APPOINTED DEAN

OF SCHOOL AT COLUMBIA

Roswell Cheney McCrea, A.M. '00, has been appointed dean of the School of Business of Columbia University, succeeding Professor James C. Egbert, who organized the school in 1916.

Professor Egbert is resigning as dean but will retain the post of director of extension which he has occupied since 1910.

Dean McCrea has been professor of economics at Columbia since 1916, and was assigned to the Hepburn professorship in economics in 1922. He has been a member of the school's administrative board since 1920, and became a member of the school Faculty when that body succeeded the administrative board last year.

He served as dean of the Wharton School of Finance at the University of Pennsylvania from 1912 to 1916. He has also taught at the Eastern Illinois State Normal School, Trinity College, and at Bowdoin.

IN School and Society for May 7 the late Professor Elijah C. Hills '92, editor, Mathurian Dondo, La France, son Histoire, sa Civilization is reviewed by William McAndrew.

Five Professors Retiring

Dennis, Hull, Gill, Martin, and Schmidt Close Long Service to the University

Professors Louis M. Dennis of the Department of Chemistry, Adam C. Gill of the Department of Mineralogy and Petrography, Clarence A. Martin of the College of Architecture, and Nathaniel Schmidt of the Department of Semitic Languages and Literatures will retire from active teaching in June of this year. Professor Charles H. Hull retired earlier in the year.

LOUIS MUNROE DENNIS

Longest in term of service to Cornell is Professor Dennis, who came here in 1887 as an instructor, was appointed assistant professor in 1891, associate professor in 1894, and professor in 1900. He has been head of the Department of Chemistry since 1903.

Professor Dennis was born in Chicago in 1863, and holds the degrees of Ph.D. and B.S. from the University of Michigan, and D.Sc. from Colgate. He studied at the University of Munich and the Polytechnikum of Dresden and Wiesbaden. Further details of his biography will be found on page 370 in connection with the story of his recent election to the Akademie de Naturforscher.

ADAM CAPEN GILL

Professor Gill came to the University in 1894 as assistant professor of mineralogy and petrography and was appointed professor in 1910. He was born in Chesterville, Maine, in 1863, the son of Elisha and Hulda (Capen) Gill.

After graduating from Amherst with the degree of A.B. in 1884, he pursued his studies in Munich, Germany, and was given the degree of Ph.D. in 1893 from the University of Munich. He had also studied at Johns Hopkins and had done

ATHLETICS

PENNSYLVANIA WINS DUAL MEET

The track team lost to Pennsylvania, 81-54, in their annual dual meet on Schoellkopf Field May 14, and rain and a wet track failed to prevent the breaking of four meet records.

Mangan, Cornell miler, turned in the most remarkable feat of the afternoon in defeating Coan and McKniff, Quaker stars, in 4:17.2, four-tenths of a second better than the mark set by McKniff at Philadelphia a year ago. Mangan ran on a dry track. A moment later, in a down-pour of rain, Carr of Pennsylvania, winning the 444-yard run in 0:48.4, clipped five-tenths of a second from the record set by Steele of Pennsylvania last year.

Hardy, Cornell sprinter, aided by a following breeze that offset a slow track, captured the 100-yard dash in 0.09.7, cutting one-tenth of a second from a mark that has stood since 1922. The former time was set by Lovejoy of Cornell and was equaled by Lever in Pennsylvania in 1923, by Russell of Cornell in 1925, and by Sachs of Pennsylvania in 1929.

McDougal, Quaker hammer thrower, won his specialty with a toss of 163 feet 7½ inches, eclipsing the mark of 161 feet ¾ inches set by Wright of Cornell in 1927.

Pennsylvania captured nine first places and Cornell four, and two firsts were shared by each team. The Quakers took a seven-point lead in the first event completed and were never headed, although Cornell drew even at 18-all in the first four events, only to drop back as Pennsylvania captured first and second in the 440-yard dash. Pennsylvania steadily increased its margin to the end.

Munger, who won the decathlon title at the Penn Relays in April, led Pennsylvania in scoring with 11 points, placing in four events. Captain Schoenfeld of Cornell was the only double winner. He captured the shot put and discus throw without serious opposition.

Walter of Pennsylvania placed second the high hurdles and then won the low barrier race when his teammate, Aldred, winner in the highs, was eliminated by a fall in the second heat.

The mile race provided the greatest excitement of the meet. Russell set the early pace for Cornell, with Coan of Pennsylvania second, and then dropped out. Martin went out in front, trailed by the two Quaker runners, with Mangan trailing in fourth place.

Going into the final lap, Mangan began his spurt. Rounding the last turn into the home stretch, he passed the Pennsylvania runners and then caught Martin. Martin was unable to keep up the pace, dropping back as first Coan and then McKniff passed him. McKniff caught his teammate about five yards from the tape, with Mangan the victor by about six yards.

Mangan and Martin came back to the 880-yard run, but Schaefer of Pennsylvania finished too strong, and the Cornellians had to take second and third places.

The summaries:

TRACK

100-yard dash: won by Hardy, Cornell; second, Jones, Pennsylvania; third, Maskrey, Pennsylvania. Time, 0:09.7. (New meet record).

220-yard dash: won by Steele, Pennsylvania; second, Jones, Pennsylvania; third, Rosenthal, Cornell. Time, 0:21.2.

440-yard dash: won by Carr, Pennsylvania; second, Healey, Pennsylvania; third, Rosenthal, Cornell. Time, 0:48.4. (New meet record).

880-yard run: won by Schaefer, Pennsylvania; second, Mangan, Cornell; third, Martin, Cornell. Time, 1:57.3.

One-mile run: won by Mangan, Cornell; second, McKniff, Pennsylvania; third, Coan, Pennsylvania. Time, 4:17.2. (New meet record).

Two-mile run: won by Dean, Pennsylvania; second, Kellogg, Cornell; third, Hazen, Cornell. Time, 9:42.8.

120-yard high hurdles: won by Aldred, Pennsylvania; second, Walter, Pennsylvania; third, Bennett, Cornell. Time, 0:15.2.

220-yard low hurdles: won by Walter, Pennsylvania; second, Hart, Cornell; third, Bennett, Cornell. Time, 0:24.6.

FIELD

16-pound shot put: won by Schoenfeld, Cornell, 47 feet 1 inch; second, Perina, Pennsylvania, 42 feet ½ inch; third, Rieker, Cornell, 40 feet 9 inches.

Javelin throw: won by Huey, Pennsylvania, 176 feet 10¼ inches; second, Persbacher, Cornell, 166 feet 9¾ inches; third, Munger, Pennsylvania, 165 feet 5 inches.

Discus throw: won by Schoenfeld, Cornell, 138 feet ¾ inches; second, Munger, Pennsylvania, 125 feet; third, Trout, Pennsylvania, 117 feet.

Hammer throw: won by McDougal, Pennsylvania, 163 feet 7½ inches; second, Ellis, Cornell, 142 feet 5 inches; third, Brainard, Cornell, 125 feet 7 inches. (New meet record).

Running high jump: triple tie for first among Ebelhare and Haidt, Cornell, and Klemm, Pennsylvania, 5 feet 10 inches.

Running broad jump: won by Andursky, Pennsylvania, 22 feet 4½ inches; second, Munger, Pennsylvania, 22 feet ¾ inch; third, burns, Cornell, 21 feet 2⅞ inches.

Pole vault: tie for first between Belloff, Cornell, and Munger, Pennsylvania, 12 feet 6 inches; tie for third between Jones and Smith, Pennsylvania, 12 feet.

FRESHMAN LOSE ON TRACK

The freshman track team lost to the Pennsylvania yearlings, 72 ½ to 62 ½, at Philadelphia May 14.

Cornell was in front with two events remaining, but Pennsylvania athletes won first and second in the pole vault and swept all three places in the discus throw to clinch the meet.

The Red and White yearlings won seven first places. Ratkowski of Cornell took first in the high jump and broad jump, and Merwin of Cornell captured both hurdle races. Irving won the 440-yard dash, Tierney the two-mile run, and Batchelor the javelin throw.

Detweiler starred for the Quakers, winning the hammer throw, the shot put, and the discus throw.

TWO MORE BASEBALL DEFEATS

The baseball team lost two games last week, bowing to Washington and Lee May 12 on Hoy Field, 7-3, and losing to Yale, 4-1, in an Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League game at New Haven May 14. A game with St. Bonaventure, scheduled for Ithaca May 13, was canceled because of rain.

The defeat at New Haven gave Cornell a record of one victory and five defeats in league race.

The standing of the teams-

Yale	5	2	.714
Columbia	5	3	.625
Dartmouth	4	4	.500
Pennsylvania	2	2	.500
Princeton	2	3	.400
Cornell	1	5	.167

Cornell gained only three hits off the delivery of Broaca, Eli mound ace. Cornell was retired in order in six of the nine innings.

The Red nine threatened in the third inning when Smith started with a double, but Broaca tightened and retired the next three men. In the fourth, Payne singled and went to second on Hatkoff's sacrifice. Flumerfelt grounded out, Payne going to third. Kappler singled to score Payne. Kappler reached third when Parker misplayed the hit, but Pasto flied out to Booth to end the inning.

Yale settled the issue in its half of the fourth. Payne misplayed Maine's grounder and Parker singled. Gengarely sacrificed both runners along. McGowan flied to Smith, and Maine scored after the catch. As Booth drew a pass from Sereysky, Parker stole third and scored when Pasto's throw to Hatkoff struck the runner and caromed off into foul territory. Brown, running for Booth, scored on singles by Broaca and Williamson. Kimball grounded out to end the inning.

The Elis added their fourth run in the eighth. McGowan singled, Booth popped out, and Broaca sacrificed. Williamson singled, McGowan going to third. The runners executed a double steal, McGowan scoring.

Wildness by Williams in the first inning gave Washington and Lee a four-run lead, and the Generals held the advantage throughout the game. Williams passed two men and hit another with a pitch. His walks forced in two runners, another scored on an infield play, and the fourth tallied on Frost's error at second.

Kappler scored Cornell's first run on a pass and singles by Pasto, Smith, and Frost.

The Generals scored three more in the fourth on hits by Jarrett, Miller, and Wilson, two outfield flies, and Payne's error. In the fifth, Draney tripled and scored on Payne's single. In the eighth, Payne doubled and scored on Hatkoff's single.

JUST LOOKING AROUND

THE ONE-O'CLOCK RUSH HOUR line in Willard Straight Cafeteria twined slowly toward its goal. The aluminum tray of the red-headed senior gently prodded the Professor of Moot Courts and Torts in the kidneys.

"Well, I see that Columbia University has just given a Doctor's degree to Alice in Wonderland," said the red-headed senior. He chose a glass of milk and a fruit salad, which he lathered amply with Russian dressing and whipped cream.

"So I see," replied the Professor of Moot Courts and Torts. "And as for me, I should say that it marks the ultimate degradation of the University by professional publicity."

"Why, I thought it was kind of a nice idea," demurred the red-headed senior, accepting a plate of noodles with gravy and two banana fritters with maple syrup.

"I willingly grant that Mrs. Hargreaves is a most estimable lady, deserving of every honor. But the Doctorate, my dear fellow! The Doctorate has always had a special meaning: high achievement in some scholarly branch. To make the subject of the best of children's books a Doctor is merely absurd. The fact that no one but me recognizes the absurdity only makes the absurdity more absurd. As well make an artist's model a member of the National Academy of Design. Or give an M.D. to a man who has had an unusually difficult appendix removed.

"To an old fellow like me, it seems that Alice has been adventuring in the maddest of wonderlands. I wish Lewis Carroll could have added to his book this last chapter: the conferring of the Doctor's degree on Alice by Father William. It would have been awfully funny."

"Why Father William?" said the red-headed Senior. He helped himself to a wedge of chocolate cake crowned with tutti frutti ice cream.

The Professor of Moot Courts and Torts struck a pose.

"You are old, Father William," the young man said,

'And your hair has become very white; And yet you incessantly stand on your head—

Do you think, at your age, it is right?" "Forty-seven cents," said the cashier.

THE RURAL COMMUNITY

The Rural Community: the Natural History of a Sociological Group. By Dwight Sanderson '98, Professor of Rural Social Organization in Cornell. Boston. Ginn and Company. 1932. 21.4 cm., pp. x, 723. Price, $4.40.

This is a notable and remarkably comprehensive study in social origins and development. The amount of literature pertaining to this subject is astounding; even the select list appended by the author fills 36 pages. With this literature Dr. Sanderson gives evidence of close familiarity. He quotes freely by special permission, and thus his book is not only the expression of his own opinions but also a kind of symposium of the views of many writers on the respective topics here treated.

The rural community as we know it is very recent. Going back to the times when nomads began to till the soil, we naturally find the primitive agricultural village to be migratory. Among the northwest Amazon tribes this type still prevails. A village of such a sort, probably was the Indian village at the head of Cayuga Lake. To the important subject of the village community Sanderson devotes about 300 pages.

The last 233 pages of the book are given to the modern rural community. In some respects this is still changing; but essentially it will exist permanently so far as we can see. Except the family, it is the most important group for purposes of social control. It will always be the battle-ground of conformity to the established code vs. the adoption of new ideals.

This book is an extremely important contribution to the subject.

BOOKS AND MAGAZINE ARTICLES

In The Journal of Physical Chemistry for May Dr. Herbert L. Davis '27 writes on "The Determination of Aluminum and of Excess acid in Aluminum Salts." Gustav Egloff '12, C. D. Lowry, Jr., and Raymond E. Schaad discuss "Polymerization and Decomposition of Acetylene Hydrocarbons." Professor Bancroft, Robert S. Gutsell '16, and John E. Rutzler, Jr., '27, continue their "Colloid Chemistry of the Nervous System." Professor Bancroft reviews J. W. Mellor, A Comprehensive Treatise on Inorganic and Theoretical Chemistry, volume xi.

DR. HOLLIS DANN

DIRECTS VERDI REQUIEM

The Department of Musical Education of New York University on April 30 finished its first century of activity with the presentation of the famous Requiem of Verdi. It was last performed in New York under the direction of Toscanini in 1931.

Many Cornellians were numbered among the huge audience, for the work was given under direction of Dr. Hollis Dann, from 1903 to 1921 in charge of the Music Department of Cornell. A chorus of 340 students and alumni had been trained by Dr. Dann, now head of his department at New York University.

The chorus was assisted by the Philharmonic Orchestra and the soloists were Mme. Matzenauer, Mrs. Ruth Blackman Rodgers of Ithaca, Paul Althouse, and Fred Patton.

The occasion was a personal triumph for Dr. Dann as well as for the performers. According to an alumnus who was present, "the audience sat and applauded and applauded for several minutes. It was a real ovation."

During Dr. Dann's leadership the Sage Chapel choir performed several ambitious works of this kind, and the Music Festivals given each spring drew audiences and critics from far and near. Press comments much work in geology, chemistry, and physics. His work at Munich included crystallography and paleontology.

Among his writings are included Tables for the Determination of the Common Minerals and Chromite of the Kenai Peninsula, Alaska.

Professor Gill was the guest last week at a tea given in his honor by the two honorary geology fraternities, Chi Upsilon and Sigma Gamma Upsilon. It was attended by members of the department and several of his former students who have positions in other institutions.

CLARENCE A. MARTIN

Professor Martin was a special student in Cornell from 1886 to 1888, and later, in 1895 returned to teach as an assistant professor of architecture. He was appointed professor in 1903, and was dean of the College from 1908 to 1919. He has also been acting dean during the current year because of the leave of absence of Dean Young.

Born in Medina County, Ohio, in 1862, Professor Martin attended Oberlin Preparatory School before coming to Cornell. He was given the degree of D.Sc. from Colgate in 1918. He is a member of Phi Gamma Delta and Tau Beta Pi, a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, and past president of its Central New York Chapter. From 1912 to 1925 he served as secretary-treasurer of the Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture. His wife, Gertrude Shorb Martin, Ph.D. '00, is a well known educator, and former adviser of women at Cornell. His son and daughter both attended Cornell.

NATHANIEL SCHMIDT

Professor Schmidt taught at Colgate in 1888-96, coming to Cornell in that year as professor of Semitic languages and Oriental history. He was born in Hudiksvall, Sweden, in 1862, and studied at Stockholm University, Colgate, and the University of Berlin, from which last he received the degree of A.M.

He is a member of the Deutsche Morgenländische Gesellschaft, the Vorderasiatische Gesellschaft, the Deutsche Palaestina Verein, the American Oriental Society, the American Philological Association, the Society of Biblical Literature and Exegesis (president 1914), and a fellow of the American Geographical Society.

Among his writings are Biblical Criticism and Theological Belief, Syllabus of Oriental History, The Republic of Man, a series of Outlines of the Histories of Egypt, India, Syria, The Prophet of Nazareth, and The Messages of the Poets. He has also been editor of and contributor to many publications.

CHARLES HENRY HULL

Professor Charles H. Hull who retired as of September, 1931 graduated from the University in 1886. He is a native of Ithaca, being born there in 1864, the son of Albert and Margaret (Vischer) Hull.

After attending Cornell and acting as assistant librarian for a few years he studied at Göttingen, Halle, and Berlin, receiving his Ph.D. from Halle in 1892. He was an instructor in political science in the University in 1892-3, assistant professor of political economy from 1892 to 1901, and in the latter year became professor of American history.

He is the editor of The Economic Writings of Sir William Petty. He is a member of Delta Upsilon and Quill and Dagger. He lives with his sister, Miss Mary J. Hull '93, in the family home at 413 East Buffalo Street.

Professor Hull is a recognized authority on the early history of New York State and in particular of Cornell University.

KORSON WINS WOODFORD

PRIZE FOR BEST ORATION

Selig Korson '32, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., won the Woodford Prize for the senior giving the best English oration in the annual competition in Willard Straight Hall May 10.

Korson's topic was "A plea for Higher Wages."

Other competitors were Ellsworth G. Hubbell '32, Ridgefield Park, N. J., Albert E. Arent '32, Rochester, Bradford N. Carver '32, Auburn, and William B. Kuder '32, Oakland, Cal.

The Woodford Prize, founded in 1870 by Stewart Lyndon Woodford, has an annual value of $100.

The judges were Professor Robert P. Sibley, Robert E. Treman '09, and Elias R. B. Willis '14.

AT THE May meeting of Sigma Xi, the following officers were elected: president, Professor Robert Matheson '06; vice-president, Professor Leonard A. Maynard '15; secretary, Professor Guy E. Grantham '20.

OBITUARIES

MACOMB BYRON GRAY '86, a seedsman in Billings, Mont., died on March 14 after an illness of several months. He was born on August 12, 1863, in Cape Vincent, N. Y., the son of Edwin and Eleanor Wood Gray. He received the degree of B.S. and was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Mrs. J. Carter Johnson (Dorothy M. Gray '18) is his daughter.

MYRON MCKEE CRANDALL '89, a lawyer in West Winfield, N. Y., died on August 25, 1931. He was born on August 28, 1867. He received the degree of LL.B. in 1889 and of LL.M. in 1890. He is survived by his wife.

WILLIAM WILLARD ASHE '92, assistant regional forester with the United States Forest Service, died in Washington on March 18. He was born in Raleigh, N. C., sixty years ago, the son of Captain and Mrs. Samuel A. Ashe. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of North Carolina, and his M.S. from Cornell. He has been with the Forest Service since 1905. Mr. Ashe was responsible for the planting of the first commercial longleaf pine in North Carolina, where he also introduced the modern practice of cupping pine trees with turpentine. At the time of his death he was chief of land acquisition of the national forest region of the Eastern and Southern States. He is survived by his father and his wife.

HARRY HAYWARD '94, scientific and agricultural adviser to the advertising agency of N. W. Ayer and Son, Inc., died on May 5. He was born in Lewistown, N. Y., on May 19, 1869, the son of George C. and Frances Baker Hayward. He received the degree of B.S. in Agr. in 1894 and of M.S. in 1901, was a member of Kappa Sigma and Sigma Xi, and was a chimesmaster. Before joining the agency, he was dean and director of agriculture in the University of Delaware. His wife, Mrs. Lillian Woolson Hayward, and a daughter survive him.

ROBERT HARRIS RIPLEY '99, senior vice-president of the American Steel Foundries, died in Evanston, Ill., on November 4, after an illness of several weeks. He was born in Dorchester, Mass., in 1876, the son of Edward P. and Frances Harding Ripley. He received the degree of LL.B., was a member of Sigma Phi, Quill and Dagger, and the varsity football team, and was captain of track. He had been with the American Steel Foundries since 1905, becoming a vice-president the following year, and senior vice-president in 1929. He was also chairman of the board of the General Steel Castings Company. He is survived by his wife and three children.

THE AGE LIMIT

FOR THE TEACHER

RETIRING PROFESSORS are not always in identical states of preservation. The termination of service at a definite physical age is in many cases a good thing. In others, as this year, an age limit seems to find a man still broadening mentally, with enough physical force left in him to make possible even greater performances. The age of sixty-five serves merely as a warning. The man may continue for three more years. Only a serious situation can cause his retention, for perhaps a year, after that. No professor continues in active service to the age of seventy.

It is a pity that this situation cannot be met frankly, and the field of education continue to be enriched from the mature wisdom of those seventy-year-olds who are still fit, while at the same time those who are through could be thus adjudged without prejudice to the verdict on those who are not.

Perhaps the candidates for retirement would submit to annual tests, physical, mental, psychological to determine their spiritual, as contrasted with their physical, age. Possibly no such tests have been devised, sufficiently reliable to satisfy the candidates, their colleagues, and their presumptive successors.

The loss of priceless treasures to the world through the impartial enforcement of an age limit seems unsound. Patterned after big business, all the logic of its model is not applicable. It might be better to go to forestry for an analogy and find how to judge objectively when the big tree, from the inroads of age, becomes dangerous to the forest.

LOSE FIRST LACROSSE GAME

The lacrosse team lost its first game in five starts at Philadelphia May 14, bowing to the Pennsylvania twelve, 2-1. The Quakers won on Wand's goal with four minutes left to play.

Pennsylvania scored both its goals in the second half after Winslow, first attack, put Cornell ahead, 1-0, in the opening period. Winslow scored on a pass from Hubbel nearly four minutes after the game started.

Halfway through the second period, Willson, Pennsylvania scored defense, netted the ball to tie the score.

Goals: First half, Winslow, 3:50. Second half, Willson, 15:05; Wands, 26:12.

LIGHT CREW DEFEATS QUAKERS

The 150-pound crew won its first major engagement May 14, defeating Pennsylvania's lightweight eight by two lengths over the Henley distance on the east shore course of Cayuga Lake.

Last year the two crews finished in a dead heat. This year, Cornell gained a three-quarter-length lead in the first ten strokes and spurred about a quarter of a mile from the finish to widen the margin to a length of open water.

Cornell's time for the mile and five-sixteenths was 7:37. Pennsylvania was clocked in 7:47.

The lightweight race climaxed a regatta which included interfraternity fours and intercollege eights. Chi Psi defeated Sigma Phi Sigma over a half-mile course in the opening race. The College of Agriculture crew won the intercollege trophy, defeating Civil Engineering, Forestry, and the third 150-pound crew.

On Spring Day, May 21, the varsity, junior varsity, and freshman eights will meet the crews of Yale and Princeton in the annual Carnegie Cup Regatta on Cayuga Lake.

PROFESSOR DENNIS HONORED

German Scientific Academy Elects Chemist Who Has Long Served Cornell

A distinguished honor has come to Cornell in the field of scientific investigation by the election of Professor Louis M. Dennis as a member of the Kaiserliche Deutsche Akademie der Naturforscher at Halle.

This German Academy of Scientific Investigators, founded in the year 1652, is the oldest scientific society in the world, and includes in its membership the most renowned names in natural sciences in Germany, in the other countries of Europe, and in America.

The election of Professor Dennis was held at a meeting in honor of the centennial of the death of Goethe, who was himself a member of the Academy.

The Cornell scientist's election was in recognition of his outstanding achievements in chemical research, and particularly as a result of his investigations on germanium. On this subject, Professor Dennis has published between thirty-five and forty articles in various technical journals at home and abroad.

His writings include textbooks on Inorganic Chemistry (Clarke and Dennis); Laboratory Manual (Dennis and Clarke); Gas Analysis; Quantitative Analysis (with Theodore W. Whittlesey), and Problems in Inorganic Chemistry.

He is a member of Psi Upsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, Alpha Chi Sigma, the American Chemical Society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Professor Dennis has been for many years actively associated with Cornell athletics. He was appointed to the Athletic Council in 1891, made advisory member for football the next year, and elected president a few years later, which position he held until about 1903. He also served on the National Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee, being first appointed on the old committee of five as Cornell representative, and later being chairman of the new consolidated rules committee until he was succeeded by the present incumbent, E. K. Hall of Dartmouth.

HORSE SHOW SUCCESS

The R. O. T. C. Annual Horse Show was held Saturday and was remarkably successful in spite of the inclement weather. Most of the important riding and jumping classes were held before the storm, and the only serious cancellation was the polo game which was called off because of the dangerously muddy field.

About 2,000 persons from many surrounding points attended the Show. Mounts came from Rochester, Pittsford, Geneva, Scranton, Penna., and other cities outside of the State.

THE WEEK ON THE CAMPUS

SPRING COMES to Ithaca with a sound of saxophones. The Drill Hall and Willard Straight are filled with dancing feet. From open fraternity windows floats the sweet agony of the modern band, with an undercurrent of tom-toms. Delta Kappa Epsilon, Delta Phi, Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi, and Sigma Chi held house parties over the week end, bringing bliss to the participants and almost equal content to those who stayed home and went to bed at eleven.

THE FIRST senior singing of the year bathed the Campus in melody on Sunday evening. It was a lovely spring evening; the earth had ceased to exhale its winter chill; the mosquitoes were still too young to attend. The seniors looked very beautiful in their blazers; their gay music contained just the proper hint of the melancholy of near farewells and the end of youth. Olaf A. Brauner '32 of Ithaca led the singing.

SOME OF US have observed with much pleasure that the fraternities are going in for rowing. That is, not just rowing row-boats, but Rowing, in four-oared shells, like Oxons and Cantabs. After a series of eliminations, Chi Psi and Sigma Phi Sigma raced for the championship on Saturday afternoon. Chi Psi won. This development is part of the program of the Department of Physical Education, and is in addition to the eight-oared crews of the various colleges.

THE ANNUAL HORSE SHOW sponsored by the R. O. T. C. reached a new climax this year. It lasted through two days; sixty-six horses were entered, in addition to the Army mounts. The R. O. T. C. Band played; the judges announced their decisions through loudspeakers to the winds of heaven; five-gaited saddle horses and the rest did their tricks and proudly tossed their red and blue ribbons; it was all very pretty and pleasing. Society graced the occasion, illustrating the interesting sympathy between society and horses. The polo game with Brown was cancelled, on account of wet grounds.

THE WOODFORD Prize Contest was won by Selig Korson '32 of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. His subject was "A Plea for Higher Wages." The other contestants were Stanly W. Hubbel '32 of Ridgefield Park, N. J., Albert E. Arent '32 of Rochester, Bradford N. Craver '32 of Auburn, and William B. Kuder '33 of Oakland, Cal.

ETA KAPPA NU, the electrical fraternity, held its fourth annual electrical show on Friday evening.

THE 1932 Cornellian is out, and a very handsome book it is. One noteworthy innovation is the inclusion of the portraits and write-ups of the women seniors with the men, without the hitherto customary distinction of sex.

THE ANNUAL appeal for pledges of gifts from the graduating class has been going very well, considering the times and the circumstances. Forty-nine per cent of the quota was filled by Friday night, with about half of the men seniors interviewed. At the same time three quarters of the senior women had been visited.

THE W. S. G. A. NEWS, the publication of the women students, which has been in eclipse during the year, is to resume its appearances in the fall. Sarah E. Ellis '33 of Utica will be the editor.

THE RETIRING MEMBERS of the Faculty, Professor Louis M. Dennis of the Department of Chemistry, Adam C. Gill of the Department of Geology, Charles H. Hull of the Department of History, Clarence A. Martin of the College of Architecture, and Nathaniel Schmidt of the Department of Semitics were honored at a dinner attended by eighty-six members of the Faculty who have served Cornell for twenty years or more. President Livingston Farrand, introduced by Dean Dexter S. Kimball of the College of Engineering, paid an eloquent tribute to the services of the retiring members of the Faculty.

THE LIBERAL Club took a close look at trouble last week and then decided to let it lie. The club planned to hold a public meeting on the corner of State and Cayuga Streets, in conjunction with the Ithaca Socialist Party, in order to protest about various things. Mayor Bergholtz refused the protesters permission, on the ground that street-corner political meetings were never permitted by City policy, especially on one of our three busiest street corners, where protesters and audience would possibly be mashed by trucks bound for Elmira. The Mayor offered the crusaders a vacant lot on the outskirts of the City. The protesters then protested against the Mayor, and were apparently inclined to hold their meeting anyhow, in the hope of going to jail. But at last report the meeting was postponed indefinitely, probably until after Spring Day, when no one wants to be in jail.

WHILE BANKS have been failing here and there throughout the country, the First National Bank of Ithaca has been calmly constructing a new building. It stands grandly on the corner of State and Tioga, seven stories high! The new bank opened Monday, May 16. It includes a night depository system, a fur storage vault, burglar alarms that go off at a hard look from a depositor, and a telautograph system by which a message written at one of the windows is automatically reproduced at the ten others. At the formal opening the First National gave its visitors as a souvenir a reproduction of a coin of ancient Ithaca, minted about 300 B. C. This reproduction was obtained through the cooperation of Professor Eugene P. Andrews '95 of the Department of Archaeology.

ITEM for social historians: Sororities at Ohio State University, asserts The Cornell Daily Sun, are not allowed to use airplanes during the rushing season.

FORTY YEARS AGO Professor Jacob Gould Schurman was unanimously elected president of the University on the first ballot by the Board of Trustees. Professor George Lincoln Burr, after much consideration, decided not to accept the tempting offers of the Leland Stanford University. The Senior Banquet was the most orderly in years, "the persistent mollification of hilarious celebrants enabling most of the toasts to be heard," says The Era.

THIRTY YEARS AGO, The Alumni News of that date would indicate, the seniors were more innocently pranksome than they are today. "The periods between the hours, indeed the whole morning of May 14, witnessed a sight never before seen at Cornell. Groups of seniors were gathered all over the Campus, some playing marbles, and others acquiring the art of top-spinning. In another place, a group of seven or eight would be seen tearing over the Campus, driving their hoops over stones and gutters, dodging the onlookers who sometimes tried in vain to avoid their mad onrush. One of the most exciting scenes was on the green in front of Boardman Hall. There a large ring was formed with some unlucky candidate for a degree penned in the center, whose wild efforts to break through the line were often in vain. Although the seniors were the only ones to join in these jollifications, the spirit of the day was imbued in all who gathered to enjoy this outburst of spirit. 'Spinning Day' formed a remarkable contrast with the following morning, when many of the class appeared in cap and gown. . . . It is the intention of the senior class to wear the cap from May 15 to the end of the year." M.G.B.

THE ALUMNI

'88 PhB—John R. Mott is a member of the Cathedral Council of thirty men, which constitutes a consultative body from all matters of administration in the Cathedral Foundation on Mount St. Alban, in Washington.

'89 ME—Herbert H. Morehouse since 1913 has been orcharding in western North Carolina. Previously to that time he practiced electrical engineering in Guatemala, Mexico, and California. He lives in Oakwoods, N. C., and this year is president of the Kiwanis Club there.

'91 ME—The Journal of the Worcester Polytechnic Institute for April includes a portrait and obituary of the late Professor Harold Babbitt Smith. Among other things the writer says: "He was one of the great engineering teachers of his generation, and he carved for himself an important place in the engineering profession . . . Hundreds of his former students look back upon his instruction as a period of inspiration."

'92 ME, '93 MME; '14 ME—Arthur H. Timmerman '92 of St. Louis and Harold Edwards '14 of Syracuse were elected councillors of the National Metal Trades Association, at its thirty-fourth annual convention held in New York on April 20.

'92 ME—Henry C. Nelson, after thirty-three years of service with the General Electric Company, retired on May 15. The first ten years were spent in Schenectady where he worked on transformer designs, followed by ten years as an engineering salesman in the New York office. During the War he served abroad with the Fifth United States Engineers, with the rank of major. After the Armistice he returned to the Buffalo office of the General Electric, and from there was transferred in 1921 to the Pittsfield works, where at the time of his retirement he was a designing transformer engineer. He is planning to attend the fortieth reunion of his class this year. His address is now Pine Grove, Falls Village, Conn.

'93 PhD—Dr. William F. Blackman, president of Rollins College from 1902 to 1915, has lately been elected president emeritus of that institution. Dr. Blackman lives at Winter Park, Florida.

'94—Alan W. Cuddeback, vice-president and general manager of the Federal Water Service Corporation, was reelected a director of the Company by the holders of Class B shares, at a meeting held April 20.

'94-5 Gr—Franklin S. Edmonds, vice-president of the National Tax Association, spoke at the opening session of the fifth annual conference on public affairs of the New York City League of Women Voters, on April 12. He said the hope for the future of industrial enterprises lies in stability of taxes and a check on undue expansion of the governmental program.

'98 AB—Floyd W. Mundy, of James H. Oliphant and Company, has been elected a trustee of the United States Savings Bank of the City of New York.

'99 ME—John W. O'Leary has been elected treasurer of the National Metal Trades Association.

'01 PhD—The Wesleyan University Alumnus for May includes a portrait and sketch of Professor Edwin W. Kemmerer, Wesleyan '99, of Princeton. Kemmerer has just been elected a member of the American Philosophical Society.

'07 ME—Oramel H. Bigelow is teaching mathematics at the State Teachers College in Whitewater, Wisc. His address is 112 North Prarie Street. He has his A.M. from Teachers College, Columbia, and a year in residence towards his Ph.D.

'07 AB—Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brown live at 340 East Park Avenue, Haddonfield, N. J. Mrs. Brown was D. Lucile Field '07. Mr. Brown is a graduate of Lehigh. They have two children.

'09 CE—George F. Wieghardt, who is a hydraulic engineer, has moved to 1337 Dickerson Road, West Englewood, N. J.

'13 ME—Reynolds Longfield is chief engineer of the Sibley Manufacturing Company, the Enterprise Manufacturing Company, and the Augusta Manufacturing Company. His address is 2223 Kings Way, Augusta, Ga.

'15 AB, '31 AM—Mrs. Margaret Trevor-Ford (Margaret Trevor '15) and her daughter have arrived in Ithaca from Paris, to visit Mrs. Ford's parents, Professor Joseph E. Trevor, Sp. '88-90, and Mrs. Trevor.

'15 ME; 15 BS—Roland A. Bush and Charles B. Heartfield have for three years been in partnership in a life insurance firm. They have recently been made general agents for Westchester County, N. Y., for the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company. Bush's address is 382 King Street, Port Chester, N. Y. He has a daughter, Susan Diane, born on April 20, 1931.

'17—Kenneth C. Brown is assistant Trust officer with the Chicago Title and

Attention of Alumni!

ON THIS PAGE are listed a number of men students in good academic standing who probably will not be able to return to the University next year unless they obtain employment for the summer. The Alumni News, with the cooperation of Mrs. Louis A. Fuertes who is in charge of student employment, is glad to publish their qualifications. The students are listed geographically, in the thought that employment by alumni in the vicinity of their homes may be possible, although this is by no means intended to be restrictive. Alumni who are interested will please write to Mrs. Fuertes, Barnes Hall, Ithaca, giving key number of student about whom they wish to inquire further. References can be furnished in all cases.

NEW YORK

- No. 1. Student experienced in all kinds of outdoor work. Licensed chauffeur.
- No. 2. Engineering student. Has worked in a brokerage house, insurance office, and aboard a yacht. Experience with motors and gardening. Prefers outdoor work on Long Island.
- No. 3. Student qualified to tutor and care for young boys. Car driver and mechanic. Has also had gardening experience.
- No. 4. Sophomore in engineering. Camp experience, care of children, waiter in fraternity house, garden work, painting, senior red cross life-saving, playground director, experienced with cars and boats. Has general athletic ability.
- No. 5. (Buffalo). Student with experience in library work and waiting table. No objection to new kind of work.

PENNSYLVANIA

- No. 6. Student whose experience has included a summer on a road construction gang, four summers working on steamers, one summer as a head waiter, two years (while in college) selling printing to college yearbooks, six months as assistant purchasing agent of a paper mill, summer as steward of a boys' camp, and physical director work in a boys' camp.

- No. 7. (Philadelphia). Junior in chemistry and mineralogy. Experience has included camp counsellor, life guard, typing, painting, hotel work, waiting table, dishwashing, laboratory work at du Pont's, geological work for Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia, identifying and cataloguing mineral collections. Understands motors and can drive. Some experience in boating.

CLEVELAND

- No. 8. Student in architecture. Experience has included working in a gas station, counsellor at boys' camp, instructor in freehand drawing class. Experience with motor and sail boats. Member varsity football, track and wrestling teams.

ST. LOUIS

- No. 9. Student in chemistry. Has worked in an enameling plant, acted as manager of miniature golf course, waited table, tutored, set up factory installations of sewing machines, fired furnaces, made chemical analyses of ores, made felt hats, and some work in drafting. (Prefers chemical work.)

EN ROUTE TO CALIFORNIA

- No. 10. Experienced clerk, typist, and stenographer whose home is in California wishes work anywhere along the route. Outside work accepted.

This list is not only specific but typical of students available for summer employment. Alumni who wish to employ students not on this list may obtain all information from Mrs. Fuertes.

Trust Company at 69 West Washington Street, Chicago. He has three children.

'17 CE—Arthur W. Mellen, Jr., is with the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company at 1 Madison Avenue, New York.

'17-'8, '19 Sp—Harry V. Atkinson is professor of physiology and pharmacology at the University of South Dakota, in Vermillion.

'19, '28 WA—John W. de Forest on April 1 was appointed general agent in Buffalo, of the Aetna Life Insurance Company. He has been with the Company since 1930 as assistant superintendent of agencies. Previously he had been with the Travelers Insurance Company, serving successfully as field assistant at Chicago, a member of the home office agency staff, and assistant superintendent of agencies.

'19 ME—Ford H. McBerty now lives at Magnolia and Tulip Streets, Relay, Md. He is with the Krebs Pigment Corporation at Curtis Bay, Baltimore.

'20 BS—Kenneth C. Estabrook a year ago left the Home Insurance Company and acquired an interest in an insurance agency in Binghamton, N. Y., now called Thompson and Estabrook, with offices in the O'Neil Building. He has three children, Kenneth L., aged seven, Janet F., aged six, and Donald T., who is two.

'20 LLB—William B. Daley, Jr., is a member of the law firm of Darling and Daley at 42 Broadway, New York. He received his private pilot's aircraft license this March.

'20 AB—C. Edwin Ackerly is a stock broker with W. E. Reilly and Company, at 1446 Penobscot Building, Detroit. He lives with Glenn S. Warne '20 at 9333 East Jefferson Avenue.

'21 PhD—Glenn R. Morrow now lives at 805 Indiana Avenue, Urbana, Ill. He is professor of philosophy at the University of Illinois.

'21 AB—A daughter, Jean Marie, was born on May 3 in Ithaca to Major and Mrs. Ralph Hospital. Mrs. Hospital was Louise Tarbell '21. They live at 107 Cayuga Heights Road.

via Plymouth and Cherbourg

NOW for your convenience, the great LEVIATHAN goes through to Germany—calling at Plymouth, the quick, scenic route to London and at Cherbourg for daytime arrival in Paris.

Choose the LEVIATHAN—or any United States Lines or American Merchant Lines ship—when you go to Europe. You'll be glad you chose an American flag steamer. You are sure of your own kind of service, modeled to the American preference—the food you like the way you like it, stewards who understand your language, rooms you will consider well-appointed, every convenience and privilege of ocean travel—plus the American standard of living.

And you'll appreciate the moderate rates when you book, whether it's luxurious First Class on the LEVIATHAN—or Cabin Class on the PRESIDENT HARDING or PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, the world's fastest Cabin ships—or an American Merchant Liner, carrying one class only, at fares as low as $90.

(Eight new songs)

Special $1.50

We tried to get this new edition out in time for Christmas. We did not make it and in our hurry three mistakes crept into the song by George Pond. The song was "Hail thou in Majesty, Cornell". Perhaps most people would not know the difference. We have inserted a corrected sheet and have obtained an allowance from the printer. There are seven other new songs in this edition but because of the error we offer them at one dollar and a half apiece. Better order now.

Red and White Cornell Bookends

Light weigh $1.00

These are sheet metal of good quality, painted, and have the Cornell Shield. They usually sell at $1.75 but a Boston bank failed and the manufacturer had his money tied up in the bank. He wanted quick cash and gave us the price which we extend to you.

4" Inch Heavy weight $4.75

These are well known 4" heavy bronze bookends we have sold for years at $6.50. We bought this lot with those above. Give these bargains more than a passing thought.

Pennants and Banners

More and more people are sending to the Co-op, for pennants and banners. We believe it is due to the fact that many have examined the quality of the pennants when they were in Ithaca last and are satisfied. We have put in stock again a 24" x 60" banner which did not sell to students but our out-of-town customers wanted them. Do you want the folder showing this one? Drop us a line.
