SPRING DAY BRINGS GALA CROWD

As University Year Nears Its End

RAIN for Spring Day dampened Saturday's traditional "peerade" and lessened attendance at the circus Midway on Alumni Field. But it let up long enough for the baseball team to clinch Cornell's first Eastern Intercollegiate League championship by defeating Pennsylvania in the tenth inning before 3,000 persons in the Hoy Field bleachers. After the game, the sky was lowering and the wind was in the southeast as the Spring Day crowd travelled to the Lake to embark on boats of all sizes and descriptions and to line the east shore for the regatta with Harvard and Syracuse. Many got wet as they watched the races, and picnic parties were dampened, but Cornell's victories made up for the inconvenience.

Parade, Circus Wet

And weather could not interfere with the week-end enjoyment of the 1,000 or more guests at forty-four fraternity houseparties, celebrating the imminent end of another University year. Automobiles thronged the Campus Friday and Saturday, and until the small hours of Sunday morning celebrators made merry all over the Hill. As the sun came out to cheer departing guests, the hush that pervaded everywhere was not so much that of the Sabbath as of exhaustion after two days of pleasure.

Saturday's "peerade" of circus wagons with "animals" of all kinds, Roman gladiators, acrobats, and many other themes hatched by the ingenuity of undergraduates wound its way up the Hill in a drizzle. It reached Alumni Field in a driving downpour, and there the crowd splashed through the mud to two long tents and to see the Flying Allens in their death-defying parachute act.

Alpha Psi was awarded a cup for the best float in the parade, a huge tractor-drawn "Psi Brothers Circus" cage containing a swarm of brown "monkeys" and their straw-hatted trainer.

Admitted to the Midway by large buttons with portraits of "Rippling Ruby" and "Rugged Rube," Spring Day celebrants kept out of the rain in the tents, throwing rings at two ducks, driving nails, throwing baseballs, and taking chances on the holes that white mice would run into.

Fifty-first Navy Ball

Navy Ball in Barton Hall Friday night was the fifty-first of these events. October 31, 1890, before there was a Spring Day, the Trustees gave permission to the manager of rowing to hold a dance for the benefit of the Cornell Navy. It became an annual affair, and by 1901, since students had formed the habit of not going to classes the next day, it was agreed that they would forego the Memorial Day holiday and make the next day after the Navy Ball a University holiday, transferring it to May. Thus Spring Day began, and by tradition the proceeds of the Navy Ball are now used for expenses of the ROTC band.

This year's Navy Ball carried out the circus motif of Spring Day, with more than 5,000 persons dancing on about two-thirds of the huge drill floor of Barton Hall. From gaily decorated "circus wagons" at one end, Glenn Miller's and Wally Stoefer's bands alternated, and during intermission a troop of acrobats performed on a central raised platform. Orange and white floodlights were set in the draperies around the walls, high above the boxes of fraternities, partitioned from the dancing floor with circus entrances.

The Sun May 21 published a dispatch from Washington, D. C., by William S. Page '39 reporting that he had interviewed the famous Glenn Miller in Washington and there found that Lawrence W. Bruff, '38, who is Miller's announcer on his nationally broadcast Chesterfield program, had been influential in persuading the maestro to accept the Navy Ball engagement in Ithaca.

Spring Day Sun had its first page made up as the "Cornell Daily Worker," with a scare head announcing that Federal agents had seized University officials and padlocked the Library in a night raid to "purge Campus Reds." Inside, the editorial director apologized for the hoax, saying "our minds weren't on the thing as we were thinking about Spring Day, and the story was sort of arranged by our sub-conscious minds."

Dramatic Club Performs

Three nights in the Willard Straight Theatre the Dramatic Club presented its "grand revival" of Augustin Daly's stirring drama, "Under the Gaslight." Between the frayed tormentors salvaged from the old Lyceum in Ithaca, and with stage hands often changing the scenes during the action, the cast solemnly went through the stilted lines of nineteenth-century melodrama, burlesquing them not at all.

Gwendolyn C. Schmidt '42 of Paterson, N. J., was a wistfully proper heroine as the beautiful Miss Laura Cortland, and Alice M. S. Scott '41 of Norwich played well the part of her foster sister, Pearl. The tall villain, Byke, played by David T. Ahlers '42 of Garrison, was properly hissed for his nefarious work; and the vacillating young hero, Ray Trafford, played by Frederick M. Shelley III '42 of East Orange, N. J., was alternately booed and cheered. Other particularly noteworthy performers were John E. Cullinan, Jr. '41 of Oswego, as Snorkey the soldier-messenger, and Dolores C. Dirlam '41 of Corning, as Old Judy, the villainous hag.

Credit is especially due the producer and manager, Professor Walter H. Stainton '19, and his student assistants, for their ingenuity in providing the moving rowboat and sailboat in the scene at the wharf, and for the excellent direction and settings throughout. Programs were in the form of handbills set in old-fashioned type on newsprint.

ARCHITECTS TO ORGANIZE

Alumni of the College of Architecture will meet in White Hall Reunion Saturday morning, June 15, at 9:30, to discuss the organization of an alumni association of the College. This will be during the annual Reunion breakfast in White Hall of members of the Faculty and alumni of the College of Architecture and their families.

At the annual meeting, May 13, report on finances was given by Marion Quell '26; on membership, by Catherine M. Curvin '29; Scholarship Fund, Mrs. Frank Pagliaro (Edith A. Bennett) '25; secondary schools, Mrs. Bernard A. Savage (Carmen M. Schneider) '27; fields of work for women, Miss Irish.

INTERCOLLEGIATE COURTESY

Cordial athletic relations are typified in the following quotations from Rowing Coaches Harrison Sanford of Cornell and "Rusty" Callow of Pennsylvania, published recently in the Pennsylvania Gazette.

Callow: "There is not much to write about the visit of the Cornell 150-pound crew squad to the Schuylkill during their Easter vacation week. The three crews came down here; paid their own way; were a group of thorough gentlemen, and rowed hard. We enjoyed every minute of the week they were here. A couple of our shells they used were not very good, but never a murmur about that. To me, personally, their visit was a source of extreme gratification as I know it must have been to all true Pennsylvania men. Their fraternization with our boys typifies the best in college athletics. We must have more of it. . . ."

Sanford (in a letter to Callow): "The first intimation I had that the 150s were going to crowd in on you for spring vacation was after they had made all the arrangements, else I certainly should have never allowed them to go without first getting your personal O.K. I apologize for the whole thing and hope they didn't get in your hair too much. They had a great time down there and can't say enough of the hospitality received from you and your crews and everyone else they came in contact with. . . ."

Sanford rowed under Callow at the University of Washington.

About ATHLETICS

THREE CREWS WIN

The Varsity crew, rowing easily in a downpour of rain, defeated Harvard and Syracuse on Cayuga Lake last Saturday to annex the unofficial sprint championship of the East. Harvard, undefeated since last Spring Day, came to Ithaca with an impressive record this season. Cornell was likewise undefeated, having conquered Navy and Yale by narrow margins and Princeton.

The rain flattened Cayuga's surface, and there was little wind as the varsity crews left the start. Cornell trailed in third place for nearly a mile, passed Harvard, then Syracuse, and rowing at a beat of 32 strokes a minute pulled into a length and a half lead at the finish. Harvard finished second, with Syracuse less than a half-length behind.

Cornell's Freshman crew, also undefeated, opened the regatta with a length victory over Syracuse. Harvard did not send a freshman boat.

In the junior varsity, Harvard won by a length from Syracuse, with Cornell three lengths back in third place.

The times for the two-mile, east shore course, finishing at the Salt Block:

Varsity: Cornell, 10:53.8; Harvard, 10:59.2; Syracuse, 11:00.5.

Junior Varsity: Harvard, 11:18.8; Syracuse, 11:22; Cornell, 11:40.

Freshman: Cornell, 11:38.3; Syracuse, 11:42.5.

The regatta was rowed virtually on schedule and was run off in double-quick time. The referee was Howard W. Robbins, Syracuse's representative on the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association.

No boats, except an assistant referee's boat, were permitted to follow the freshman and junior varsity races. Richard Aronson '26, former Varsity coxswain, was assistant referee for the freshman race; Dr. W. Forrest Lee '06 for the junior varsity race. For the varsity race, the referee's boat, coaching launches, and the press boat were permitted to follow the shells. The Coast Guard took complete charge of policing the Lake. The result was that the course was undisturbed by the swells of moving motorboats.

Cornell's Freshmen were hard-pressed in the early stages of the first race, but pulled away from Syracuse after the mile mark and won handily by a length. Rain had just started falling as the shells left Estys.

The rain increased in intensity as the junior varsity eights came down the course. Cornell was never a contender, and Harvard and Syracuse made a good race of it until Harvard took command with a half-mile to go and finished strongly, with a shade of open water showing between the two shells.

In driving rain, Syracuse jumped into a quick lead in the early stages of the varsity race. Cornell and Harvard quickly settled down to a low beat, but Syracuse continued at a hotter pace, 36 strokes to the minute, and pulled well ahead. At one stage in the first mile, Cornell was two lengths behind Syracuse and one astern of Harvard. Cornell's power soon began to tell, and Cornell moved up to take the lead at the mile mark, as Syracuse began to fade. Harvard also caught the Syracuse shell and started out after Cornell. With three-quarters of a mile to go, Cornell held a two-length lead over Harvard. Harvard stepped up the beat and began to cut Cornell's margin. Syracuse revved and pulled out with Harvard. Cornell refused to hurry its pace until the final quarter-mile when it stepped the beat up to 36 as Harvard reached almost 40 strokes a minute in its final effort to catch Cornell's new shell, the "Storm King."

Coach Harrison Sanford again shifted the Varsity boating for this race, moving W. Nicholas Kruse '43 into the No. 2 position in place of Peter C. Foote '41. The boating:

Bow, Richard G. Davis '41; 2, Kruse; 3, William E. Fisher, Jr.; 4, John C. Perry '41; 5, Franklin P. Eggert; 6, Commodore James A. Young, Jr.; 7, John G. Aldworth '42; stroke, Richard K. Collins '40; coxswain, Charles E. Boak '41.

Lightweights Regain Cup

On the Schuylkill River at Philadelphia the same day, the Varsity 150-pound crew, stroked by Robert S. Chamberlain '42, former Varsity stroke, regained the James Matthews Cup by defeating Pennsylvania by a half-length over the Henley distance of a mile and five-sixteenths.

Cornell was timed in 6:29.8. This was Cornell's third victory in the four years the trophy, presented by the coach of Pennsylvania's lightweight oarsmen, has been in competition.

Pennsylvania won the 150-pound junior varsity race over the Henley distance by five lengths in 6:41.8, and the Pennsylvania freshmen defeated Cornell in a mile race by three-quarters of a length in 5:02.2.

LACROSSE TEAM WINS

The lacrosse team, winding up an otherwise poor season, defeated Pennsylvania, 14-3, in a Spring Day game on Alumni Field last Saturday.

Captain Robert D. Brennan, all-American lacrosse choice for two seasons, wound up his career by breaking the intercollegiate individual scoring record with 10 goals. The previous mark of 9 was held by Ferris of Hobart.

Brennan was forced to retire from the game because of an injury after he had scored 9 goals. In the final period he returned to action and scored the record-breaking goal with thirty-five seconds left to play. It was a long shot, made unassisted.

Cornell took a 4-1 lead in the first period and held a 9-2 advantage at the half. Cornell held Pennsylvania scoreless in the third period and scored 3 more goals. In the final quarter, Cornell scored twice to one goal for Pennsylvania.

WIN BASEBALL TITLE

A single from the bat of Frank K. Finneran '41, catcher, scored Alva E. Kelley '41, reserve center fielder, with a run on Hoy Field last Saturday that did two things:

Beat Pennsylvania, 4-3, in the tenth inning.

Won for Cornell the championship of the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League.

Last year Cornell shared the title with Harvard. This year Cornell won the championship outright for the first time since the League was formed in 1930. Cornell won ten of eleven games; a postponed game with Dartmouth at Hanover will not be played.

The Spring Day contest with Pennsylvania attracted a crowd of close to 3,000. Rain early in the day wet the outfield, but a tarpaulin protected the infield. When the rain stopped, the game was postponed one hour, and the field was in fairly good condition for the game.

James A. Young '40, pitching his last game for Cornell, set the visitors down in order in the first inning. Cornell then produced three hits and a stolen base and was handed a walk by Pitcher Fawley. But a Pennsylvania double play cut off Cornell's scoring chances.

In the second inning, Pennsylvania took a 2-0 lead, on singles by Reagan and Gustafson, a Cornell error, and infield outs. Cornell tied the score in the third when Walter Scholl doubled with Kenneth G. Brown '40 and Captain George F. Polzer '40 on base as the result of singles.

Pennsylvania regained the lead in the fourth, on McDonald's triple and Reagan's single. From there to the finish, Pennsylvania failed to push a runner beyond second base.

Cornell twice threatened, Scholl reaching third base in the fifth. In the seventh, Fawley walked Scholl and sent him to second on a wild pitch. Fawley was replaced by Beinstein, who walked Robert C. Ochs '42. Two were out, however, and Michael J. Ruddy '41 fanned.

With one out in the ninth, it looked like Pennsylvania's game, but McDonald dropped an easy fly from the bat of Ronald E. Stillman '42. Polzer forced Stillman at second, and then Polzer reached second on Beinstein's wild pitch. Scholl came through with a single to right to score Polzer with the tying run.

The end came quickly in the tenth. Kelley, batting for Ochs, singled to right. Ruddy rolled a grounder to Beinstein, and the Pennsylvania pitcher threw it high to second base. Both runners were safe. Charles S. Bowen '40 bunted, and George, Pennsylvania's third baseman, came in too late to make a play.

Thus the bases were loaded when Finneran came to the plate. In the earlier innings he had fanned, walked, grounded out, and fouled out. But he caught a fast ball and drove it on a line into left field, and Kelley trotted home with the winning run.

In other games of the week, the Varsity lost to Colgate, 9-2, at Hamilton May 22, thereby giving Colgate the championship in Central New York over Cornell and Syracuse, and the Freshman nine defeated Cortland Normal, 15-4, on Hoy Field May 24.

Cornell finished its League season with a team batting average of .286, highest in the League at the close of last week's games. In fielding, Cornell had a mark of .931 for fifth place. Best individual batter was Scholl with .350, followed by Polzer, .333; Walter J. Sickles '41, .333; Stillman, .326; Brown, .292; Bowen, .267; Ochs, .250; Finneran, .235; and Ruddy, .216.

Sickles and Young topped the pitchers, the former with five victories and Young with four. Neither was defeated. Cornell's other victory was pitched by Kyle W. Morse '40.

TENNIS ENDS SEASON

The tennis team closed its season last Sunday, losing to Pennsylvania, 7-2, on the Cascadilla Courts in a match postponed from Spring Day by rain.

The victory gave Pennsylvania the championship of the newly-formed Eastern Intercollegiate Tennis Association, with four straight victories.

Cornell's 2 points were scored by William E. Gifford '41 in singles and Howard S. Dye '41 of Ithaca and Jerome I. Lieberthal '42 in doubles.

A scheduled match with Cortland Normal May 20 was cancelled because of rain.

Donald Budge, a leading professional, gave an exhibition before 1,000 persons on the Cascadilla Courts May 22. He defeated Captain Kennedy Randall '41 in two sets and Gifford in one set, then paired with Louis C. Boochever, Jr. '41 to defeat Randall and Gifford in one set of doubles.

GOLFERS TAKE THIRD

Cornell golfers finished third in the annual New York State intercollegiate golf tournament at the Bellevue Country Club, Syracuse, May 20.

Syracuse won the title with a score of 628. Rochester was second with 643. Cornell scored 645.

Four men competed in eighteen holes of medal play for each team. Co-captain James M. Bostwick '40 and Harry L. Bill, Jr. '41 were the medalists for Cornell with 1598. Playing with them were Co-captain Richard T. Meister '40 and Paul R. Thomas '42.

CORNELL DAILY SUN has announced the election of Julius L. Hoyt '43 of Walden to the business board.

TAYLOR '88 GREAT PLAYER

TO THE EDITOR:

I have been interested in the letter in the March 21 ALUMNI NEWS concerning famous ball players at Cornell. I have read several of the comments following, particularly the one that referred to what position Harry Taylor played on the Cornell team. During his undergraduate days he played several positions, and I recall his telling me of finishing a game at Princeton, which he won, in the position of pitcher.

I noticed in one of the letters that reference was made to his pitching a game at Philadelphia. After his graduation in 1888, Taylor played but one game in Philadelphia with the Cornell team, and that was in the first part of May, in 1893, at which time he caught the entire game. Priest was the pitcher. We won this game by a score of 5-1. The writer was playing in center field.

I consider Harry Taylor the greatest ball player that ever graduated from Cornell University.—JOHN W. TOWLE '94

ENGINEERS DOUBLE AID

John P. Syme '26 was elected president of the Cornell Society of Engineers at the annual meeting May 8, at the Cornell Club of New York. C. Reeve Vanneman '03 is executive vice-president; Paul O. Reyneau '13 was reelected secretary-treasurer; and Herbert B. Reynolds '11 was elected recording secretary.

Seventy-eight members were told by Dean S. C. Hollister of plans for the future of the Engineering College, and Professor Gregory J. Comstock of Stevens Institute spoke on "Powder Metallurgy."

This year the Society has doubled its former annual contributions to the University for support of the Placement Service in New York City. Writing to President Day enclosing check for $200, Willis H. Carrier '01, retiring president, spoke especially of "the very valuable work done by the Director of this Service, Mr. Paul Reyneau, who also serves as secretary-treasurer of this Society. Not only has Mr. Reyneau been very effective in finding positions for Cornell alumni from the various Colleges, but his most valuable work has probably been in the capacity of vocational counsel . . . helping a man to determine what type of work he likes best and is best fitted to do and also in helping him plan his own campaign in finding a job."

Acknowledging the increased contribution from the Society, President Day wrote: "I am thoroughly in accord with the Society's view that this service, under the capable direction of Mr. Reyneau, is paying splendid dividends. I was able last year to secure a little more support for the Service through the University's budget, and am much pleased to find that the Society has now added to the funds which Mr. Reyneau has at his disposal. I am sure that it is a work that should be encouraged and assisted by every available means."

JERSEY CLUB MEETS

Seventy-five members of the Lackawanna Cornell Club of New Jersey were addressed at the annual meeting May 16 by Captain A. C. Stott, USN, who described the status of the Navy. R. Selden Brewer '40, magician, made a quick trip down from Ithaca between prelims to perform at the meeting, at the Canoe Brook Country Club in Summit.

Herbert F. Cox, Jr., '32 was reelected president of the Club, and A. Mortimer Erskine '14 fills the combined offices of vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

TO RETURN FOR REUNIONS

Civil Engineering alumni who come back for Reunions, June 14-16, will have opportunity to renew acquaintance with one of their best-beloved teachers, Professor Henry S. Jacoby, who taught bridge engineering for thirty-five years until he retired as professor emeritus in 1922. He lives now in Washington, D. C. During Reunions he will be the guest of Mrs. Henry Asmus at 7 Reservoir Avenue, the house where he formerly lived on the Campus. Guests with him there will also be his son, Freeman S. Jacoby '10, and the son's nephew, Walter R. Unangst '15, and their families. Professor Jacoby and his family will be special guests at the annual Civil Engineering Reunion breakfast Saturday morning, June 15, in Sibley Dome.

TO GIVE BASEBALL CUP

A silver cup will be presented by Coach Mose Quinn, on behalf of the Cornell Alumni Association, to the team which wins the baseball battle-of-the-century between odd-year and even-year Classes, June 15 on Hoy Field. A grand "peerade" from the Saturday luncheon in Barton Hall will take the Reunion crowd to the game.

Professor Charles V. P. Young '99, as captain-manager of the even-year Classes' team is gloating over his rival captain-manager, Creed W. Fulton '09, because he has signed up most of the Seniors of this even year's Varsity team. These will include Pitcher James A. Young, Jr., Captain George F. Polzer, and Kenneth G. Brown. Fulton, however, is scouting for the leading players of recent odd years; and both alumni captains have written to former players, old and young, recruiting their teams.

ASK the NEWS!

Subscribers are invited to submit pertinent questions, to be answered below. All questions must be signed, but only Class numerals will be published.

Q—"In December, 1938, it was announced that Cornell and General Motors would cooperate in compiling a weekly index of world commodity prices to be published in newspapers and financial journals. What is the present status of this world price index?"

A—War conditions in Europe have made it impossible to get satisfactory information on commodity prices, and the disruption of exchange control has added to the difficulty of compiling them. The Department of Agricultural Economics is still collecting prices where it can, but publication of the General Motors-Cornell World Price Index has been temporarily suspended. When it will be resumed no one can say.

WAR NEWS FROM FRANCE

First direct word from a Cornellian with the Allied forces in France comes in a letter dated May 13 from LeClair Smith '15, written to his Class Reunion chairman, Matthew Carey. He writes from Paris, addressing his letter "Dear Classmates":

"As the days approach for our Twenty-fifth Reunion, my thoughts go back to you assembled, and there's a tug at the heartstrings in the realization that I can't be in two places at the same time. I find myself a member of the First Section of the American Field Service, the renaissance of the same outfit which carried on in the World War and whose traditions are greatly cherished.

"Judging from the caliber of the men here, I don't think the original group will need to worry. We range in age from eighteen to fifty-three, forty of us, with twenty ambulances, two staff cars, two trucks, and a rolling kitchen. The chassis are Chevrolet ton-and-a-half trucks, the bodies are French-built.

"There is, as usual, a predominance of Harvard in our midst, fully a dozen hailing from there. Among them are Harold Willis, ex-member of the old outfit and later a member of the Lafayette Escadrille. Others include two aviators, two painters, one sculptor (Stuart Benson, Michigan) who has 'made' the Metropolitan Museum of Art. The schools, other than Harvard, run: Princeton, two, and one each from University of Arizona, Yale, Williams, Cornell, Sorbonne, Oxford, and others I'm not sure of. St. Marks and Groton influence is noticeable.

"We are awaiting orders to go to the front, in Belgium, and are to leave not later than Saturday, May 18. We have been quartered in this United States

NEXT NEWS JUNE 13

By the time many of our subscribers receive this issue, instruction will be over for this University year and the Campus will be absorbed in final examinations. In accordance with our custom, the next issue of the ALUMNI NEWS will be out June 13, the day before Class Reunions start.

Along with other activities of the Alumni Association, it is expected that the NEWS will be represented in the Reunion exhibits in Barton Hall. And our office on the top floor of Alumni House will be open. We hope to see you here!

PREDICTION FOR 15-25-40

We see many of the form letters, circulars, and folders that hard-working Class secretaries send out each year to their Classmates, to get them back to Ithaca for Reunions. The more conscientious secretaries work hard at their jobs, and receive all too little credit. Some of their mail campaigns of recent years, done usually by busy men and women in their "spare" time, have brought notable results in Reunion attendance.

But we shall be surprised if the Class of '15 this June doesn't set an all-time record for a Twenty-five-year Reunion. Certainly it will if the ingenuity of the indefatigable '15 secretary, Matt Carey, counts for anything. And the recent Twenty-five-year Reunions are something to beat. Record attendance for any Class was that of '13 two years ago, with 266 members here, and last year the Class of '14 had 218.

Carey's work for an outstanding Reunion of his Class began last summer.

One of the first steps was to arrange for the ALUMNI NEWS to be sent for the entire year to some 450 selected members. He told them all about it by mail, and has constantly revised his list of "dead ones" and "live ones" as the men of '15 have responded to his Reunion letters. His has been a personal campaign, built on the idea of renewing acquaintance of old-time friends. It has included the taking of photographs of '15 men all over the country, collection of biographical information covering the years since the Class Commencement, regional Class meetings, reprints of former ALUMNI NEWS editorials and the writings of Romeyn Berry, and many, many handwritten notes to individuals.

His latest mailing to the Class takes the prize. It is a four-page printed letter, announcing, among other things, a "Write-Your-Own Ticket Plan" that answers the last objection of those who hesitate at the expense of a Reunion. The plan embodies a sealed "Button Box" at Class headquarters, in which returning '15 men are to drop their offerings, in proportion to means and Reunion enjoyment. Each will receive room and meals and tickets to essential Reunion events. The Button Box will be delivered after Reunion, unopened, to the University Treasurer, the total sum to be credited to the Class Fund, from which Reunion expenses will be taken. As further inducements, Carey has arranged a trade-in plan for Class blazers ("If yours has withstood the moths but is now too tight around the waist"), offers souvenir steins imprinted with the names of their owners by Classmate Edmiston, and '15 numerals put on favorite pipes by Classmate Ralph Smith. He has thought of everything!

Enclosed with this letter is an ingenious "Declaration of Intentions" with a series of coupons indicating the Reunion events which the recipient plans to attend, a room diagram of Baker Court with reservation blank, one for family and guest accommodations, imprint for stein, order for coat, and a coupon for enclosing with Class dues.

The letter includes a list of 340 names of '15 men classified as "sure", "probable", and "not so good" concerning their "chances of being on hand," according to latest information given the Class secretary.

We miss our guess if '15 doesn't have a most successful Reunion, June 14-16.

CHICAGO SPEAKER

Harry B. Gear '95, vice-president of Commonwealth Edison Co., was the speaker at the regular Thursday luncheon of the Cornell Club of Chicago May 23, at the University Club. His subject, illustrated with charts and maps, was "Electricity in the Chicago Area: How Supplied and How Used."

JEAN B. COFFIN, daughter of Foster M. Coffin '12, has been elected president of the Junior women's honor society, Raven and Serpent, for next year. Flora C. Mullin of Cortland is secretary-treasurer.

ON THE CAMPUS AND DOWN THE HILL

NEW YORK TIMES sent Robert F. Kelley and the Herald Tribune, Al Laney, to Ithaca to "cover" the crew races. They came in Friday, enjoyed a piano recital by Professor Andrew D. Haigh, Music, and Mrs. Haigh Friday evening, and spent Saturday morning at the Romeyn Berry farm, "Stoneposts," near Jacksonville. Said it was a relief to get away from war talk.

ALUMNI seen around the Campus and at the Spring Day baseball game include Charles H. Blair '97, William McKeever '97, Ezra B. Whitman '01, George D. Crofts '05, George V. Dutney '10, Thomas R. Ludlam '11, Thomas I. S. Boak '14, '38 Class Secretary William C. Kruse here to make final arrangements for his Class's first Reunion, William T. Mills '39, and Alfred F. Van Ranst '39. George H. Rockwell '13 stopped in Monday, in town to speak at the Quill and Dagger initiation dinner that evening.

JAMES M. TATUM, baseball coach last year, was greeting old friends at Hoy Field Saturday afternoon. He is now director of freshman athletics and freshman baseball coach at University of North Carolina.

"HELP THE ALLIES" meeting brought seventy-five persons to Barnes Hall May 23, to hear Captain Jack Hasey tell of his experiences in Finland as a driver with the American Volunteer Ambulance Corps. He was introduced by Professor Walter F. Willcox, Economics, Emeritus, who said that the United States should immediately declare war on Germany. Few days earlier, the American Student Union paraded around the Campus an Army tank built of canvas and placarded "Stay Out of the War." It was "captured" from in front of Willard Straight Hall, but later reappeared and was shipped to President Roosevelt with a petition said to have been signed by 1,000 students.

WINNER of this year's Guilford Essay Prize for excellence in English prose composition is Paul W. Leighton of Twin Falls, Idaho. A Sophomore in Civil Engineering, he wrote of "The City that Grew From a Desert," stressing the sturdy independence of those who built his home town from stories told him by his pioneer grandfather, his father who was a member of the State legislature, and from his own observation. The young author holds a McMullen Scholarship in Engineering, was elected president of his Freshman Class in Civil Engineering, has been on the Dean's List for high scholarship two years, is active in the Dramatic Club and Radio Guild, and was recently elected to the Willard Straight Hall board of managers.

"CLOSED" DANCES at several fraternity houses around the Hill Saturday night were wide open to a party of Spring Day celebrators who "made the rounds" wearing grotesque rubber masks. Rumor has it that they were Architects. . . . At one house, which hadn't planned a dance, two men wheeled in a vibra-harp Saturday night, without explanation. Monday morning it was still there, nobody having claimed the instrument. There wasn't any dance.

He works for his room in a Faculty home and has an NYA job in an Engineering College office to help pay expenses. Asked how he happened to compete for the Guilford Prize, he said: "I couldn't go home for Christmas vacation and wanted to do something that might help pay my expenses at the University. Most prize competitions are open only to upperclassmen, but this was open to all, and that $100 was worth trying for." Leighton hopes to pass the first year course in English composition he is taking this term, but he isn't sure he will.

'86 MEMORIAL PRIZE of $86 was awarded to Frederick W. Jaqua '42, son of John C. Jaqua '15 of Winchester, Ind. He argued that America's interests are involved in the present war, denounced strict isolation. Of the other nine contestants, Lawrence A. Konovits '42 of New York City, received honorable mention for his speech, "In the Public Interest."

UNIVERSITY RADIO Station WESG will broadcast only from the Campus, beginning June 3. Elmira studio of the station, which the University has leased to the Elmira Star-Gazette since 1932, will be closed.

DEBATE ASSOCIATION has elected Edwin M. Cronk '41 of Minneapolis, Minn., president for next year. Vice-president is Hugh Robertson, Jr. '41 of Caraopolis, Pa.; secretary, Harry N. Bedell, Jr. '41 of Norwalk, Ohio; treasurer, William W. Sorn '41 of Albany.

WOMEN STUDENTS in the four undergraduate Classes who had received the highest cumulative scholastic averages were cited by Mortar Board at a recent WSGA mass meeting in Bailey Hall. Two highest in the Senior Class are Mrs. Beatrice L. Cates of Ithaca and Mrs. Laura Wilber Thompson of Albany; Juniors, Sonia E. Adelson of Newport, R. I., and Rita Lesenger of Brooklyn; Sophomores, Helen F. North of Ithaca and Mary L. Fagley of Cincinnati, Ohio; Freshmen, Betty A. Bischoff of Middletown and Miriam Freund of Albany.

CAMPUS NOTICES in the Sun the day before Spring Day contained the following two items: "League of Evangelical Students will meet in Willard Straight 14 at 4:15 today." . . . "Roger's Rangers will meet on the Delta Chi lawn at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow."

PRESIDENT DAY has put in a busy week of speaking engagements. May 20 he was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Willard Straight board of managers and committee members; the next evening he spoke before the University Coaches' Club; May 23 he outlined the community of interest between the University and city, addressing the Ithaca Rotary Club; and May 27 he addressed a meeting of the Ithaca Women's Club.

BARNES SHAKESPEARE PRIZE of $50 has been awarded to Philip F. Cohen '40 of Brooklyn, for his essay, "Marcus Brutus."

STUDENT BRANCH of the ASME has elected Robert C. Ross '41 of Brighton its new president; John C. Sterling, Jr. '41 of Newport News, Va., vice-president; Robert E. Ohaus '41 of Irvington, N. J., secretary-treasurer.

DELEGATE to the National 4-H Club Camp in Washington, D. C., next June 12-19, will be Eloise M. Clor '43 of Warsaw. She is one of four chosen from New York State. Freshman in Home Economics, she has been a 4-H Club member for eight years; has carried on work in foods, clothing, room improvement, forestry, raising baby beef, gardening, and flower growing.

ITHACA FORUM on the subject, "Why I Believe the United States Should Stay Out of the Present War," May 29 in the high school auditorium, downtown, was to have as its presiding officer Walter J. Matuszczak '41, captain of next year's Varsity football team.

SAGE CHAPEL PREACHER June 2 is Dr. James T. Cleland, assistant professor of religion at Amherst College.

PHI DELTA THETA won the intramural rowing championship when its four-oared crew defeated that of Delta Sigma Phi by a length. The half-mile course was on the Inlet. Forty-seven fraternities had crews practicing this spring.

BAPTISTS won the interdenominational softball championship of the University, when they defeated the Lutherans, 8-0. Interfraternity league leaders were still battling out their final games when this issue went to press. Results will be duly announced when the winner emerges.

TO REVISE ARTICLES Of Alumni Association

To perfect the organization of the Cornell Alumni Association, notice is hereby given of proposed changes in the Certificate of Incorporation and in the By-Laws of the Association; these proposals to be voted upon at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association in Bailey Hall June 15, at 10:45 a.m.

Proposed Changes in Certificate of Incorporation

To All Members of the Cornell Alumni Association:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, That at the meeting of this corporation to be held in Ithaca on June 15, 1940, a resolution will be presented to amend the Certificate of Incorporation of the Association so as to state the purposes of the corporation to be as follows:

"The purposes of this corporation are to promote in every proper way the interests of Cornell University and to foster among the graduates a sentiment of regard for each other and attachment to their Alma Mater; and as a means to this end to publish an alumni magazine or periodical for the alumni of Cornell University; to serve as the general alumni association of Cornell University; to provide for a continuity of alumni activity and interest in the university; and in so far as specialized alumni agencies authorize it to do so, to coordinate the activities of such agencies; and to do any and all proper things necessary or incidental to the realization of these stated purposes, including employment of help in the affairs of the corporation and the payment of their salaries and wages."

To further amend the certificate of incorporation to provide that the number of directors of the association shall be "not less than fifteen nor more than forty."

Respectfully yours,
EMMET J. MURPHY,
Secretary

Dated: May 23, 1940

Proposed Changes in By-Laws

To All Members of the Cornell Alumni Association:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, That at the annual meeting of the Cornell Alumni Association Corporation to be held in Ithaca on June 15, 1940, proposals will be presented to change the by-laws of the association in the following respects:

ARTICLE III—DIRECTORS

SECTION 5. Board of Directors. It is proposed to eliminate the words "Cornellian Council" in the sixth line and substitute therefor the words "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and to add immediately after those words "or its successor organization," and at the end of the clause containing those words again change the name "Cornellian Council" to "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and add thereafter the words "its successor."

ARTICLE IV—OFFICERS

SECTION 18. Duties of Secretary. It is proposed to change the last sentence of this section to read as follows:

"The Alumni Secretary may be removed from office by the Board of Trustees of the University after consultation with the Cornell Alumni Association or its duly qualified officers concerning such removal."

ARTICLE V—COMMITTEES

SECTION 20. Executive Committee. It is proposed to change the words "Cornellian Council" to "Cornell Alumni Fund Council" and to add immediately after those words "or its successor organization."

SECTION 21. Alumni News Committee. It is proposed to eliminate the first paragraph of this section as being obsolete.

It is also proposed to change the first sentence of the second paragraph to read as follows:

"There shall be a committee on the publication of the Alumni News which shall consist of three members to be appointed by the Executive Committee."

It is proposed to amend the second sentence of the second paragraph to read as follows:

"In the first instance, one member of such committee shall be appointed for one year, one for two years and one for three years."

ARTICLE VII—FINANCES

It is proposed to add to this Article a new section as follows:

SECTION 32. Surpluses. Any surpluses of net income or other surplus funds of the corporation over and above operating expenses and the amount needed as reasonable reserves shall be applied to such educational, charitable or other proper undertakings of Cornell University as the Board of Directors of this corporation may from time to time select, either by this corporation or by grant to Cornell University for such purposes.

ARTICLE VIII—MEETINGS OF THE ASSOCIATION

Sections to be renumbered to be consecutive.

It is proposed to amend sub-division b of old section 32 to be new section 33 to read as follows:

"SECTION 33. Regular Meetings. The annual June meeting shall be held in Ithaca, New York at such time and place as the directors may fix. At this meeting the directors shall present the corporation's annual report verified by the President and the Treasurer showing the total amount of real and personal property owned by it, where located, and where and how invested, the amount and nature of the property and the manner of the acquisition; the amount applied, appropriated or expended during the year immediately preceding such date and the purposes, objects or persons to or for which such applications, appropriations or expenditures have been made; and the names and places of residence of the persons who have been admitted to membership during such year, which report shall be filed with the records of the corporation and an abstract thereof entered in the proceedings of the annual meeting.

At such meetings there shall also be presented:

1. The report of the Committee on Election of Alumni Trustees.
2. Reports of the retiring Alumni Trustees.
3. Such matters as the directors may present and such other business as may be brought before the meeting."

ARTICLE IX—ALUMNI TRUSTEES

Section numbers changed to be consecutive.

ARTICLE X—ORDER OF BUSINESS

Section number changed to be consecutive.

ARTICLE XI—QUORUM AND RULES OF ORDER

Section number changed to be consecutive.

ARTICLE XII.

It is proposed to adopt a new Article XII to be entitled "Dissolution" having one section numbered 41 entitled "Disposition of Assets" to read as follows:

"Upon the dissolution or other termination of this corporation, any net assets after the payment of all just debts or claims against it, shall be transferred to any non-profit organization, of the same general nature as this corporation, which may succeed it as the general alumni organization of Cornell University, and in the absence of such a successor organization, then to Cornell University."

Old Article XII Amendments to be renumbered Article XIII and the section number renumbered to be section 42.

Respectfully submitted,
EMMET J. MURPHY,
Secretary

Concerning THE FACULTY

DR. JACOB GOULD SCHURMAN, third President of the University, celebrated his eighty-sixth birthday May 22 with the good wishes of his many Cornell friends. He resigned that day as honorary president of the Carl Schurz Foundation, in protest against designation of its members as "American-Germans" in a pamphlet recently published by the Foundation. His letter of resignation pointed out that by this designation (as opposed to "German-Americans") "the group is transformed by a stroke of the pen into Germans substantively and Americans adjectively. . . ." Dr. Schurman is a former United States Ambassador to Germany. He recently returned to the University Club in New York City from a sojourn in Florida.

THE TIMELINESS of Thomas Hardy's art, and its appeal to a world "torn by suffering and violence," was the theme of the recent annual Phi Beta Kappa address given by Professor Herbert J. Davis, chairman of the English Department, at Wells College. Recently he has brought to completion the editing of volumes II and III of the works of Jonathan Swift. The Yale Review for April, 1940, contains an article by Professor Davis on "Walpole's Correspondence with Madame du Deffand." July 1 he and his family will move to Northampton, Mass., where he will assume duties as president of Smith College.

MRS. IDA DE GARMO, widow of Charles de Garmo, late professor emeritus of Science and Art of Education, died at her home in Coconut Grove, Fla., May 1, after a year's illness. She is survived by one son, Walter C. deGarmo '00.

PROFESSOR JOHN W. MACDONALD '25, Law, has been appointed New York chairman of the American Bar Association survey of the administration of justice, and a member of the Junior Bar conference committee to cooperate with law students.

JOHN P. HERTEL '34, secretary of the College of Agriculture, and Mrs. Hertel (Martha Warren) '36 are the parents of a daughter born May 14. Mrs. Hertel is the daughter of the late Professor George F. Warren '03, Agricultural Economics.

PROFESSOR HERBERT W. BRIGGS, Government, spoke on "Non-Recognition of Title by Conquest and Limitations on the Doctrine" before the American Society of International Law and eighth Pan-American Scientific Conference at Washington, D. C. Professor Briggs has contributed recently to The American

Journal of International Law discussions on "De Facto and De Jure Recognition: The Arantzazu Mendi," "Relations Officiuses and Intent to Recognize: British Recognition of Franco," and "Removal of Enemy Persons from Neutral Vessels."

HEATING AND VENTILATING Magazine has published in three parts a new method of estimating heat flow through sunlit walls, which has been developed by Professor Charles O. Mackey '25, Heat Power Engineering, and L. R. Wright, Jr., Grad.

THIRD EDITION has been published by Macmillan of A College Textbook of Hygiene by Dr. Dean F. Smiley '16, Medical Adviser, and Dr. Adrian G. Gould, Hygiene.

PROFESSOR OTTO RAHN, Bacteriology, has been elected associate editor of "Biodynamica."

PROFESSOR ALEXIS L. ROMANOFF, '25, Poultry Husbandry, has received a grant from the American Academy of Arts and Sciences for studies on embryo respiration, to be conducted at Harvard and Cornell.

PROFESSOR GEORGE R. HANSELMAN '22, Administrative Engineering, has been elected a director of the Binghamton chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

PROFESSORS Paul Kruse, Rural Education, and Bristow Adams, Agriculture Publications, will again teach at the Colorado summer session for extension workers at Fort Collins, Colo., July 6-26.

JULY 1, Professor James E. Knott, PhD '26, Vegetable Crops Research, will become head of the truck crops division at the College of Agriculture, University of California. Graduated at Rhode Island State College in 1920, he was a county agent in Rhode Island and in charge of vegetable gardening at Pennsylvania State College before he joined the Cornell Faculty in 1929. Professor Knott is the author of thirty-four scientific publications and a textbook, Vegetable Growing, now in its second edition; has done research work on many of the crops important to California, especially lettuce. Mrs. Knott is the former Deborah P. Cummings '21.

DECENNIAL CONVENTION for the revision of the Pharmacopœia of the United States at Washington, D. C., May 14 and 15, had from the Medical College in New York Drs. Cary Eggleston '07, Clinical Medicine; R. Gordon Douglas, Obstetrics and Gynecology; and McKeen Cattell, and Harry Gold '19, Pharmacology. Dr. Gold represented the New York State Medical Society and was a member of the committee on revision of the Pharmacopœia. Dr. Eggleston was elected second vice-president of the Convention.

Concerning THE ALUMNI

Personal items and newspaper clippings about all Cornellians are earnestly solicited.

'71 BS—Royal Taft, only living member of the Class of '71, writes to the University concerning his hope to attend the Class Reunions in Ithaca, June 14-16, with the sole survivors of the two preceding Classes, George A. Rea '69 and Brandt V. Dixon '70. "I hope no misfortune may happen to any of us to prevent our attendance," Taft writes. "I wish there were a representative of '72, but I fear there is not one, as no one has suggested a living member." In handwriting firm and clear, his letter continues: "Providence has been very kind to me and I am in a good state of preservation for a ninety-year kid. My hearing and eyesight are both good and I have no 'rumatiz.' I have been skating eight times this winter on Lake Lincoln, which belongs to the city of Scranton. I also enjoy roller skating and had lots of fun last summer skating with the girls at Henryville, Pa., which is this side of Stroudsburg on the D. L. & W. Railroad." Taft lives at 504 North Blakely Street, Dunmore, Pa. He was ninety last September 5, was featured in a Scranton newspaper story in February, 1939, after he was appointed skating coach by the Scranton Olympic prospect committee. He is pictured below (left) with Rea '69 at the 1936 Reunion, between them the Class Secretaries Association cup awarded for 100 per cent attendance four years ago.

'88 CE—Clark Dillenbeck is living at 518 East Mermaid Lane, Chestnut Hill, Pa. In 1938 he retired from The Reading Co.

Corbett '90 and his challenge to show a greater number of Cornell degrees in any single family, Dr. Corbett writes that all in all his family of four Cornell children and three Cornell in-laws and himself hold a total of fourteen Cornell degrees and five degrees from other universities. "Can any '90 man beat that record?"

'90—Frank L. Frost writes: "I sincerely trust conditions will be satisfactory for me to attend the Golden Jubilee Reunion. Looking forward to seeing you in June." His address is Albany Association of the Blind, 208 State Street, Albany.

'90—George T. Long expects to attend the Fifty-year Reunion in June and bring with him H. Alban Anderson '90 of Peekskill. He also says that Frank H. Brown '90 of White Plains will be there with his wife.

'90 ME—William S. Monroe hopes to bring his wife with him to the Fifty-year Reunion. He has had a letter from Alexander B. Trowbridge '90 who also expects to bring his wife.

'90 BS—William H. Morrison had a slight fall two months ago which resulted in a broken leg just below the hip. He is reported doing well but will be unable to attend the Reunion. He writes: "But I will be there in spirit and wish you a most successful time."

'94 MME—Next September 1, Professor Lionel S. Marks, Gordon McKay professor of mechanical engineering at Harvard, will retire and become professor emeritus. Fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences, of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, he has taught at Harvard since 1894; is the author of several basic texts in engineering. During the First World War he was consulting engineer in the science and research division of the bureau of aircraft production, and chairman of the section on prime movers, engineering division, national research council.

'98, '99 BL—Chauncey Goodrich of Kingman Farm, Blackman Hill, Tompkins County, recalls, in the Ithaca Journal, a story about the horses which drew President Grover Cleveland down Pennsylvania Avenue in Washington, in his inaugural parade, March 1893. One of the horses, a strain of the Syracuse Blackhawk, was raised by Levi Goodrich, father of Chauncey Goodrich, on Blackman Hill, the other by his brother. President Cleveland bought the horses for $10,000.

'99 LLB—Mrs. Marian Davol Pate, wife of Walter L. Pate '99, attorney, died May 3, 1940, in New York City.

40TH REUNION
CLASS OF 1900	JUNE 14-16 1940

Here's some more last minute news from the front line trenches.

Wm. Osgood (Sgood) Morgan: "I plan to attend our Reunion and hope to arrive in Ithaca, via the Lehigh Valley Railroad, on the morning of June 14. Your lists, in the issues of the ALUMNI NEWS, of those who plan to attend have been very interesting and I think will prove to be helpful in increasing the attendance."

Phil Will sends a picture card of Taughannock Falls with a question or two and indication that he probably won't be missing a Reunion of 1900 for the first time in a hundred years.

Gilbert B. Woodhull writes from Harrisburg, "I was particularly happy to get the CORNELL ALUMNI NEWS of May 9 telling all about our Reunion, '40, in June this year and the list of men who will possibly attend. If I can possibly arrange to do so, either 'beg, borrow, or steal', I will get to Ithaca for the Reunion. Let us have a 'blitzkreig' on dear Old Cornell for 1900. I cannot at this time positively say I will be there, but am trying somehow to do so. Am an active member of the Central Pennsylvania Cornell Club here. Hope Charley Remsen will be there and I would love to see all the boys again."

Secretary's Note: Terry McGovern is going to have his steady job of Toastmaster at the 1900 Dinner Saturday evening and if he doesn't get off his much-advertised speech it will be his own fault.—G.H.Y.

'00 CE—Charles R. Scott writes that he is retiring from business after forty years with the New York Telephone Co. in traffic department work. One son, Sidney L. Scott, is a Senior in Administrative Engineering, and the other son, Charles R. Scott, Jr. '36, is employed by the Carnegie Illinois Steel Co., Pittsburgh, Pa. He writes: "The whole family expects to be in Ithaca for Commencement and I am surely going to be at 1900's Forty-year Reunion." Scott's address is 205 Inwood Avenue, Upper Montclair, N. J.

'03 AB—A memorial fund is being established in the name of Porter R. Lee '03, late head of the New York School of Social Work, by its alumni as a fitting tribute to Lee. The fund will be administered to help deserving students at the School. Better Times for May 17, published by the Welfare Council of New York City, contains a tribute to Lee's work at the School.

'07 CE—Clarence L. Todd, department manager of Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co., hopes to attend his Class Reunion in Juhe. He lives at 243 Parker Drive, Mt. Lebanon, Pittsburgh, Pa.

'07 ME—John A. Ferguson is real estate manager of the American Insurance Co., 15 Washington Street, Newark, N. J. He lives at 446 Ridgewood Road, Maplewood, N. J.

'09 '10 LLB—Bulletin Index of Pittsburgh, Pa., for May 16 carried an article and picture of Curtis M. Yohe '09, vice-president, general manager, and "guiding genius of the prosperous Little Giant," Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Co. He joined his father's railroad in 1912, was purchasing agent from 1921 to 1928, and upon the retirement of his father in 1929 he stepped into his shoes.

'11 ME—Ramon Mariano teaches at the University of the Philippines in Manila.

'11 ME—Julian P. Hickok has a granddaughter born April 20, 1940. He writes "Am scheduled for a position as regional museum director for the summer in Bear Mountain Park. Still active in Henry George School of Social Sciences as secretary of Philadelphia extension and instructor of advanced classes." Hickok teaches mechanical drawing and mathematics in a high school in Philadelphia, Pa.; lives at 315 Zeralda Street, Germantown, Philadelphia.

'12—Douglas G. Woolf, editor of Textile World, 475 Tenth Avenue, New York City, believes that in the next ten years synthetic chemical fibres will virtually dominate the textile industries. Synthetic fibres today account for eight per cent of total consumption of textile raw materials; by 1950 they may account for twenty-five to thirty per cent; millions of dollars worth of present textile equipment will be scrapped for faster and more productive machinery; and many mills will be operating in sections new to the manufacture of textiles, in the opinion of Woolf.

'15 BArch—JAVIER S. ADRIANZEN (above) directing construction of the Peruvian Pavilion at the New York World's Fair, which he designed. He has practiced architecture in Asheville, N. C., and in New York City. Photography and stamp collecting are his two main hobbies, with the additional one of gardening, which keeps him out in the open and controls "the factors opposed to the streamling of the individual." He now has his own architectural practice at College Point, is married and has one son, a future Cornellian.

15-25-40

"Once in a Lifetime"
June 13-14-15-16th
1940

'15—Matt Carey phones the NEWS from Detroit to say: "A lift in the neighbor's car and/or the Class Button-box means that we expect for Reunion every '15 man who can spare the time, whether or not he can spare the cash."

'15 BArch, '16 MArch—Gerald L. Kaufman is an architect, author, magician, and very often a grand juror. During the War he was first lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps in charge of Army charter transports. On his first return trip from France his ship was torpedoed and sunk; he spent three days in a lifeboat before being rescued. In 1921 he set up his own architectural practice. He has written five books, The American Home Book of Building, It's About Time, How's Tricks?, The Book of Time, and The Book of Modern Puzzles. He writes: "Having visited Harvard, Princeton, Yale, Amherst, Penn, California, Leland Stanford, and a few more, it was the easiest thing in the world to decide that our boy is going to become a Cornellian just as soon as he can get through high school." He adds: "I'll tell the world that the Hill is more wonderful than ever, and the new dormitory group is as fine a piece of architecture as anything the graduates of White Hall ever dreamed of in their thesis projects."

'15—Tom L. Wood, commissioner of public safety, has returned to the practice of law after fifteen years, and is associated with John E. Donahue in the Haverhill National Bank Building, Merrimack Street, Haverhill, Mass. Since the War, in which he served as captain, Wood had been salesman for the Ellis and Hussey Leather Co. and allied shoe industry firms. Wood was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1915.

'15 CE—Edward J. Thomas started out as a railroad engineer, but during the War worked with E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co. and later for General Motors Corp., Cadillac Motor Car Co., and Ford Motor Co. Since 1934 he has been working for the government, and at present is in the Soil Conservation Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. He writes: "Barring unforeseen happenings I shall return to the Hill in June. Truly it will be a 'once in a lifetime' experience for many of us and I know I shall enjoy renewing old acquaintances. And best of all will be to gather around and drink 'a toast to Her we all love so well'."

'16 AB—John M. Van Horson, merchandising manager for Young and Rubicam, Inc., 285 Madison Avenue, New York City, spoke on advertising May 17 in Goldwin Smith Hall.

'18—Newsweek of May 13 contains an article on John S. Knight '18 who has recently purchased The Detroit Free Press, founded May 5, 1831. Edward D. Stair, eighty-one-year-old former publisher, feels that he has found a suitable successor, "a man who stands out with ability, courage, fearlessness, and fairness." Knight left the Arts College in 1917 to enlist in the Army, was with the Air Service of the AEF. Seven years ago he succeeded his father as president and editor of The Akron (Ohio) Beacon Journal, and in 1938 the Beacon Journal purchased The Akron Times-Press. In 1937 Knight purchased The Miami (Fla.) Herald and shortly bought and suspended The Miami Tribune. He writes editorials and a Sunday column, "The Editor's Notebook," in the Beacon Journal; has won the golf championship of his Akron country club six times. He is a member of Phi Sigma Kappa.

'19 AB—DeForest E. Fox of Fort Plain, RD 4, has a son, Wayne Charles Fox, born in Ithaca May 3.

June 14, 15, 16, Ithaca
I'll Be There!

'20—Additional comments from men of the Class of '20 concerning the Twenty-year Reunion in June are coming in. Walter D. Baer says, "Hope to make it." Edward L. Solomon: "Chances good and will probably be there." Benjamin Eisner: "Fifty-fifty chance that I will be there." The following also say that they will come if possible: Edward E. Conroy, Ben W. Hirsh, Phillip D. Rupert, S. Jack Solomon, John D. Hoyt, George E. Athana, Paul E. Fitzpatrick, Jacob G. Israel, and G. G. Curtis. Benjamin N. Fishman and Nathan H. For That First Year

Your own experience at Cornell tells you that the first year here is most important. The friends a boy makes then, the habits he forms of study and play, and his happiness in living conditions will affect his whole life.

For thirty-six years, here at Sheldon Court, we have been welcoming new Cornellians and helping them to be comfortable and happy. We have learned to know boys, and what they need as Cornell students. Those who live in Sheldon Court are carefully selected—the ones you would want your son to know.

Our rooms and suites are comfortably and completely furnished; some have woodburning fireplaces, and all have ample light and air. The building is quiet, warm, clean, and virtually fireproof. In the same building are a good restaurant, bookstore, barber shop, and physicians, offices. We have our own tennis courts, and ample parking.

Nowhere at Cornell will your son find a more comfortable, convenient, and pleasant place to live than Sheldon Court, just off the Campus on College Avenue.

Reservations are still available for next year. Information, prices, and room diagrams will be mailed promptly on request. Address:

Build Your Own Monument

The most impressive evidence a man can leave behind him as a mark of a well-ordered life is independence for his widow and children, should they survive him.

Not only they, but an observant world, as well, know that he has met his most exacting obligation four-square.

Such protection can be provided by any breadwinner through a carefully-chosen life insurance program.
