REUNIONS PROMISE Record Alumni Crowd

Reports from Class secretaries and reunion chairmen indicate that June 18, 19, and 20 will see a record number of alumni returning to the Campus for the reunions this year. Better times and active committees have something to do with it, but the principal factor is the retirement of President Farrand. Alumni of all classes will be back to do him honor on the completion of his sixteen years as head of the University.

These classes are scheduled to return this year: under the Dix Plan: '80, '81, '82, '83, '99, '00, '01, '02, '18, '19, '20, and '21; under the quinquennial plan, '72, '77, '87, '92, '97, '07, '12, '17, '22, '27, and '32, with '35 coming as the two-year class.

The program will follow the general pattern of other years. Friday and Saturday will be the big days for the alumni, although many will stay over for the more leisurely events of Sunday and the Commencement exercises on Monday. The University dormitories are being reserved for the reuniting classes, and most of the alumni will live there. Class dinners, on Friday and Saturday, will be in University buildings and in various other spots around town and nearby. Luncheon on Friday and Saturday will be in the Drill Hall, and Bailey Hall will be crowded on Saturday night for the annual rally of all classes.

President Farrand will be the feature of two gatherings on Saturday. Following the custom of many years, his intimate talk will be the principal item at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Corporation in the morning, and he will speak at the rally in the evening.

OSCAR '12 REUNION HOST

Official host for the Silver Jubilee Reunion of the Class of '12, June 18-20, will be Oscar of the Waldorf, father of Leopold Tschirky '12 and long-time friend of Cornell, according to Ross Kellogg, the Class secretary. Kellogg says that the distinguished host of the old Waldorf-Astoria, and the new, will don a Kelly-green sweater, will check over the plans for housing '12 men in South Baker Hall, and for the Class dinners Friday and Saturday nights.

"Oscar has always had a warm spot in his heart for Cornell, largely because of his affection for former President Andrew D. White," Kellogg says. "George C. Boldt, with whom Oscar was associated in the management of the Waldorf-Astoria from its opening, was one of Cornell's greatest benefactors. Mr. Boldt was responsible for the present dormitory system. He and Oscar did their bit to interest George F. Baker, donor of many of the dormitory units and of Baker Laboratory of Chemistry."

On-To-Ithaca Gazette, the official organ of the Class, announces the organization of the "Home Town Gang," composed of Twelvers who live in Ithaca: Boochever in charge of uniforms; Carey, of the Saturday night dinner; Gillette, the Saturday night party for wives; McKinney, aquatics; Simmons, headquarters; Sainburg, transportation and scenic trips; Ladd and Smith, reception for Faculty members; Coffin, housing for wives; Kerr, music.

MOST SENIORS GIVE

This year's Senior Class Memorial campaign for the Alumni Fund brought pledges from eighty-five percent of the Class of '37, the largest percentage of any Senior Class since '29. Ninety-five Seniors, organized into ten teams under the general chairmanship of Fred F. Sampson, Jr. of Mount Vernon and Janet B. Coolidge of Greenfield, Mass. solicited their Classmates during the week's campaign. At an opening dinner they were addressed by President Farrand, by the Rev. Edward T. Horn '29, and by Archie M. Palmer '18, executive secretary of the Cornellian Council. Two men's teams led by John J. Serrell, Jr. of Elizabeth, N. J. and John W. Shoemaker of Scranton, Pa. tied for the lead, with ninety-three percent of their prospects pledged; and the team of Evelyn F. Carter of Wheeling, W. Va. led among the women, with eighty-eight percent.

Pledges were made for five dollars to be paid annually to the Alumni Fund, the '37 Class Memorial to become a part of this year's Fund which has been designated especially to honor Dr. Farrand.

The Cornellian Council Bulletin for May contains a summary of President Farrand's administration of the University, and says: "A record Alumni Fund to aid Cornell will be the perfect means of honoring Livingston Farrand and the greater Cornell to which he has devoted sixteen years of able service."

The 1936-37 Alumni Fund to May 1 stood at $89435.16, from 4,368 contributors, including members of every Class but three. Thirty-two Classes had given $1,000 or more each in the ten months, and twenty-one Classes could claim more than 100 contributors each. Ten leading Classes in amount given are '10, '91, '20, '16, '24, '98, '94, '23, '13, and '22; in number of contributors the ten leaders are '36, '35, '16, '13, '34, '12 and '18 (tied), '26, '22, and '32.

HOTEL EZRA CORNELL Brings Sixty Alumni

To the Campus community generally, Hotel Ezra Cornell, when Willard Straight Hall is transformed each year into a hotel-for-a-day, means primarily a sumptuous formal dinner, expertly prepared and served by students in Hotel Administration, and a pleasant dance following. As in every well-regulated hotel, however, much goes on behind the scenes that the guests "out front" never see.

This year's twelfth annual Hotel Ezra Cornell was no exception. More than 400 students, Faculty, alumni, and prominent hotelmen from about the country enjoyed the eight-course dinner in Memorial Room Friday evening. Its climax was the advent of the "Springtime Surprise" dessert, created by Chef Edwin R. Webster '37, when the student waiters entered the darkened hall with ice baskets for each table containing fruit ice cream, each with a handle of fresh flowers and lighted from below with colored lights.

Charles H. Shuff '37 of Long Island City, managing director, was toastmaster of the program which followed. Professor Howard B. Meek, head of Hotel Administration, welcomed the guests, and was presented by Joseph P. Binns '28 with motion picture equipment for his sabbatic-leave world tour, on behalf of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, "in recognition of Professor Meek's fifteen years in the Hotel School as the students' teacher, guide, and friend." Franklin Moore, president of the Pennsylvania Hotel Association and manager of the Penn-Harris in Harrisburg, spoke of the human contacts in the hotel business and complimented the University on the training it gives. President Farrand closed the program with a characteristic word of greeting.

But to alumni of the Department, of whom about sixty came back to Ithaca this year, Hotel Ezra Cornell is much more than a good dinner and dance. It is opportunity to discuss among themselves and with the Faculty their own present problems of running hotels, and to attend the annual meeting of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, of which all Hotel alumni are members. This part of the week end started Friday, with a meeting of the directors of the Society. At luncheon Friday noon Professor Meek received another present, an inscribed desk set presented by Shuff on behalf of Ye Hosts, the undergraduate Hotel society. Friday afternoon students, Faculty, and alumni gathered for a round-table conference on hotel labor trends and employer-employee relationships, while their ladies enjoyed a bridge and tea. Discussion at the professional conference was led by Professor Andrew L. Winsor, PhD '29, Rural Education; by H. A. Barker of the National Hotel Management Co.; by Binns, who is managing director of the Hotel Claridge, Atlantic City, N. J.; and by Edward D. Ramage '31, manager of the University Club in Rochester.

Saturday morning at the annual meeting of the Cornell Society of Hotelmen, the only nominee for president, to be elected by mail, was Binns, to succeed himself. Harry A. Smith '30, manager of the Cleveland Club, Cleveland, Ohio, was elected first vice-president; Francis M. Turner '33, manager of the Fairmount Hotel, San Francisco, Cal., second vice-president; and Professor John Courtney '25 was re-elected secretary-treasurer. Class directors for the odd-year classes were elected as follows: Clyde A. Jennings '25, Waterbury, Conn.; Ruel E. Tyo '27, Cleveland, Ohio; Richard W. Steinberg '29, Philadelphia, Pa.; Wallace W. Blankinship '31, Cleveland, Ohio; William W. Shields '33, Troy; Raymond W. Williams '35, Haverford, Pa.; and Shuff for '37. Announcement was made of the formation of the tenth Branch of the Society, New England, with Frank H. Briggs '36 of Boston, Mass. as president.

Nine Seniors besides the chef assisted Shuff with the direction of this year's Hotel Ezra Cornell, supervising operations which were carried on by the entire student body of the Department, numbering 230. They were Benjamin W. Barrus of Ithaca, first assistant manager; William C. W. Child of East Orange, N. J., second assistant manager; Edmund Wooding of Hammondsport, publicity director; Eugene L. Bostrom of McKeesport, Pa., maitre d'hotel; Robert L. Snyder of Elmira, promotion manager; Verne M. Ketterer of Jersey City, N. J., steward; Harold A. Dillenbeck of Buffalo, head waiter; Oliver Natunen of Spencer, comptroller; William G. Callahan of Beacon, personnel manager. Gert H. W. Schmidt of New York City represented the Junior Class on the board of directors.

FLOWER SHOW A HIT Attracts Eight Thousand

Eight thousand persons moved in a steady stream for two days through the House of Flowers arranged by the Department of Floriculture and Ornamental Horticulture in the Plant Science Building May 1 and 2. Requests for the mailing of garden bulletins displayed at the show indicate that they came from twenty States, from Maine to California and Florida. This is a record number of visitors, and from their comments and exclamations, one gathers that most of them enjoyed the truly professional displays arranged by students and staff members of the Department, and that many found ideas and much of practical use to their own gardens.

The first floor of the Plant Science Building was literally transformed into a succession of growing gardens on those warm, bright May days. From the attractive garden path lined with blooming tulips down which the visitor looked from the entrance, through the many small gardens for various uses and situations, the flower arrangements and two completely furnished rooms, with flowers, the show was full of suggestions such as could be put to use at home by any amateur. This useful aspect of the show, aside from its real beauty, was further reinforced by the unobtrusive labelling of all the plants in the several plantings, with lists of their names available to all, and by the presence of well informed student attendants ready and able to answer questions about them.

Among the exhibits which drew most interested attention were a dooryard planting, a garden of dwarf shrubs, a wild flower garden on a mossy bank with oak leaves and rotting stumps, a perennial garden, and a rock garden with pool and running stream. A hobby room also attracted many, with miniature flower arrangements made by students ranged along one side and a corner made into a Costa Rican jungle with orchids, the hobby of Professor Edward A. White and which he had collected, blooming on the trees. Here Professor White also demonstrated, in contrast to this natural setting, the method of germinating orchids in glass flasks developed at Cornell by Professor Lewis Knudson, PhD '11, Botany.

Student committees were in charge of each of the twenty-two separate exhibits, and visitors were heard to say that the show rivalled in beauty and even surpassed in its suggestions to the maker of the small garden the internationally famous professional flower shows.

Officially the Floriculture Club and Pi Alpha Xi, national honorary Floriculture fraternity founded at Cornell, cooperated with the Department in staging the show. The national convention of the fraternity, held here over the week end, brought delegates from its chapters in four other States, including the national president, Lewis C. Chadwick, PhD '31, now at Ohio State, and the newly-elected president, Richard B. Farnham '23, now teaching at Rutgers University. Other Cornellians from out of town seen at the show included Henry Hicks '92 of Westbury, Dr. Clement G. Bowers '19 of Binghamton, Robert B. Henn '25 of Cleveland, Ohio, and many others.

NEW TODD PROFESSORSHIP

The Board of Trustees at its spring meeting established the "Todd Chair of Chemistry," in recognition of the "constant and generous interest in the welfare of the University" of George W. Todd and Grace L. Todd, of Rochester. They are the parents of Walter L. Todd '09, formerly president of the Cornellian Council, and of George L. Todd '26. The new professorship is endowed with the proceeds of a gift of securities made anonymously by the Todd family in 1926.

The Board advanced fourteen instructors to assistant professorships: Dr. John A. Rose, Hygiene and Assistant Medical Adviser; Robert F. Bacher, Physics; Joseph O. Jeffrey '25 and John R. Moynihan '26, Experimental Engineering; Harry J. Loberg '29, Administrative Engineering; Catherine J. Personius, Home Economics; Charles I. Sayles '26, Institutional Management; Jacob H. Bruckner, PhD '35, Poultry Husbandry; Vernon L. Frampton and Frank A. Haasis, PhD '35, Plant Pathology. New Extension assistant professors are Mrs. Gladys Butt, Home Economics; Glenn W. Hedlund, PhD '36, Farm Finance; Rowland W. Leiby, PhD '21, Entomology; and Earl Y. Smith, Poultry Husbandry.

Dr. Edgar A. J. Johnson, assistant professor of Economics since 1931, resigned, effective the end of this academic year.

NEW YORKERS' SPELLING BEE

The Cornell Women's Club of New York met for a spell-down, May 5, in the clubrooms at the Hotel Barbizon. Mrs. L. Sanford Reis (Josephine Mills) '29 was chairman for the evening, and the contestants, divided into four teams, represented the gay nineties and 1900 to 1910, jointly; the Class of '20, with assistance from various other Classes; the Class of '29; and the Class of '36.

Mary Fitzpatrick '93 spelled on in triumph far into the night, stumbling at last on "cachinnation," which means loud laughter. Jessamine Whitney '05 was vice-champion, meeting her master in "blamable." Other remarkable spellers proved to be Anna K. Schmidt '29, Charlotte Gristede '29, Jean Sherwood '36, Ruth Darville '15, and Lenore M. Tobias '31.

WESTCHESTER FETES DAY

The Cornell men of Westchester County, New York, had dinner May 4 in honor of a friend and neighbor, when Dr. Edmund Ezra Day was acclaimed before his induction into office as President of the University. More than 150 alumni attended the dinner at the Scarsdale Country Club. William F. Bleakley '04, former Supreme Court Justice, was toastmaster, introduced by Paul L. Bleakley '20, president of the Cornell Westchester Association and chairman of the dinner committee. Other speakers were Dr. Walter H. McNeill '10, president of the Medical College Alumni Association, Dr. Frank H. Miller of New Rochelle, a former Trustee of the University, and George R. Pfann '24, Alumni Trustee. Alfred F. Sulla, Jr. '29 was in charge of the entertainment, which included sketches by Willard W. Sproul '28 and piano selections by Donald F. Hackstaff '33, as well as Sulla's own performance on the banjo.

In the election which preceded the speaking, Ralph S. Kent '02 of New Rochelle was chosen president.

About ATHLETICS

CREWS SHOW PROMISE

Observers of the Cornell crews on their first appearance on the Severn Saturday agreed that all three boats showed power and stamina, and that the shortcomings which brought defeat by the Navy in all three races were those to be expected with a new system and curtailed opportunity for practice. The new stroke, with its long reach and modified body swing, although rowed with a higher beat than Navy's in all three races, did not get the run on the shells that longer practice may give.

The Freshman and Junior Varsity races were rowed in a cold, driving rain, but it stopped for the Varsity race, leaving the river ideal for racing, the crews rowing with the tide. Varsity and Freshman races the Navy won by a length-and-a-half; the Junior Varsity by three-and-a-half lengths after the port side of the Cornell shell caught a crab and was forced to stop rowing. The times for the mile-and-three-quarters: Varsity, Navy 8:54.6, Cornell 9:00.1; Junior Varsity, Navy 9:09.8, Cornell 9:20.8; Freshman, Navy 9:04.4, Cornell 9:10.8.

YACHT CLUB THIRD

Commodore Richard H. Bertram '37 of Ithaca and Leslie Irwin '37 of New York City, sailing for the Cornell Corinthian Yacht Club, took third place, 3 points behind the winner, in the Boston Dinghy Club regatta on the Charles River Basin, Sunday. They were beaten by Brown and MIT in a field of fifteen Eastern colleges and universities.

The week before the same crew took second place in Brown's regatta off

Providence. The week end of May 22 the Cornell sailors will meet Wells College at the Ithaca end of Cayuga Lake in the annual regatta in which last year the Wells sailors were accused of pitching the cup overboard to save it from Cornell. This year, it is said the girls are bringing a new one—a sugar bowl. On Spring Day the Corinthians will entertain Dartmouth in a regatta here, before the crew races.

TENNIS TEAM WINS TWO

The tennis team defeated Penn State, 7-2, Saturday afternoon, and Cortland Normal, 9-0, May 5. Both matches were played on the Cascadilla courts. These courts Friday and Saturday were also the scene of a revival of the Eastern inter-scholastic invitation meet in which twenty-five boys from a dozen schools of New York City, Philadelphia, New Jersey, Syracuse, Rochester, Cortland, Corning, Ithaca, and other cities took part. The boys were entertained at fraternity houses the two days, and said they had a good time. William Umsteader of Milburn, N. J., national indoor boys' champion, won the singles trophy presented by the University, and teamed with Fred Rogge to win the doubles. Louis C. Boochever, Jr., son of the University Director of Public Information and star of Ithaca High School, reached the semi-finals.

This spring the Department of Physical Education and Athletics has remodelled the tennis house at the Cascadilla courts, adding a shower room and wash room and installing lockers. New steel back stops have been erected around the six courts which now occupy most of the space where women students used to play field hockey and baseball and practice archery.

TRACK THIRD AMONG SIX

The Varsity track team that Coach Moakley had predicted a few days before would take fifth place opened its season at Cambridge, Mass. Saturday taking third with three firsts, three second places, one fourth, and five fifths, in the third annual heptagonal games. Yale led with 53, followed by Dartmouth, 40 $\frac{3}{4}$ ; Cornell, 37; Columbia, 35; Harvard, 29; Princeton, 25 $\frac{3}{4}$ ; Pennsylvania, 19 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Last year's Cornell team which won the inter-collegiate championship took second place in this heptagonal meet, with 45 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

First places Saturday were won by Howard W. Welch '38 of Trumansburg in the mile, 4:22.8; by William V. Bassett '37 of West Newton, Mass. in the two-mile, 9:37.6; and by Elliott H. Hooper '38 of Long Valley, N. J. in the javelin throw, 190 ft. 9 $\frac{1}{2}$  in. Welch led from the half, and broke the tape eight yards ahead of Whitman, of Dartmouth. Bassett, who has worked doggedly for four years, had the satisfaction of again beating Yale's Captain Woodland, as he did indoors this winter, by four yards.

Herbert H. Cornell '38, intercollegiate 3,000 meter champion, with whom Bassett came in hand in hand in the Drill Hall, was not entered Saturday because of illness. Hooper's javelin throw exceeded that of Ethridge, Yale, by 14 ft. 11½ in.

Second place winners were Captain John A. Meaden '37 of LaGrange, Ill., who nearly caught Gorman of Dartmouth and passed Bradley of Princeton, the former champion, in the 880; J. Hamilton Hucker '38 of Buffalo, who finished the 220-yard low hurdles three yards behind Irwin of Princeton, who equalled the ICAAAA record of 23.6 seconds; and the 440-yard relay team, finishing inches behind Pennsylvania. James B. Pender '39 of Lawrence, Mass. led off, followed by S. William Rosenberg '38 of Rochester, John H. Nevius '39 of Flemington, N. J., and Wilbur H. Peter, Jr. '37 of Lakewood, Ohio.

Fourth place was taken by William W. Rossiter '37 of Bronxville, in the high hurdles; and fifth by Hucker, high hurdles; Benjamin F. Levy '39 of Elmira, 880; Robert P. Boynton '38 of Brooklyn, mile; mile relay team; Ralph J. Vreeland, Jr. '39, Ridgewood, N. J., shot put.

Frosh Lead Two

The Freshman track team won easily from Syracuse and Colgate at Syracuse Saturday, the score Cornell 63, Syracuse 44½, Colgate 18½. Captain Walter W. Zittell, Jr. of Buffalo won the 100-yard dash in 10.4, the 220 in 23.0, and the 440 in 51.6; Warwick McCutcheon of Ashland, Ky. took the hammer throw, 120 ft. 2 in., the javelin, 133 ft. 8½ in., and placed second in the discus and third in the shot put; while Lester M. Murdock of Buffalo won the broad jump with 23 ft. 2 in. and tied with Robert W. Pressing of Washington, D. C. at 5 ft. 10½ in. for first in the high jump. Raymond R. Critchlow of Trenton, N. J. won the pole vault at 10 ft. 6 in. with Pressing and Brown second and third; and John A. Kramp of Newburgh won the 220-yard low hurdles.

YALE TOPS BASEBALL TEAM

The Varsity baseball team lost a ragged game to Colgate, 10-17, at Hamilton on Monday of last week; defeated Syracuse, 16-6, on Wednesday in its best played game of the year; and on Saturday lost two League games to Yale on Hoy Field, 3-1 and 3-0.

Thirty-two players saw service in the Colgate game, including five Cornell pitchers, Stehnach, Lozier, Bensley, Terry, and Batten called over from his new post at first base. Colgate used two; Cornell got 13 hits and Colgate 18. Colgate led from the second inning, being ahead 14-5 in the seventh, but the next time up Cornell got 5 runs, and in the same inning Colgate made 3 more.

Worthington Dodd '38 held Syracuse to 8 hits, and led by Rigney, Cornell made 18. The catcher's four trips to bat netted him two home runs and a double, bringing in 4 runs. Cornell scored 5 runs in the sixth and again in the eighth, Syracuse being held to 3 each in the seventh and ninth.

Inability to hit and wild pitching in the pinches by Lozier and Dodd cost the Varsity the two seven-inning Yale games and dropped them back to the bottom of the Eastern Intercollegiate League. Before that the team had made 43 runs from 44 hits in the games with Columbia, Colgate, and Syracuse. The Yale game box scores:

The Freshman baseball team defeated Ithaca High School, 6-5, on Hoy Field May 3; Manlius School at Manlius, 19-6, May 5; and lost to the Syracuse freshmen, 1-10, at Syracuse Saturday.

LACROSSE TEAM LOSES

The Varsity lacrosse team lost its second game of the season, to Colgate, 3-10, Saturday, at Hamilton. Captain George M. Cohan '37 of Chicopee Falls, Mass. scored 2 goals. Only three of this year's team have had Varsity experience, and five are Sophomores.

The Freshman team beat Nottingham High School of Syracuse, 16-4, on Alumni Field May 5, and Saturday defeated Gow School, of Buffalo, 16-0, on the same field.

SPORTS EXTRA!

An alumnus whose first conception of spring athletics at Ithaca was obtained at the turn of the century is slightly stunned when he contemplates the present scope of intramural sport.

There are, for example, 24 different golf teams, 20 organizations of five men each engaging in volley ball, and 34 fraternities supporting (in a manner of speaking) four-oared crews. All this in contrast to the other picture, of no more than four eights rowing from the boat house (but rather good ones), a nine and a track team at Percy Field, together with a lacrosse team practicing in the far corner with orders to stay there and not get under foot. There were interfraternity baseball games at that time, to be sure, on the Quadrangle and on the lawn of the Vet College, but how many did your house play in the four years you were in college? Three or four a year was a pretty good average, and these came about only as the result of seemingly endless diplomatic negotiations, dares, bets, and insults.

And what we have told you is not all. There are 79 teams at the present time playing "soft" baseball: 50 fraternities, 22 independent teams, and the exponents of seven religious faiths. Regular baseball is limited to seven College teams and another league of seven teams—fraternities, and independents, mixed. Fifty tennis teams are playing off a complicated tournament in many intramural leagues. There is a handball league, and another pledged to pitching horseshoes.

The important and controlling fact about intramural athletics has been saved to the end; the students like it and mean to have it!

RICHTMYER TALKS TO CLUB

Professor Floyd K. Richtmyer '04, Dean of the Graduate School, spoke in San Francisco on his way to the Phoenix Islands in the Pacific where he will join the National Geographic Society-United States Navy expedition to study the solar eclipse next June. The Cornell Club of Northern California entertained the Dean at a luncheon April 23 at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco. Lynn P. Himmelman '33 presided.

SOUTH OHIO ELECTS

Herbert Snyder '16 was elected president of the Cornell Club of Southern Ohio at the annual dinner May 3. He succeeds Fred J. Wrampelmeier '29. Starbuck Smith, Jr. '34 was elected secretary-treasurer to succeed Snyder. Vernon B. Chase '16 is the new vice-president. Other members of the board of directors are Erwin Marx '00, Otto E. Hilmer '07, Laurence Mitchell '11, William H. Hodge '24, Russell N. Withenbury '35, and all past presidents of the Club. Thomas Midgley '11, inventor of the ethyl-gasoline processes, was the speaker at the dinner. His subject was "Cornell's Contribution to Industry." He discussed the place Cornell held up to the World War and then presented the principal problem, as he saw it, that now confronts the University.

Charles Mendick '37 of Brooklyn is the winner of this year's first prize of $100 in the Forbes Heermans contest for the best original one-act play on an American theme. His play, "And May God Have Mercy," deals with the sociological and economic background of the murder of a New York City subway cashier by six youths, which actually took place. Mendick is president of the Dramatic Club and a director of the Radio Guild. Second prize of $50 went to a mystery farce, "Art and Appreciation," by Arthur F. Neumann '37 of Plainfield, N. J.; and Melville Shavelson '37 of Spring Valley won honorable mention for his play, "Isn't It Beautiful?"

All three authors have taken the course in playwriting given by Professor Alex M. Drummond and have been active in the Dramatic Club. Under Professor Drummond's direction the University now gives fifteen courses in dramatic writing, production, and staging, with the Willard Straight Theatre as the students' laboratory.

The Forbes Heermans prizes are awarded annually, from the income of a trust fund of $15,000 left to the University in 1928 by Forbes Heermans '78, playwright, journalist, and novelist. Professor Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, was chairman of the judges this year, with Professors George J. Thompson, Law, and Edwin Nungezer, PhD '27, English.

NEW HAVEN SMOKER

All Cornell men are invited to a stag smoker the night before the Cornell-Princeton-Yale crew races. The party will be held at the Winchester Club, New Haven, corner of Munson and Ashmun Streets, Friday evening, May 21, at 8 o'clock. Coaches Harrison Sanford and Norman Sonju will be present, together with some of the representatives from Yale. James Lynah '05 expects to be there. The evening is being arranged by the recently organized Cornell Club of New Haven.

ST. LOUIS SCHOLARSHIP

At a dinner meeting of the Cornell Club of St. Louis, held at the Garavelli Restaurant, May 10, the election of members to the board of trustees to administer a trust fund to be known as "The Cornell Club of the St. Louis District Scholarship Fund" was announced.

William P. Gruner '07 is chairman, to serve for a period of five years; Alvin F. Griesedieck '16 and Spencer T. Olin '21 will serve for four years; Perry Post Taylor '88 and Shurly R. Irish '19 for three years; Henry J. Gerling '99 and Theodore A. Eggman '28, for two years. Harry R. McClain '02, president of the Club, will serve during his term of office.

The Cornell Club of St. Louis plans the development of a permanent scholarship fund from which loans will be made to selected recipients from the St. Louis district. The board of trustees is empowered to draw up rules for scholarship selection. These may be similar to the Rhodes' Scholarship requirements.

GRADUATE SCHOLARSHIPS

Eight holders of Cornell degrees are among the thirty-nine so far awarded scholarships and fellowships in the Graduate School for 1936-37, according to the list announced by Dean Floyd K. Richtmyer '04.

The Erastus Brooks Fellowship in Mathematics was awarded to Reuben R. McDaniel, MS '31; and a University Fellowship in Greek and Latin to Miriam E. Friedman, AM '36. The Sage Fellowship in Chemistry went to Channing C. Nelson '35; and a Frosted Foods Fellowship to Clinton R. Stimson '35. The Comstock Graduate Scholarship in Entomology was won by Karl V. Krombein '34; and the Comstock Graduate Scholarship in Nature Study by Evelyn M. VanDuzer, MS '33. A graduate Scholarship in Physics went to Daniel L. Goldberg '35; and the Phi Kappa Phi Scholarship to Sheldon W. Williams '32.

Stipends total $17,950 and many of the awards include free tuition in addition to cash. The winners, selected from 397 applicants, received their degrees from thirty-three colleges and universities and are residents of nineteen states and three Canadian provinces.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

THE ENTIRE STAFF of athletic coaches has been reengaged for the academic year of 1937-38. Announcement of this fact last week has permitted the local sportsmen most deeply concerned to pay their bets and to resume hair cutting and magazine selling.

THIS YEAR'S JUNIOR SMOKER, held in Bailey Hall Thursday night, struck and sustained the note of hands-across-the-sea to the University of Pennsylvania. Harvey Harmon, head coach of football at Franklin Field, was the principal speaker, and talented representatives of the Mask and Wig Club also entertained. As an antiseptic against the perils of sentimentality, the committee chose as the other principal speaker George R. Pfann '24, who enjoys the distinction, shared only by three of his Classmates, of having played for three consecutive years against the elevens of the University of Pennsylvania and always with complete success.

HOTEL EZRA CORNELL is the annual effort of Professor H. B. Meek to introduce momentarily a note of complete realism into theoretical instruction. The Hotel Ezra Cornell is always good. This year its chef, its front office management, and the house detective were more than adequate. But its publicity department was superb. The waiters' race staged by the press agent the day before the big opening drew hundreds to the Quadrangle. Waiter Norman Dounce '37 showed the greater speed in the first furlong of the race, but in the final sprint to the tape dropped the soup and was disqualified. Henry Moransky, blocking back on the Freshman football team, won the race. His masterly handling of his apron, tray, soup, and cap while he maintained a blinding speed raised grim doubts in some quarters as to his amateur status.

CURRENT ART display in Willard Straight is provided by a circuit exhibition from the Ohio Water Color Society. It involves thirty-odd water colors by as many different artists, all of whom appear to have been deeply impressed by some other water colors by somebody else that they've seen some other place.

MR. JOHN ROCHE has been in town two weeks arranging the program for the Cornell Night entertainment to be broadcast the night of May 14. All kinds of undergraduates and student organizations have been heard, but it looks now as if the ROTC band and the Glee Clubs would carry the big end of the program. Mr. Roche has a charming way of telling rejected artists that thirty minutes just isn't long enough to put on all the marvelous talent that we have here.

By Romeyn Berry

THIS DEPARTMENT has made an error of fact and of judgement which it deeply regrets. Last week in reporting a fishing trip into the Town of Scipio it said "President Farrand caught eighteen native trout weighing upwards of a half-pound apiece." The rhetorical virtue of understatement was carried to vicious extremes in that sentence. For one of those half-pound native trout, as is now abundantly demonstrated, was a rainbow that weighed FOUR POUNDS THREE OUNCES. We here repeat and confirm the contrite apologies that we uttered when summoned into The Presence.

ADVERTISEMENT in the Cornell Daily Sun: "Wanted—Open touring car of about 1924 vintage, cheap. Must have staying qualities and lots of power. Call 2175." And just what do you think this young man has in mind?

BOOK AND BOWL, a society which has nothing to do with ten-pins but is composed of students and professors of literary and genial tendencies, held its annual dinner Saturday night at Fountainbleau, that fine old house on the west shore of Cayuta lake which is now a restaurant and roadhouse of sorts. Mr. Archibald MacLeish, poet, editor, and Pulitzer prizeman, was the guest of honor. Book and Bowl, being endowed, can do these things in the grand manner, and very nicely indeed.

FOLLOWING A CUSTOM of many years standing, the senior class of Ithaca High School wore their parents' garments of another epoch to school on Friday. Noteworthy in the class was the son of R. W. Sailor '07 (Bobby), who wore his father's undergraduate Prince Albert, which added luster to the Quadrangle thirty years ago. The garment in question was less adequately filled on Friday than in the consulship of Jacob Gould Schurman.

LESTER E. HANSON, a graduate of the University of Minnesota and now a member of the Graduate School, has been awarded the fellowship of the American-Scandinavian Foundation on which he will study cattle breeding and kindred subjects in Denmark.

LECTURES for the week include "Origins of Chemistry in America," by Dr. C. A. Browne, supervisor of chemical research, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, before the American Chemical Society branch, May 10; and "The Velox Steam Generator," by Paul R. Sidler, before the student branch, ASME, May 13.

IN THE BASEBALL game with Syracuse last week Bernard Rigney, the Cornell catcher, struck out ignominiously on his first appearance at bat. The Syracuse spectators good-naturedly reminded him of this performance when he appeared again in the sixth inning. They thought, apparently, it had slipped his mind. Not at all. Mr. Rigney recalled the incident perfectly. He responded by knocking the ball out of the park for a home run. In his third appearance the audience held their peace, but Mr. Rigney knocked the ball out of the park anyway and scored two runs. The fourth and last time up Mr. Rigney knocked the ball out of the park for the third time, but this time the performance had to be scored merely as a two-bagger because of a local ground rule. This is the same Mr. Rigney who wrestled all winter with his coach in a hopeless effort to reduce his somewhat over-opulent figure.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER May 16 is the Rev. Karl Reiland, Rector Emeritus of St. George's Church, New York City.

INTERDENOMINATIONAL softball results: Lutherans 6, Presbyterians 5.

FIRE in the administration building at Ithaca College (Conservatory of Music in your time) recently did $20,000 worth of damage and caused some irreparable loss. To old Cornellians the most heart-rending loss was the entire library of Patsy Conway, the famous bandmaster. Many of Patsy's things were original manuscripts which are now gone for good.

SAVAGE CLUB QUARTET, which is one of our most popular musical organizations, doubled as the Ithaca Rotary Club Quartet at the district conference of Rotary International at Montreal, Canada, May 2-4. Its members are William B. Corcoran '23, C. Wesley Thomas '25, Allan H. Treman '21, and Truman K. Powers '30.

"DRIVING to New York May 3. Want one or two passengers with references. Phone Trumansburg 23F2"—Advertisement in the Sun. Trumansburg is fastidious!

THE ANNUAL CONCERT of the University Orchestra under the Gerald Hinkley Endowment met its usual enthusiastic response in Bailey Hall. Gladys Heathcock, pianist, was the professional soloist this year. It is always pleasant to recall that these excellent undergraduate performances of serious orchestral music are made possible by the bequest of the late Gerald W. Hinkley '15, whose grateful memories of his undergraduate contacts with good music thus found expression.

NECROLOGY

'81—FRED JASON CANDEE, March 7, 1937, in Rochester. He entered the Optional course in 1877 and remained for two years. From 1886 to 1911 he was with the Albert Dickinson Company, Chicago, Ill., after which he went to Spokane, Wash., as a farmer from 1912 to 1915, and with the White House Company, dry goods, from 1916 until his retirement in 1932. Sons, Allan H. Candee '06, Ben S. Candee '08, and Lieutenant Colonel Robert C. Candee, USA, '15.

'90 CE—ROBERT BRUCE WILCOX, March 25, 1937, in Willmette, Ill. He had retired as civil engineer in the War Department last fall, in which position he had served since 1917. At the time of his retirement he was engineer in charge of all forts in the United States. Previous to joining the War Department he was employed in the city boiler inspector's office of Chicago, Ill. Phi Kappa Psi; Theta Nu Epsilon; Mermaid; Cornell Society of Civil Engineers.

'96 CE—ARCHIBALD STEWART DOWNEY, February 26, 1937, at his home in The Highlands, Seattle, Wash. After graduation he became an assistant engineer on the construction of the Hydraulics Laboratory in Fall Creek, but left to serve in the Spanish-American War. After nine years with the Northern Pacific Railway, he joined the Seattle construction firm of A. W. Quist and Company, in which he was a partner for thirty years. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and of the Associated General Contractors of America. Kappa Alpha; captain, lacrosse; football; Undine; Bench and Board; Senior Ball Committee.

'96—ERNEST FREDERICK GUILFORD, December 10, 1936, in Washington, D. C., where he had been since 1931 in the Treasury Department and practicing architecture. He entered Architecture in 1892 and remained for two years. He had previously worked at his profession in Waterbury, Conn. and Wilson, N. C.

'99 MD—DR. DAVID SIMON FLEISCHHAUER, October 14, 1936. He was a surgeon with the Chicago, Milwaukee Railroad at the time of his death. After serving his internship at the Gouverneur Hospital, he became in 1902 assistant surgeon at the Cornell University Medical Dispensary, New York City. He was a First Lieutenant in the World War, and was at one time mayor of Wabasha, Minn., and president of the Wabasha County Medical Association.

'99 ME—CHAMPLAIN LORD RILEY, April 16, 1937, at his home near Plainfield, N. J. He had been with Clark, MacMullen and Riley, consulting engineers, 101 Park Avenue, New York City, since graduation, and was a past president of the American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers. He had long been active in the movement for improved housing in New York City, and was an organizer of the New Jersey Men's League for Women's Suffrage. Brother, Professor Howard W. Riley '01, Agricultural Engineering; son, Edward C. Riley '31. Glee Club; Senior Ball Committee.

'05 PhD—GERSHAM FRANKLIN WHITE, April 27, 1937, in Moorestown, N. J. He was senior pathologist of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine of the United States Department of Agriculture. A graduate of Ohio State University, he entered the Graduate School in Bacteriology in 1901, and received the MD at George Washington in 1909. He entered the Federal service in 1906 and had been in the Department's laboratories in Washington almost continuously since then. During the World War he was a Captain in the Medical Corps. He was a member of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, the American Society of Parasitologists, and the Entomological Society of Washington.

'08, '09 ME—CLIFFORD MACKAY HUSTED, September 29, 1936, at his home, 36 Terrace Drive, Worcester, Mass. He had been with the Boston Pressed Metal Company, Worcester, since 1930. Shortly after graduation he became superintendent of the Husted Milling Company, Buffalo. From 1914 until 1917 he was assistant superintendent of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. He served as Major in the Engineers' Corps at Camp McClellan and Newport News, Va., during 1917-18. After three years as manager of the Humble Oil Refining Company, Houston, Tex., he became general supervisor of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey. From 1927 to 1929 he did engineering work for several Wall Street firms. Son, Chester C. Husted '34. Sigma Alpha Epsilon; Scalp and Blade; Masque; Scabbard and Blade; Savage Club.

'11 ME—RAYMOND NOBLE WING, September 5, 1936, in Buffalo. In 1925 he was an engineer with Bley and Lyman, architects, Buffalo. Previously he had been with the Larkin Company, Buffalo; the Curtiss A. & M. Corporation, Buffalo; Goodyear Tire Company, Akron, Ohio; L. W. Morris and Company, Buffalo; and the Compression Tube and Tire Company, Buffalo. Scalp and Blade; American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

'13 CE—ORRIN JOHN PIERCE, August 8, 1936, in Warsaw. He was a junior assistant engineer with the New York State Barge Canal system from 1915 to 1922 and had since been teaching engineering.

Concerning THE FACULTY

PRESIDENT LIVINGSTON FARRAND and Dr. Rowland Angell, outgoing president of Yale, have been elected members of the board of trustees of the American Museum of Natural History.

MYRON C. TAYLOR, '94 LLB, Trustee, recently sailed for Europe on the Europa for what he described as "my annual trip abroad. Please make it plain I'm not going abroad for the coronation."

HARPER SIBLEY, Trustee, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, assailed sit-down strikes in an address to the American Society of Newspaper Editors. "The right to strike, so long as it does not endanger the public interest or impose upon others intolerable hardships, is fundamental. The right to the possession of property by its owners, free of trespass, is equally fundamental," he said.

DEAN DEXTER S. KIMBALL, Emeritus, and Dr. W. D. Ennis of Stevens Institute will give a course on "Industrial Economics" at the seventh annual Economics Conference for Engineers at the Stevens Engineering Camp, Johnsonburg, N. J., from June 18 to 26.

PROFESSOR FRANK A. SOUTHARD, Economics, is co-author of Canadian-American Industry, Finance, and Balance of Payments, the ninth volume of a forty-four-volume history of Canadian-American relations, which is being prepared under the auspices of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

PROFESSOR ARTHUR A. ALLEN, '08. Ornithology, spoke on "Aristotle to Fuertes" at the Cosmopolitan Club recently. This lecture is the annual nature talk in the series in memory of Louis Agassiz Fuertes '97 sponsored by the Club.

DR. EDMUND EZRA DAY, president-elect, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Princeton University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa.

LELAND W. LAMB, Animal Husbandry Extension, is spending a month's vacation in Colorado. He left by car April 20.

PROFESSOR CHARLES A. TAYLOR, Extension, a director of the American Association of Educational Broadcasters, spoke in Columbus, Ohio, recently.

PROFESSOR EDWIN R. HOSKINS '18, Rural Education, is the author of a booklet, Young Men in Farming, just published by the United States Department of the Interior. One hundred young men on the farms of northern Tompkins County, all under twenty-five years of age, were the subject of this study, made in 1931-32 to determine "the qualifications, opportunities, and needs for training in farming." The typical young farmer in this group began school between the ages of six and seven and left at fifteen, having completed eight grades. Twice as many attended high school as in the preceding generation of their fathers. Questionnaires showed that the average income of the 100 men since leaving school was $1,539, while the average expenses were $1,408.

PROFESSOR ADRIAN G. GOULD, assistant Medical Adviser, has been appointed to the summer session faculty at Columbia University, New York City. He will conduct studies of health service in schools.

PROFESSOR MORRIS BISHOP '13, Romance Languages, and Mrs. Bishop have a daughter, Alison, born May 9, in Ithaca. They live at 903 Wyckoff Avenue.

PROFESSORS HEINRICH REIS and Oscar D. von Engeln '08 are representing Cornell at the annual meeting of the New York State Geological Association at Syracuse University, May 14 and 15.

CARL G. SNAVELY, head coach of football was invited to address the staff of the Geneva Agricultural Experiment Station May 4.

PROFESSOR JAMES E. BOYLE, Rural Economy, writes on "That Ever-Normal Granary" in the May 8 issue of The Saturday Evening Post. The article is critical of the New Deal plan for major crops, operating so that "surpluses of fat years could be carried over for use in lean years."

STANTON GRIFFIS '10, chairman of the finance committee of the Board of Trustees, was among the guests at the White House in Washington at the presentation of the national achievement award to Katharine Cornell.

PROFESSOR HARRY H. LOVE, '09 PhD, Plant Breeding, lectured on "Agricultural Problems and Progress in China" at Pennsylvania State College April 6. The next day he held a round-table conference on statistical methods and experimental technique.

WILLIAM R. PABST, JR., '36 Grad, instructor in Economics during 1934-1936, is the author of Butter and Oleomargarine, an analysis of these competing commodities, published recently by the Columbia University Press.

DR. HERBERT S. GASSER, professor of Physiology in the Medical College in New York from 1931 to 1935, and now director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, has been elected a member of the board of trustees of the Rockefeller Foundation.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

'93 AB—Edward C. Townsend has donated his herbarium, started while he was here and now consisting of over 2500 mounted specimens of flowering plants and ferns collected in New York, North Carolina, Washington, and Massachusetts, to the Washington State College, Pullman, Wash. Townsend lives at 1020 Harrison Avenue, Olympia, Wash.

'88 CE—General Mario G. Menocal is for the third time in his life the leader of the chief opposition party in the Cuban government. He recently agreed to command the united forces of his Democratic party and the Accion Republicana party, headed by Miguel Mariana Gomez, army-deposed president, who is regarded as one of the bitterest foes of the administration.

'89—Dr. Nathan B. VanEtten, chairman of the speakers' board of the American Medical Society, spoke at the recent laying of the cornerstone of the new hospital building of the Bronx Eye and Ear Infirmary.

'94, '95 CE; '16 CE—Reginald B. Milton, vice-president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and Cornelius W. Middleton '16, vice-president of Babcock and Wilcox Company, have been elected directors of the National Council of American Shipbuilders.

'97 AB—Herbert A. Taylor, formerly general counsel and head of the legal department of Erie Railroad, has been named vice-president of the road.

'98 BS—Ernest M. Bull, president of A. H. Bull and Company, has been elected a director of the Maritime Association of the Port of New York for a period of two years.

'99 ME—Emmett B. Carter, consulting industrial engineer, wrote on "Spring Styles in Chemical Plants" in the April issue of Chemical Industries. His address is 19 Prospect Avenue, Tenafly, N. J.

'00 AB—Edward A. McCreary is with the Philippine Railway Company, Iloilo, Philippine Islands.

'00 CE—William T. C. Spiker is in the procurement division of the Treasury Department, Washington, D. C., and lives at Mountain View, Ga.

'00 LLB—John T. McGovern represented illustrators at a recent meeting to decide whether they or the purchasers shall pay the sales tax levied on drawings in New York City. McGovern predicted that an increasing number of artists would leave New York if it became necessary that they pay the tax.

'00 ME—Frederick B. Hufnagel, president of the Crucible Steel Company of America, told a recent meeting of the stockholders that the company's plants are running virtually at full capacity.

'01 BArch—Frederick L. Ackerman of the housing committee of the American Institute of Architects recently stated that houses cannot be produced or sold like automobiles. "Production and financial conditions are so dissimilar in the construction and automotive industries that a similar pattern for mass manufacture of houses is impossible," he said.

CAMP OTTER

A Boys' Camp in the Canadian Woods

This is the sixth in a series of seven advertisements about Camp Otter.

This Year's Boys

The nearly-completed roster of the 27th season at Camp Otter (July 6 to August 27) indicates (1) That 70% of this year's boys are old campers who like the place and insist on going back, (2) that the boys will come from 16 different towns and cities in six different states, (3) that a majority have Cornell family affiliations, (4) that a majority of them expect to go to Cornell, or hope to, and (5) that a substantial number of them are sons of fathers who went to Camp Otter themselves.

An Experienced Staff

Howard Ortner '18 is starting his 14th season at Camp Otter and his fifth as its director. Dr. E. C. Showacre of the Cornell medical staff at Ithaca is in his seventh year as camp physician and instructor in personal hygiene. Bill Crewson, licensed Canadian guide, who has charge of the camp farm and who leads all canoe trips, is beginning his 27th season. The cook has been with us for years and is still deservedly popular.

The Counselors

A boys' camp is generally regarded as just about as strong, or as weak, as its counselors. Camp Otter counselors have always been selected for their character and personal qualities and never on the basis of the number of boys they can persuade to attend. Most of them have started as campers and have continued on as counselors. They include for the coming season Bill McKeever '39, tackle on the Cornell football team and hammer thrower on the track team, who will have charge of the athletic program; Charlie Walker, Colgate '39, Red Cross Life Saving examiner and member of the Colgate swimming team, who will give swimming instruction, direct water sports and guard the safety of the boys around the water; Roger Benjamin '39, who after two years on a famous Texas ranch camp, will head up horseback riding and riding instruction; Robert Huffcut '38, in his sixth year as camper and counselor, a member of his Freshman crew at Ithaca who is in charge of canoe trips with Mr. Crewson as guide; Herbert Livermore '38, Glee Club man, in direct charge of the smaller boys and second in command on the canoe trips; George Unger '39, nature study and ornithology; Allen Howie, a Canadian expert in outdoor handicrafts; John Stark '38, in charge of the camp's dramatic entertainments, and others.

Charges

Charges at Camp Otter are geared to modest incomes. The fee of the entire season is $175.
